Will Rogers Remarks:

BOSTON, April 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I believe I got a plan for Heflin to get his resolution by denouncing men who throw bottles at Senators instead of handing 'em to 'em.

Insert the following clause: "If you will pass this bill of mine I will absolutely and positively abstain from opening my mouth on this or any other subject during the rest of this session."

If he tacks that clause on, anything else he wants in the body of the bill they will pass, they will even agree to sever Massachusetts from the Union.

The Leviathan has got a scientific and mechanical problem on their hands. They can sell liquor coming west but can't have any on leaving going east. So to make money they have to figure out some way where they can always travel west.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Law Enforcement Bureau's Chairmanship Tendered Associate Justice

Jurist Has Not Considered; Taft Said to Oppose Duty for Court

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Associate Justice Stone of the United States Supreme Court will be chairman of the national law enforcement commission if President Hoover can persuade him to undertake that mission.

Justice Stone declined to accept appointment to the Hoover Cabinet as that would have meant his retirement from the bench of the highest court to which he was appointed only four years ago, and information is that he is reluctant to direct the forthcoming study and reorganization of the Federal judicial and enforcement machinery.

STATUS DOUBTFUL

Whether appointment to the commission would involve resignation as a Supreme Court justice apparently is not now quite clear, some holding that it would and others that it would not. Those taking the contrary view say the chairmanship would carry no salary and that

PEST FUND PROVIDED

Nation Wars on Fruit Fly

House Authorizes $4,250,000 to Combat Invasion of Florida

Blame Put on Rum Ships; California Growers Take Action

WASHINGTON, April 26. (Exclusive)—Federal forces organized today to exterminate the most dangerous fruit insect pest extant, the Mediterranean fruit fly, which has gained a foothold in Florida, when the House passed the Woods resolution making available $4,250,000 to combat the pest, and the Secretary of Agriculture promulgated a Federal quarantine corresponding to the State quarantine now in force in Florida.

The Federal quarantine, while technically applied to Florida as a whole, practically divides the State into three zones, infested areas, buffer zones and the sections of the State outside the two classifications. Strict quarantine is maintained in the infested zones, where all fruits and vegetables are destroyed or treated and no new products are allowed to grow until the zone is released from quarantine. Infested zones include all territory within a mile radius from the foci of infection.

MARKETING SAFEGUARDED

In the secondary, protective or buffer zones, three terms applied to territory within nine miles of the infested zones, all fruits and vegetables which act as hosts to the pest are given intensive inspection to guard against the spread of the fly through transmission of its maggots. Under proper safeguards, however, the fruit may be moved. In the secondary zones a six months' nonhost period is provided for. During this period no fruit or vegetables are allowed to mature sufficiently to be attacked by the Mediterranean fly. This period begins under the regulations issued today on May 1. At the end of this period, which may be adjusted to meet crop variations or future eradication needs, fruit from protective zones may be marketed under proper safeguards.

Other sections of the State not under infestation or protection zones will be subject to inspection and certification of fruit and vegetables and such control of host products which will offer assurance that the fly has not spread among them. All fruits with the exception of watermelons and pineapples, which appear to be immune, are subject to this quarantine. Restrictions on vegetables apply only to gourds and egg plant.

Other restrictions and regulations have been applied to soils, fertilizers and common carriers.

NEIGHBORING STATES

In addition to control and eradication in the State of Florida of the Mediterranean fruit fly, neighboring States will be subject to surveys and control. In the event that infestation is apparent in any neighboring States it is almost certain that the quarantine will be applied to them.

At the hearing today before members of the House Appropriations Committee Dr. Mariatt, chief of plant quarantine and control administration of the Department of Agriculture, stated that it will take at least 100 men for survey and quarantine work. Others appearing before the committee and urging the passage of the Wood resolution were Representatives Ruth Bryan Owens and Drane, both of Florida.

The plant board of Florida is carrying on its campaign of extermination in infested areas. Crops in these zones are being destroyed, principally by being cut open and buried with quick lime and a rigid quarantine enforced by men and officers of the State militia has been thrown around the boundaries of every infested area known.

RUM SHIPS BLAMED

Experts predict that if the pest is allowed to spread it will endanger and possibly wipe out the fruit industry in the South and Pacific States. It may even endanger the cotton crop, though the pest does not attack cotton unless the boll is bruised or broken open. They do not know how the pest entered this country in spite of strict quarantine of host fruit from other countries. It is believed in some quarters that it may have come in

BRAKES PUT ON STOCK MART

Federal Reserve Board Flags Down Bull Racers; National City Again "Saves" Day

NEW YORK, April 26. (Exclusive)—The heavy hand of the Federal Reserve Board fell upon the stock market again today and knocked the latest bull movement for a goal. Call money went kiting to 16 per cent and prices broke from 1 to 3 points all along the line. Trading slowed up with a jolt, cutting the day's total, which had promised a new mark for the month, to a mere 3,841,800 shares.

As in the previous money squeeze on March 26, when the call rate went to 20 per cent, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, came to the rescue of the hard-pressed brokers by sending over large sums of money to be put out at the higher rates. Just how much the bank "contributed" to meet the street's latest emergency could not be learned. Mr. Mitchell declined to comment on the episode.

He did say, however, that "owing to withdrawals from the loan market of funds necessary for May 1 disbursements a periodic scarcity of money naturally reflected in the call loan interest rate is to be expected."

According to an estimate carried by a news ticker at least $25,000,000 came into the market after the rate had reached the 16 per cent level. The Mitchell bank's loans in the March emergency were reputed to have run well into the millions and the presumption among traders this afternoon was that his aid had been on a similar "generous" scale.

Whatever the amount, however, the announcement of it had the effect of stilling talk of a still further jump in the rate and in a measure quieting the excitement caused by the skyrocketing advances of the afternoon—first to 9, then 10, then 15 and finally to 16 per cent.

Today's squeeze was precipitated by banks withdrawing some $20,000,000, ostensibly to meet month-end settlement needs.

WOMEN AIM AT SCALP OF TOM HEFLIN

Defeat in 1930 Will Be Sought by Many Ashamed of His Religious "War"

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) April 26. (AP)—Plans for an active campaign to bring about the defeat of Senator J. Thomas Heflin in 1930 are being formulated at headquarters of the Alabama Women's League for White Supremacy, Mrs. Mabel Jones West, the league president, announced today. She made public a resolution of apology addressed to "the people at large" for Heflin's campaign against the Catholic church.

The resolution, adopted by the executive board, "deplores his (Heflin's) foolish and fantical assault upon those of our fellow-citizens who are members of the Catholic church." The resolution adds that "the lack of patrotism and dark designs upon the liberities of the country which seem to be attributed to Catholics by the Senator and which apparently fill him with fear and dismay, are not shared by the mapority of the people of Alabama. We repudiate Senator Heflin as out representative in any sense."

BYRD AGAIN STORMBOUND

Explorers Huddle in Huts While Blizzard Raves; Commander Exposes Self in Test of Mask

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times Company and St. Louis Post Dispatch)
(All rights for publication reserved throughout the world)

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) April 26.—Another storm period seems to be upon us today. The wind again is blowing hard and temperature is still 21 below. Last night it was 40 below zero and the day before 58 below. The wind started yesterday afternoon and has slowly but steadily increased in force until the drift outside hides everything in a smother which blinds and confuses anyone who ventures out in it.

Commander Byrd has been trying all sorts of arrangements recently in an attempt to find something to protect us against the wind and yesterday he went for a long walk down to the bay ice with the temperature 54 below and a twenty-mile wind blowing.

If the wind can be kept from the face, which is the only exposed part of the body, he has found that he can keep warm for a long period of time. He has been experimenting with face masks to protect the nose and cheeks and has devised one which, although it gets wet and frozen, does not touch the skin and acts as a shield. The only places which the wind can hit are around the eyes and he is trying to find a way to protect them. Furs have proved a perfect clothing except for fast traveling, when they are too warm.

While he was on the bay ice yesterday there was a perceptible fog despite the low temperature. It seems inconceivable that moisture could exist in the air in such cold weather but the fog is real, nevertheless. It is explained by the fact that humidity may be relatively just as great here as in a warmer climate, although the actual amount of moisture contained in the air at 50 below is infinitesimal.

The air will hold only a certain amount of water at a certain temperature. For instance, it will hold about 200 times as much water at 50 above as it will at 50 below, but 50 below has a certain saturation point, so when the wind comes up as it did yesterday and stirs up warmer and colder air the change in temperature causes condensation of the small amount of moisture and makes an unnatural-appearing but very real fog.

SCHOOL BILL PASSED BY COMMITTEE

Measure Providing for District Subdivision Gets Favorable Senate Action

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—The Senate Committee on Education passed the bill of Assemblyman Craig of Brea today which would allow further subdivision of high school districts. There was only one dissenting vote.

The bill drew hot opposition from school authorities of the Alhambra district, represented by Forrest V. Root, superintendent of schools. Under the bill, the city of San Gabriel may withdraw from the Alhambra district. Root forecast weakening and overdevelopment of districts losing large communities through withdrawal. The San Gabriel district was represented by Conrad R. H. Hale, superintendent.

The Craig bill, allowing the withdrawal into its own high school district of any community which can muster $8,500,000 assessed valuation and 600 average daily attendance, was further amended to require that the withdrawing district stand liable for its share of obligations incurred before withdrawal, and that no withdrawal be made which will leave the parent district with less than $20,000,000 assessed valuation and 1000 average daily attendance.

The Assembly also passed a resolution introduced by Morgan Keaton of Long Beach which would authorize continuance of a joint legislative committee to investigate the regulation and control of corporate securities sales in California. Keaton said that the sale of "wild cat" stocks is by no means a dead industry in the State.

Censors Cannot Pass on 'Talkies'

TOPEKA (Kan.) April 26. (AP)—The Kansas moving-picture censor board cannot censor "talkies," in so far as the spoken words and sound effects are concerned, William A. Smith, Attorney-General, ruled in an opinion made public today.

In an opinion to Miss Emma M. Viets, Kansas City, chairman of the Board of Review, the Attorney-General said he had reached the conclusion that the powers conferred upon the board by legislative enactment do not include the power to censor the spoken word.

JUDGE HARDY ACQUITTED OF ALL FOUR CHARGES

Vote of Senate Court Explained; Jurist Tremulous With Joy as He Gets News of Verdict

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Representative

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Superior Judge Hardy of Los Angeles today was acquitted by vote of the Senate of the four articles of impeachment, charging misdemeanors in office, laid against him by the California Assembly.

Nerve-shaken and agitated by the strain of the three weeks' trial, Judge Hardy accepted congratulations on the verdict and said in a tremulous voice:

"It is a great victory. I felt it was coming all along."

Assemblyman Little, chairman of the board of managers which presented the case on behalf of the Assembly, said he is satisfied.

"We presented the evidence for the Assembly and left it to the judgment of the Senate," he said.

A two-thirds vote of the entire membership of the Senate, or twenty-seven votes out of forty, were required for conviction. The highest vote for conviction was 18 votes on the formal roll call, although one Senator switched over to the acquittal column after having voted for conviction while in executive session.

SUMMARY OF VOTES

On Article I, which accused Judge Hardy of practicing law in behalf of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, her mother, and Angelus Temple, their religious organization, the vote was 2 for conviction and 37 for acquittal.

On Article II, charging him with obstruction of justice in connection with the investigation and criminal proceedings growing out of Mrs. McPherson's story of kidnaping and ransom, the vote was 18 for conviction and 21 for acquittal.

On Article III, charging Judge Hardy with accepting a $2500 "love offering" check from the women as a fee, the vote was 16 for conviction and 23 for acquittal.

On Article IV, charging him with attempting to intimidate Wallace Moore, who afterward was a witness against Mrs. McPherson, the vote was 13 for conviction and 26 for acquittal.

Senator H. C. Jones was ill and absent throughout the trial.

LONG ARGUMENT

The vote was taken shortly before 4 o'clock after the Senate had argued the evidence behind closed doors since the forenoon.

When the discussion was completed the doors were thrown open and Managers Little, Woolwine, Hornblower and Cronin; Judge Hardy and his counsel, Rex Hardy, Ray Nimmo and former Senator Carr, as well as newspaper men, attaches and spectators, flocked in.

Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan called the court in session and put the question on ayes and noes after reading the law on the subject, "Shall the defendant be convicted of misdemeanors in office as charged in Article I."

Immediately after Secretary Beek announced the fourth roll call Mr. Carnahan declared Judge Hardy acquitted and Sergeant-at-Arms Nolan cried adjournment of the high court of impeachment, the first in California in sixty-seven years.

A burst of applause came from behind the Senate rail at this announcement, which Mr. Carnahan immediately stilled.

According to reports, the formal roll call does not represent the true sentiments of several Senators who voted for acquittal when it was seen that conviction was impossible. Gossip last night indicated that conviction would fall short by a few votes, probably 4 p.m.

Many Senators were inspired to vote as they did on the theory that impeachment is an archaic procedure, with the recall provision in the election law, and to prevent any more lengthy trials of this character.

Some described the evidence as a "border-line" case, the theory being that Judge Hardy was not willful or corrupt in his actions, but indiscreet and unethical in his activities in connection with the McPherson case.

Senator Inman, at one point during the executive session, proposed that a resolution be adopted, criticising Judge Hardy's actions and this action received general support, but Mr. Carnahan ruled it out of order, holding that the Senate should consider nothing but conviction or acquittal. He also ruled out discussion of suspension for two or three months on the ground that the degree of sentence should be

MELLON HIT BY NORRIS

Office Declared Held Illegally

Judiciary Committee Head Says Old Law Violated by Owning Stocks

Issue to be Taken to Senate Which Body Can Only Vote on Matter

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—A report declaring that Secretary Mellon is holding office illegally has been prepared by Chairman Norris of the Senate Judiciary Committee and a close vote on it by the committee tomorrow is in prospect.

Senator Norris contends that Mr. Mellon as a stockholder in various business concerns is serving in violation of an old statute forbidding the Secretary of the Treasury to be interested in trade or commerce.

Senator Walsh of Montana, a Democrat on the committee, announced tonight that he concurred in the conclusion reached by Senator Norris, which is contrary to an opinion recently given to President Hoover by Attorney-General Mitchell.

UP TO SENATE

Senator Norris intends to put his report before the Senate. If it is rejected by the Judiciary Committee in favor of the view taken by the Attorney-General, he will submit his views in a minority report. This will put the question up to the Senate.

The Norris report does not go into the merits of the statute in question, which was enacted in the early days of the government. There are some members of the committee who are ready to ask for modification or repeal of that statute.

The committee has been called tomorrow to take final action on the resolution of Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, which was adopted by the Senate and directed the committee to inquire into the right of Secretary Mellon to hold office.

THREE POINTS RAISED

The McKellar resolution raised three points. It questioned whether Mellon could be continued in the Cabinet of Mr. Hoover without renomination. Senator Norris's report agrees that the precedents support Mr. Hoover in that move.

The McKellar resolution also questioned whether there was any violation of an old statute forbidding a revenue officer to be engaged in the manufacture of whisky. Mr. Mellon informed the committee that at one time he came into possession of some stock of the Overholt Distilling Company. However, he said that company was liquidated before the prohibition law went into effect. Senator Norris dismisses this question.

DECISIONS QUOTED

But the Nebraskan agrees with the third point, which questions whether as a stockholder the Secretary violates the commerce statute. The report is extensive on this point and quotes from Supreme Court decisions.

MOON IDEA PUT ON BLINK

'Twasn't Ripped Out of Pacific Ocean and Placed in Sky as Darwin Thought, Says Scientist

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The theory that the moon is made of material ripped from the earth where the Pacific Ocean now lies was contradicted by Dr. Henry S. Washington of the Geophysical Laboratory of Carnegie Institution of Washington, today at the annual meeting of the American Geophysical Union.

Reporting on an extensive study of volcanic islands, he said the Pacific is the youngest of the earth's large bodies of water and it could not follow that the moon came from this area.

To support his statement that the Pacific is younger than either the Atlantic or Indian oceans, he pointed out that the submarine floor has not settled down to stability as it will in old age, and also cited the numerous volcanoes and coral rock formations which attest to that area's youth.

DARWIN'S IDEA

The theory that the moon originated from the Pacific section of the earth was suggested by Darwin, who reasoned that the material had been torn away and cast into space by some gigantic force.

The notion received widespread attention. The area covered by the Pacific would hold the volume of the moon's mass. Scientists have carried the theory further by showing that the European and American continents may have been joined and merely drifted apart after the moon was formed.

WEATHER FORECASTS

Dr. Washington places no credence in this theory. He has made analyses of rocks from island formations in all oceans, and said that if the moon came from the earth it didn't come from the Pacific.

NINETY KILLED BY TORNADOES

Georgia's Death List Grows With Latest Reports

Hundreds Listed as Injured; Thousands Homeless

towns said that seventeen are dead, 110 injured and wrecked houses are being searched for additional bodies. Pleas for medical aid were broadcast and eight physicians from Eastman and Hawkinsville offered their services.

Six are reported dead in Spartanburg. Many towns believed to be in the path of the tornado were silent this morning. Workmen labored to repair communications.

The storm originated somewhere north of Macon and passed over that city traveling in a southerly direction.

Nine miles south of the Dixie Highway it struck for the first time at about 6 o'clock, turning a tiny settlement of some ten houses into a heap of shattered wood. Two negroes were seriously hurt. Trees were torn up and branches hurled for hundreds of yards.

WHIRLS SOUTHWARD

The storm whirled southward, descending again in Cochran. It passed with full force within a quarter of a mile from the business section demolishing everything in its path. It swung toward Dexter and Chester, through which it swept with devastating fury. Only a meager report has been received from these towns.

Almost simultaneously a similar disturbance swept a corner of South Carolina, centering around Spartanburg and Pelzer, with six dead and more than a score injured. Both towns organized relief for homeless families and began a search for other victims in the country surrounding the cities.

Eyewitnesses at Metter gave a graphic description of the storm descending without warning just after darkness.

Of those who were killed seven were white and seven negroes.

FOUND DEAD IN RUINS

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Coleman and two school-teachers who boarded at their home, the Misses Cowell and Moore, according to neighbors, were found dead in the wreckage of their dwelling not far from the city. Mrs. J. P. Tratnell, 68 years of age, was killed when her house was demolished. Her son Marcus was hurt. Mrs. Bruce Hendricks and two children were fatally injured and Hendricks himself hurt badly. Mr. and Mrs. Graham Bazemore reported that six of their children disappeared during the storm and have not been found.

Searching parties are to go over the surrounding country and search through wrecked farmhouses for other casualties. Every report to the city brings new information of desolation.

The number of injured at Cochran is so great that emergency hospitals have been established. More than a hundred victims were laid on temporary pallets on the floors of undamaged buildings.

FIRST COHERENT STORY

The first coherent story of Central Georgia's mile-wide, mile-a-minute tornado was told to a reporter by William Berryhead, North Cochran merchant and one of the few persons of that section to escape unscathed.

The inhabitants of the stricken area "didn't have a chance," in the language of Berryhead, so swiftly did the near-cloudburst which accompanied the hurricane descend on Cochran.

"It was all over in a minute," Berryhead said. "In less time than it takes to tell, more than a score of houses were blown down, four persons killed outright or injured fatally, scores injured and several hundred rendered homeless."

Berryhead was standing in front of his store just out of the path of the storm, he said today. From there he watched the progress of the tornado from the formation of its funnel-shaped cloud until it had passed swiftly and destructively to the southwest on its way toward Chester and Dublin where, though with abated fury, it kept up its death-dealing tactics.

HOUSE CHEERS RUM KILLING

Fierce Debate Rages, However, on Police Rights as Result of Shooting in Washington

WASHINGTON, April 26. (Exclusive)—The killing of a 21-year-old asserted rum-runner by a Washington policeman last Wednesday was cheered lustily in the House of Representatives today and stirred up one of the most acrimonious debates since the birth of Federal prohibition. Only three members, a dry former Circuit Court judge from Georgia, and two wets from New York, condemned the slaying. The House as a whole applauded the fatal shooting.

The debate brought to the floor of Congress for the first time the question of whether police are justified in killing a suspected dry-law violator when they are pursuing him without a warrant, a question that has been at issue in several recent attempts to enforce the prohibition law.

CHASE RECOUNTED

The detailed story of how Ottmer Fleming, the reported liquor-runner, was shot in the back of the head while trying to elude a police car in Southeast Washington, was recounted to the House by Representative Holaday, dry Republican of the Herrin (Ill.) district. He maintained that since the suspected car had refused to halt, the officer was warranted in shooting.

Clyde O. Rouse, the policeman involved, has been suspended from duty and is held for action by the grand jury. Public sentiment in the District of Columbia is running high over the incident, most of it unfavorable to the officer's cause.

Representative Holaday told the House that Rouse had picked up the trail of a car he suspected of carrying liquor and after a pursuit of several blocks had loosed into his face a smoke screen from the exhaust of the fleeing motor. Shooting through this smoke the officer pumped five bullets into the car. Four lodged in the body of the automobile within a radius of eight inches, Holaday said, while the fifth entered the head of the youthful driver, killing him.

GREAT APPLAUSE

When Mr. Holaday concluded the House broke into a storm of applause. Representative Brand, Democrat of Georgia, former Circuit judge and lifelong dry, arose to protest.

"If he could not see the car on account of the smoke, how could he see the time that he shot into?" he asked. Mr. Holaday did not explain but contended the officer was "entirely within his rights" and was "only doing his duty."

Mr. Brand, who said he had never missed an opportunity to vote for dry candidates for office, asserted the policeman had no right to shoot to kill and that if such a doctrine is upheld "they will be killing them all over the country." Speaking quietly and receiving the utmost attention from the House Representative Brand declared an officer is authorized to arrest a suspected person without a warrant, if convinced a felony has been committed, but is not justified in killing unless the felony is a capital one. Representative Holaday replied that he does not view it that way, that if the officer had not fired the car would have got away and that the policeman is to be commended rather than criticised.

"It is time," he said, "that we members of Congress and the citizens of the country should give moral support to officers attempting to do their duty."

TEN BILLS PASSED BY ASSEMBLY

Five of Them Sponsored by Lower House and Rest from Senate

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—The Assembly passed ten bills today:

Assembly Bill 350, Dillinger, paying a small claim against the State.

Assembly Bill 957, Woolwine, requiring that burial societies be placed under control of the insurance commissioner.

Assembly Bill 144, Patterson, containing minor amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Assembly Bill 1147, Dillinger, appropriating a sum to pay for printing and binding copies of reports of the State Park Commission.

Senate Bill 746, Sharkey, containing minor amendments to the law relating to religious corporations.

Senate Bill 703, McCormack, containing minor amendments to the law relating to county indebtedness.

Senate Bill 660, Merriam, conveying certain State lands to the county of Los Angeles for highway purposes.

Senate Bill 327, Lyons, containing minor amendments to the law relating to classification of property.

Senate Bill 562, Lyon, containing minor amendments to the law relating to tax exemptions.

SUTTER SCION ASKS RICHES

Grandson of Pioneer Announces He Will Press Claim for $50,000,000 Against Government

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26. (AP)—Reginald Sutter, grandson of Gen. John Sutter, California pioneer, announced today that he will press a claim against the United States government for $50,000,000, declaring that this sum is due the general's heirs on the basis of a promise by Congress in 1879.

Attorneys for Sutter are searching Congressional records, he said, for information in the claim, made by Gen. Sutter after squatters moved on his land in the Sacramento Valley following the gold rush in 1849 and 1850.

The Yolo County Superior Court is scheduled to hear a claim by the Sutter heirs June 14 regarding donation of certain lands in the city of Sacramento to the city for park purposes.

The Sutter heirs assert part of these lands were sold to corporations by the city, this being a violation of the purpose of the gift. The lands, the Sutter heirs charge in the suit, were to be used perpetually by the city. Recovery of the lands is asked by the heirs.

FRUIT-FLY FUND APPROPRIATED

on fruit brought in by rum runners from islands of the Coast where the fly is virulent.

In an exclusive statement to the Los Angeles Times Dr. Mariatt, chief of the plant quarantine and control division of the Department of Agriculture, now in the midst of a campaign to control the Mediterranean fruit fly scourge in Florida, said:

"In my opinion the State of California and other agencies within the State should conduct a thorough survey of the citrus belt in Southern California, particularly in regard to culls and drops, in order to make sure that no maggots of the Mediterranean fruit fly have infested the fruit.

NO INDICATION

"There is no indication at present that any such infestation has penetrated the California quarantine. But inasmuch as ships coming into San Pedro from foreign countries where the fly has maintained itself add to the possibilities of infestation in Southern California through smuggled quarantine products, it appears that a thorough survey would be of benefit as a protective measure.

"Infestation in Florida occurred in spite of similar protective measures now used in California. We do not know how the fly entered the State, and for this reason it is highly important that a survey of the California citrus belt be undertaken by California and other agencies within the State as a preliminary check at least.

"While the Department of Agriculture and California officials have maintained and are maintaining an effective quarantine against the Mediterranean fruit fly, a thorough investigation of the entire citrus sections would act as a check on the California situation. It would also furnish a warning if the fly by any chance has gotten into the State."

Representative Evans of Glendale, Cal., indorsed Dr. Mariatt's statement.

FRUIT GROWERS ASK STATE FOR FUNDS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26. (Exclusive)—The fruit growers of California have called upon the State administration for $250,000 to provide for adequate quarantine protection against fruit pests, with particular reference to the Mediterranean fruit fly, which now is doing such destructive work in Florida.

A message was sent to Alexander R. Heron, chairman of finance for the State of California, by Charles B. Virden, general chairman of the Pacific Coast transportation advisory board, following a meeting of the perishables committee.

ALARMING NEWS

The following is the telegram:

"At a meeting today of the perishable fruit committee, consisting of shippers of citrus fruits, deciduous fruits and vegetables of the Pacific Coast Transportation Advisory Board, representing fully 300,000 carloads, we view with great alarm the disturbing news with reference to the entrance of the Mediterranean fly into the State of Florida, affecting seven counties and spreading with alarming rapidity. We realize the almost superhuman efforts of quarantine officials in the past in keeping California free from this scourge and feel the utmost care and protection should be extended at this time. But we realize the present appropriation for quarantine work is sadly inefficient.

FACING PERIL

"We are facing possible loss of the entire fruit interests of California should this pest come within our border. We urge you, therefore, immediately to place at the disposal of the Department of Agriculture and its quarantine officials at least $250,000 for the next biennial in addition to the amount already appropriated, so that we may be in a proper position to protect the borders of the State against the invasion of the pest. Would appreciate your full co-operation and consideration. Kindly advise as to your action."

G.O.P. TO PRUNE FARM-AID BILL

Democrats Told Hoover Plan Only One to be Passed

Equalization Fee and Other Riders to be Removed

Robinson Scores Watson for Stand With President

WASHINGTON, April 26. (Exclusive)—Senate Republican leaders served notice today that the farm-relief bill that President Hoover wants—one without any equalization fee, debenture or similar subsidy plan—is the one that will be passed.

Their announcement brought immediate response from Democratic leaders who, abashed somewhat by their inability to rally their thirty-nine members back of the debenture plan, twitted the Republican side.

The Senate, with the farm legislation now solely in its jurisdiction following the overwhelming victory for the administration in the House, showed little disposition to debate the measure today after the political by-play and adjourned until Monday. The action further postponed a vote on the Heflin resolution condemning a recent demonstration against the Alabama Senator at Brockton, Mass.

ROBINSON SCORES WATSON

Senator Watson, Republican floor leader, announced that he soon will move to eliminate the debenture plan from the Senate bill. His announcement brought ridicule from Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, who aimed his shafts at Watson and Senator McNary for their past championship of the equalization fee.

Robinson sought to gain an admission from the two that with the debenture plan defeated they will support the old equalization fee. He sought in vain. Both announced they will vote against any attempt to substitute the fee for the debenture.

"I want a bill passed that will not be vetoed," McNary explained, while Watson, smilingly said he will explain his opposition later.

He accused the Republican leader of utilizing farm legislation for political purposes.

"He wants to perpetuate it, he thrives on it," Robinson said.

"It does not make any difference to the Senator from Indiana whether the equalization fee fails or succeeds, so long as the farm-relief question is in the politics of the country.

MORE BITTER SHAFTS

"The Senator from Indiana and the Senator from Oregon were the champions of the equalization fee. They told us that it did not matter if Mr. Coolidge had vetoed a bill embodying the equalization fee; that provision was fair and just; that it imposed units marketed and benefited the costs of the operations of those units, that a great economic question was involved," he continued.

Robinson recalled that Watson went to Great Britain to get expert testimony in substantiation of his contention.

"But now," he added, "after the last election, he comes here and says that some day, some time, he will tell the Senate why he is against the equalization fee, why he was wrong when he stood here and appealed to the Senate to ignore or over-ride the opinion of the head of the administration."

Watson just as persistently declined to explain his stand at this time.

BROOKHART'S PLAN

Senator Brookhart of Iowa, who on Monday attacked President Hoover's ideas of what should constitute legislative relief for the farmers, introduced a proposed amendment today seeking to make $1,500,000,000 available to the farmers.

In addition, a modified debenture plan was offered by Senator Norris of Nebraska, his idea being to counteract to some extent the prevalent thought that the debenture would stimulate overproduction. Under his proposal the Federal Farm Board could estimate the size of crops, compare it over a five-year average and reduce the export bounty by a fixed scale should the trend be to overproduction.

It is quite probable that the Senate may talk another two weeks before acting on the farm bill though the time may be shortened materially through the crumpling of Democratic opposition.

Short Week Hit by Publishers

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—A resolution condemning the proposed five-day week was adopted at the closing session of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association convention today.

The convention went on record as opposing the five-day week plans "urged by certain unions of the printing trades" as "uneconomical," and charged that the plan "contemplated a still further widening of the gap at the expense of other industrial groups and the agriculture group that do not now participate in the already high earnings and short hours of work for union labor."

The service expects to use five planes, starting June 1, next, it is said.

Student Trio Arrested for Egg Barrage

BERKELEY, April 26. (AP)—A barrage of eggs and water bombs hurled from the roof of Phi Sigma Chi sorority house by means of an ingeniously - constructed catapult turned the students' residential district into a miniature battlefield and landed three University of California students in jail here today.

The marksman whose ambitious efforts worked untold damage to the frocks of promenading co-eds and to the hats of passing motorists were captured only after arresting officers fought their way through a Niagra of well-aimed water bags. The egg supply had long before been exhausted.

The students under arrest are John Carmichael, Floyd Cerrini, Oakland, and William Beekhuis, Fresno.

Danish Military Cuts Opposed

COPENHAGEN (Denmark) April 26. (AP)—It was said here today the wish of former anti-German Allies might work to prevent the new Danish Parliament carrying out the stringent military budget reductions which the victorious Socialist Laborites promised in the campaign preceding Wednesday's elections.

The understanding is that these nations, particularly Great Britain, will not favor any attempt to abolish or reduce materially the Danish army and navy owning to Denmark's geographical position in relation to the approaches to the Baltic. Disarmed Denmark, it is contended, would be powerless to prevent any Baltic state from sealing these approaches in the event of war.

LODI HIGH SCHOOL WINS FARM CONTEST

DAVIS (Cal.) April 26. SAILOR SYMBOL AS MEMORIAL

Poppy-Covered Anchor Waits Use as Seamen's Tribute Memorial Day

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Secretary Adams today received an anchor of poppies which will be cast on the waters of the Potomac River on Memorial Day in memory of the sailors who lost their lives during the World War.

The anchor, standing seven feet high and covered with artificial poppies made by veterans, was presented by Eugene P. Carver, Jr., of Boston, Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

REBEL FORCES FLEE ON FOOT

Sonora Army Quits Trains and Trenches

Retreating Generals Reach Border Town

Port of Guaymas Bombarded by Gunboat

MEXICO CITY, April 26. (AP)—The rebel army in Southern Sonora tonight is fleeing overland from the advancing Federals. They abandoned their troop trains north of Navojoa after Federales had rendered the railroad useless by burning bridges. Earlier they evacuated without a fight the elaborate system of trenches they had spent a week in digging at Masiaca.

Chapultepec Castle tonight declared the rebellion which broke out on March 3 has become in less than two months a complete insurgent debacle, and all that remains to be done is to attempt to corner the few remaining rebels before they can reach the American border.

FLEE ON FOOT

A small Federal force which made a roundabout march while the rebels were at Masiaca, destroyed several bridges, including one large one a little north of Navojoa. When the insurgents reached this, hotly pursued by Federal cavalry and constantly harassed by Federal airplanes, they left their trains and sought safety on foot.

Federal cavalry occupied Navojoa at daylight today and the artillery and infantry during the morning reached Bacavachi.

Federal artillery and infantry this afternoon had reached the town of Bacavachi en route to Navojoa.

REBELS QUARREL

Relatives in the United States of Gen. J. G. Escobar, insurgent commander-in-chief, are making plans and arrangements for the insurgent leader to escape into the United States, Federal Consul Liekens at El Paso, Tex., informed Chapultepec Castle this afternoon. Liekens stated that quarrels among the rebel leaders, Gens. Escobar, Caraveo and others, have broken out and are disrupting the rebel cause.

RETREATING GENERALS ARRIVE AT NOGALES

NOGALES (Ariz.) April 26. (AP)—The first definite reports of the retreat of Mexican rebels from Navojoa, in Southern Sonora, were made here today by American passengers on a train from Guaymas, which also brought north three retreating rebel leaders. The latter were Gen. Ramon Iturbe, original leader of the rebel march against Mazatlan, Sin.; Gen. Ricardo Topete, brother of the Sonora commander, Gen. Fausto Topete, and Maj. R. H. Polk, American leader of the rebel aerial forces.

Upon arriving, the trio of rebel leaders held a conference with Gen. Escobar, revolutionary commander-in-chief, in Nogales, Son. No statement was given out concerning the conference. Gen. Iturbe, who had been wounded during the Southern Sonora and Sinaloa fighting, appeared to be considerably broken in health.

Plans are being completed by the Santa Cruz county chapter of the American Red Cross to send food and clothing supplies into Nogales, Son., for relief of destitute Mexican families. Gen. Francisco Borquez, Northern Sonora rebel commander, has assured Chairman O. A. Smith that such supplies will not be molested by rebel military forces.

GUNBOAT SHELLS GUAYMAS

The American travelers also reported that Guaymas had been shelled by a Federal gunboat in the harbor. As the result all United States citizens there had been advised to congregate at Empalme, railway junction east of Guaymas, where they were being placed under the protection of the American Consulate. The rebels, they stated, accorded Americans every possible courtesy and aid in reaching places of safety.

Nearly all rebel troops in Northern Sonora tonight had been moved toward the Sierra Madre Mountains in the east to combat the entry of Federal forces under Gen. Juan Almazan. Patrols of the United States Army in the Douglas (Ariz.) sector opposite Agua Prieta, rebel stronghold, reported that Federal troops had not made an appearance in the vicinity as yet.

The entire border, from Mesquite, Ariz., west of here, to the New Mexican State line, was patrolled by United States forces. Two thousand American soldiers were assembled at Camp Stephen D. Little here. Two squadrons of the Tenth Cavalry are en route to Nogales from Fort Huachuca, in Eastern Arizona. Numerous outposts have been established along the border at strategic observation points. These, and other observing posts about Nogales, have been fortified with protective earthworks.

MEXICAN WOMEN TELL OF REBEL CASUALTIES

NACO (Son.) April 26. (AP)—Mexican women who came into Naco today from a rebel cavalry camp in the hills near Lamorita told the Federal garrison here that thirty cavalrymen had been killed by Federal airplane bombs and many others wounded. They displayed blood on their clothing and cuts on their own bodies which they said they received while tending the wounded.

Rockwell Field Denies Stunting Complaint Made

SAN DIEGO, April 26. (AP)—Reports that a complaint had been made to Rockwell Field, officers by Milo Campbell, a Maddux Line pilot, that an Army pursuit plane had stunted around his plane last Sunday met with emphatic denial at the Army Air Base here today. Rockwell Field headquarters stated that no complaints of any kind have been received from Maddux pilots or officials of a plane stunting near commercial planes since the crash last Sunday in which six met death.

At the local office of the Maddux line it was stated that while no definite information had been received it was believed that Campbell had made a complaint to Rockwell Field. Campbell, it was stated, is now at his home in Glendale.

JURIST MAY HEAD LAW STUDY GROUP

JUSTICE STONE HOOVER CHOICE

Justice Stone could carry forward the commission work during recesses of the court and even when the court was in session.

There are seemingly well-founded reports that Chief Justice Taft, who long has urged wholesale reform in the Federal judicial system, and who is an adviser of the President, looks with disfavor upon the appointment of Justice Stone. As interpreted in semiofficial quarters, his position is that members of the highest court should refrain from participation in the reorganization work.

NOT CONSIDERED

Justice Stone said in response to inquiries of newspaper men that he was not considering the matter of appointment to the commission and that in fact he did not even have it in mind.

President Hoover is far from giving up hope of obtaining the services of Justice Stone, who at 57 years of age, is the youngest member of the Supreme Court. There will be no announcement of the membership of the commission until Justice Stone either accepts or declines the appointment.

OTHERS IN MIND

The Chief Executive is understood to have some other jurists and several prominent lawyers under consideration, but final selections likely will await the choice on a chairman. Among others about whom the President is making inquiries is Circuit Judge Denison, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who sits on the Sixth Circuit bench at Cincinnati.

Judge Denison was appointed by Mr. Taft during his term as President, and it is understood that his name was suggested to Mr. Hoover by the chief justice. The Michigan judge served on the Coolidge commission on aircraft, of which Dwight W. Morrow, now Ambassador to Mexico, was chairman.

CLOSE FRIENDS

President Hoover and Justice Stone are close friends and the Chief Executive is known to have turned more than once to the justice for counsel during the preinauguration days. Mr. Hoover desired to have Mr. Stone in his Cabinet, but that matter was settled at conferences between them in Florida.

As Attorney-General y appointment of President Coolidge, Justice Stone had opportunity to obtain first-hand information as to enforcement reorganization needs. During the year he served in that capacity before Mr. Coolidge elevated him to the Supreme Court in 1924, Mr. Stone made several addresses on law enforcement which attracted the attention of Mr. Hoover.

GOV. LONG ACCUSED IN NEW COUNT

Assembly Votes Charge of General Incompetence in Impeachment Fight

BATON ROUGE (La.) April 26. (AP)—The House of Representatives today adopted a resolution charging Gov. Huey P. Long with "general incompetency" and prepared to send it to the Senate as count No. 8 in the impeachment charges on which the executive will be tried. In addition to these the Governor has been cleared on a charge of illegally using the National Guard to conduct gambling raids, making a total of thirteen charges voted against him.

Shortly before the vote was taken, Representative Bogan of Caddo Parish walked into the House chamber with blood streaming from his mouth and cheek. He said he had been in the corridor talking with Robert Maestri, a friend of the Governor, when Earl Long, the Governor's brother, approached them.

"Why are you talking to that (using a profane term?") Bogan said Long asked Maestri. He said he struck Long and the latter hit him in the mouth with his fist, then bit him on the cheek.

GIBSON MAKES CONCESSIONS

Approach to Disarmament Pact Facilitated

Withdraws Opposition to Trained Reserves

Japan and Europeans Hail Announcement

GENEVA, April 26. (AP)—Three moves, two of them resulting from American ideals, stood out in today's session of the preparatory commission for a disarmament conference.

United States Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson, who generally is credited with clearing the way for real reduction in naval armaments by his recent proposal, withdrew American opposition to exclusion of trained reserves from limitation or reduction of land armies, thus smoothing the way for agreement on this subject.

Spain officially sponsored the creation of an international force of aviators to serve the Council of the League of Nations, as has been urged by Clifford B. Harmon of Philadelphia, president of the International League of Aviators.

One difficult problem of armament agreements again was emphasized by Italy today and her delegates introduced a reservation indicating that she contemplates applying to all branches of armament the principle that colonial forces near the homeland should be counted as an integral part of the home forces in proportion to their availability for use.

Mr. Gibson announced today that the United States, while still believing trained reserves should be subject to limitation, had, as a gesture of conciliation, withdrawn its opposition, came as good news to Europe and Japan, and was received with expressions of deep satisfaction.

Countries like France, Italy and Japan frankly have said repeatedly that they never would agree to limitation of trained reserves. The change in the American position undoubtedly removes one of the greatest obstacles to an agreement. America has not abandoned its belief that reserves should be limited, or at least figure in the treaty so that the world may know what number of trained men are available for war, but feels that insistence on this viewpoint would only endanger all hope of disarmament.

IDEA ON MOON PUT ON BLINK

vance was pointed to as a possibility today by meteorologists attending the meeting.

Predictions will be based, they said, on long study of fluctuations in the sun's heat and light, which are believed by some to be responsible for changes in weather.

Solar radiant energy, described as "the force which keeps the great atmospheric engine running," is being studied at three stations of the astrophysical laboratory of the Smithsonian Institution in Chile, Mt. Whitney, California, and Mt. Brukkaros, Africa.

AVIATION'S NEEDS

Public demand for increased national weather services is taxing present resources, it was brought out, and new needs must be met by investigations in theoretical meteorology. The rise of aviation already has caused the establishment of routine observations at the heights at which airplanes fly.

Vast strides have been made, it was pointed out, since the first attempt, sixty years ago, to chart the weather for both land and water surfaces. The needs of the farmer, mariner, commercial and industrial concerns, and the public, however, require increasing application to research work to provide for longer range and more accurate forecasts.

GADSDEN MEMORIAL ASKED

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Issuance of 10,000 50-cent silver coins to commemorate the seventy-fifth anniversary of the Gadsden Purchase would be authorized in a bill introduced today by Representative Hudspeth, Democrat, Texas.

GYPSIES TREK TO GAMBOL

Hundreds Journey to Louisville for Wedding of Chief's Son and Attendant Feasting

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) April 26. (AP)—Gypsy tribes from Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia and other points moved toward Louisville today to attend one of the most elaborate wedding ceremonies ever presented by gypsies in this country.

It is expected that between 400 and 500 gypsies will be in the city by tomorrow, when Frank John, 17-year-old son of Chief Gregory John of Philadelphia, and Rosie Stanley, 16, daughter of William Stanley of Louisville, will be wed. Both are members of the John tribe, and the tribe is expected to congregate en masse for the ceremonies.

FEAST PREPARED

Pigs, turkeys and chickens are being roasted all over town for the feasts. An orchestra from Cincinnati has been engaged to play continuously for the first twenty-four hours of celebration.

The wedding will take place in a three-acre field near the Ohio River, where Chief John and about thirty tribesmen and their families have pitched tents. Approximately 210 Brazilians, living in town and belonging to the tribe, are expected to join in the festivities.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon everybody will sit down to a feast. Dancing will start at 8 o'clock at night and last until everybody is too tired to continue. Next morning dancing starts at 9 o'clock and lasts until 4 o'clock, when another feast will be held. After this feast Chief John, with much ceremony, will pay Stanley $2700, the price agreed on for his daughter.

QUEER CUSTOMS

All this time Frank and Rosie are not allowed to speak to each other. They may join in the dancing but may not dance together. When the money has been paid Rosie will retire to a tent, where parents of the bride and bridegroom go and drag her forth. This is followed by more dancing, eating and celebration. A marriage by magistrate will complete the wedding the next day.

When the son of a gypsy chief is married no expense is spared in making the ceremony an elaborate one. "Patterans" are used in letting other members of the tribe know of the coming event. These often are sticks or stones arranged in such fashion as to convey a meaning to the experienced eyes of the gypsies.

WEATHER AS TOPIC GAINS POPULARITY

Commerce Department to Make Reports Available for Flyers at All Times

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The weather, a prime topic of conversation long before airplanes were invented, is increasing in popularity with those who dart about among the clouds.

The Department of Commerce is planning to put into effect as soon as possible a radio system which will permit aviators at any hour of the day or night to ascertain weather conditions at any place along their routes.

Under this plan, an aviator in flight can pick up his radio apparatus, inquire how the weather is in a certain locality, and guide himself according to the reply.

Already, on the airway between Cleveland and New York, reports of weather and landing conditions are gathered along the route each hour and broadcast, thus guiding airplanes from the hop-off to their destination.

The Commerce Department plans to install the necessary apparatus for giving this service over every civil airway in the United States as rapidly as possible.

Capt. F. C. Hingsburg, chief engineer of the airways division of the department, said today it is planned to make the service so adequate that there will be no necessity for aviators to request information. This will be done, he said, by regular radio weather reports. He added, however, that if at any time additional information is desired it will be obtained as quickly as possible.

WAR COST MEET MARKING TIME

Committee Report on Cause of Failure Not Ready

PARIS, April 26. (AP) — Today's session of the reparations subcommittee which was to have considered the report of the reparations conference was postponed, probably until tomorrow, as the preliminary work on the document was not far enough advanced for submission. Private conversations, however, continue.

The only tangible development since the startling death of Lord Revelstoke, leading British expert, interrupted the conference, has been the work on the final report of the committee which is proceeding regularly. The text probably will be ready on all other points before the experts agree as to how they are going to handle the question of figures.

GILBERT'S DENIAL PLEASES GERMANS

BERLIN, April 26. (AP)—The German press today lauded the action of S. Parker Gilbert, Agent-General for Reparations, yesterday in denying that he or the transfer committee had suggested to the Reichsbank it raise its discount rate.

It was said such an action would not have been suitable to his position and would have been contrary to the spirit of the Dawes plan.

LEAP CALLED SUICIDE

HOOVER HEARS OIL LEASE PLEA

Group of Senators Call on Chief Executive

President Has Permit Case Under Advisement

Hardships of Conservation Order Reviewed

WASHINGTON, April 27. (AP)—President Hoover took under advisement today a request of a group of Senators from public land States that the oil conservation order recently issued by him should not be made retroactive as to applications for leases and prospecting permits filed before the order became effective and as yet unconsidered by the Interior Department.

The Senators also said the Chief Executive had looked with favor upon their further proposal that there should be special consideration in the cases of permits in which special equities existed at the time the order stopping further drilling and prospecting on all public lands was issued.

WALSH MAKES PLEA

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who prosecuted the naval oil reserve leases, in discussing the conference, said that in many cases several permittees having as right to prospect on a specific geological formation had joined forces to sink a single test well on the assumption that their permits would be extended to permit of further drilling. As they now understand the order, he declared permits for all sections except that upon which a well actually has been drilled would be canceled.

Another case cited to Mr. Hoover was that of permittees who had drilled wells at large expense only to find dry holes. It was said that as they understand the situation, the intention was to cancel these permits despite the willingness of their holders to go ahead with the drilling of additional wells in adjacent territory.

CASES CITED

The Senators also referred to cases of permittees who have employed geologists to make investigations for them at considerable expense and whose permits would be canceled without giving them an opportunity to begin actual drilling to determine whether there were oil deposits in the lands.

Besides Senator Walsh those calling at the White House were Senators Kendrick, Democrat, and Warren, Republican, Wyoming; Pittman, Democrat, Nevada; Bratton, Democrat, New Mexico, and Representative Carter, Republican, Wyoming. Senator Kendrick was the spokesman at the conference.

OLD METHODS LAX

"We asked the President," Kendrick said, "to permit everything to reply in the ordinary course of administration of the department up to the time of the order to include applications for leases and permits subject, of course, to denial of spurious requests that would not stand the test of investigation."

The Senators said there had been a practice in the department to grant permits upon applications and then to pay no further attention as to whether the permittees did or did not prosecute their prospecting as required under the terms of the General Leasing Act. The Senators contended that this accounted in large measure for such a vast number of permits outstanding at the time the conservation order was issued.

LEVIATHAN TRIP ALL WET

Everyone Has Fine Time on Way Over But Remnant of Liquor Supply Goes in Sea Before Docking

NEW YORK, April 26. (Exclusive)—An American ship with a wine list offering champagne at $4.90 a quart and whisky at 25 cents the glass and a be-aproned bartender to serve these and other potables put boldly into port here today. It was the Leviathan, flagship of the United States Lines, Inc., completing her first round trip to Europe under private American ownership.

The wet liner had a total of 1184 passengers aboard and everyone so far as could be learned was prepared to admit that "a good time was had by all" on the way over. There was plenty of liquor of a varied assortment to be had for a price, including beer. There was a bartender to mix and serve one's favorite concoction. There was more than enough to supply all needs and there was no one to say to anyone nay.

Passengers agreed, however, that even with the lid taken clear off no one forgot himself.

The only regret that anybody seemed to have was that the ship authorities had felt constrained—due to the possibility of complications with Uncle Sam's prohibition law after passing the twelve-mile limit—to dump the surplus overboard somewhere around Nantucket on the way into port. It was a sorrowful, solemn ceremony performed in the dead of night, by the weary bartender and a lone assistant or two. A total of 112 bottles was jettisoned—every one with the cork securely in place, thus leaving the way open for a possible real haul by lobster fishermen drawing in their pots and nets and whatnots in the next few days.

No sooner had the giant liner tied up at her Hoboken pier than she was boarded by a squad of fifty overalled men under the command of Inspector Joseph Sweeney of the customs service for a search which it was said would last all night. At last accounts, however, nothing of a "bottled-in-bond" nature had been brought to the surface by their labors.

The flight will be started either from Washington, D. C., or Tampa or Miami, Fla.

Information to Growers on Loss by Frost Urged

FRESNO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Wider publicity to give growers the same information available to packers on the recent frost damage to the fruit crops was urged at the meeting today of the San Joaquin Valley regional advisory council of the California Development Association.

The council indorsed the Englebright fire-prevention bill now before Congress. It favored the bill in the Legislature to place Fish and Game Commission employees under civil service.

Redlands Wins Oratory Trophy

REDLANDS, April 26. (Exclusive) Roy McCall, representing Redlands College, tonight won first place in the Southern California intercollegiate oratorical contest, held in the Baptist Chapel here before a large audience. The cup trophy was awarded to Redlands College and a gold medal to McCall. His topic was "Shylock."

Wallace Webber of Pomona College won the silver medal for his oration, "Sound the Bugle, Beat the Drum." Third place went to Leslie Scott of California Institute of Technology, whose subject was "A Second Thought." The judges were Coach Fullweider of Riverside Junior College; George Johnson, principal of San Bernardino Junior College; John Gabbert, editor Riverside Enterprise; Walter Davidson, attorney of Riverside, and Mrs. J. Waugh of Riverside.

MRS. GOOD LONG SOCIAL LEADER

Wife of War Secretary No Stranger to Capital

Iowa Hostess Favorite With Washington Society

Club Worker Conversant in Official Usages

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

WASHINGTON, April 26. (Exclusive)—As one of the new Cabinet women who "knows her Washington," Mrs. James William Good, wife of the Secretary of War, is able to take her place as a Cabinet hostess without going through the usual bewilderment.

The wife of a Representative from Iowa and continuing to live at the capital since her husband resigned in 1921 to practice law in Washington, Mrs. Good has taken an active part in social affairs in that city. She is popular and her home has been the scene of many interesting entertainments.

CLUB WOMAN, TOO

Mrs. Good always has taken an interest in the Women's Congressional Club, both as an active and an honorary member. She has been a worker in the Iowa State Society, and has served on many of its committees.

The Goods' romance began in college. Both attended Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, their native town. Marriage came shortly after their graduation. Mr. Good studied law at the University of Michigan and hung out his shingle in Cedar Rapids.

Mrs. Good read law books and took an interest in her husband's progress. And; while not being a member of the bar, she came to possess an appreciable amount of legal knowledge.

DIVIDED ALLEGIANCE

Following the resignation of Representative Good from Congress, up to the time of his appointment to the Cabinet, the Good family divided its time between Chicago and Washington. But Washington is their real home, though they have an affectionate yearning for their native Iowa.

Mrs. Good is of the home-making type. She takes her duties as a mother most seriously. She has a keen appreciation of the boy's point of view, and is a real companion to her sons, Robert, 11 years of age, who is at school in Evanston, Ill., and James W. Good, Jr., 18, a freshman in Northwestern University. It was her college son who remained at Mrs. Good's side during the inauguration ceremonies, and who shyly took her hand as Mr. Good was sworn in as Secretary of War.

WOMAN'S SPORT

Mrs. Good passed much of her time house hunting following the inauguration. She realized that the Secretary of War must have an establishment commensurate with the importance of his position.

She finally selected the charming suburban home formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Porter Davidson. The house is near the Chevy Chase Club, and has beautiful grounds.

Mrs. Good is a fine-looking woman with a bright smile, and deep blue eyes. She, like other women of the Cabinet, is very young looking in spite of her college son, and the fact that she was married in 1894.

Mrs. Good is a delightful conversationalist, and her talk sparkles with humor.

ROBINSON TURNS IRE ON BORAH

Says Idahoan Remained Silent About Freedom of Conscience in Campaign

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—Religious discussion, which has shared time equally with debate on farm-relief legislation in the Senate this session, flared forth again today with an attack by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee last fall, on Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the leaders of the Hoover campaign.

Robinson turned his ire on Borah who made a Senate plea for religious tolerance Wednesday, when the Idahoan sought to question him during a farm-relief talk. Borah remained on his feet for some time seeking recognition but took no notice of the Robinson declaration after the Arkansan had finished.

"Senators can favor freedom of religion, freedom of conscience, freedom of expression, in the Senate of the United States when there is no political issue pending," said Robinson, "but we never heard even the Senator from Idaho talking about freedom of conscience while the last campaign was in progress; when that was supposed to be an issue he was dumb as an oyster on that dominant and overshadowing question."

Carol Pleads for Permission to Return Home

BUCHAREST (Rumania) April 26. (AP)—Trustworthy sources have revealed a penitent letter from former Crown Prince Carol at Cannes, France, asking permission of the Rumanian regency to return to his homeland.

The letter was written to the Patriarch Miron Christea, one of the three regents who act for Carol's son, the boy King, Michael. It expressed contrition for escapades and for his desertion of his country, and contained an offer of fullest loyalty to the throne and government if allowed to return. The patriarch is understood to have replied that his abdication and expulsion from Rumania were fixed by unalterable law.

It is not believed, however, the regency will interpose objections to a meeting of the boy King and his father next June in Bled, at the summer home of King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia.

JAVA PACIFIC IN EXPANSION STEP

Holland-Owned Line Plans Augmented Service

Addition to Fleet of Fifty Per Cent Announced

Sailing Schedule Increased to Triweekly Basis

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Fifty per cent addition to its fleet and a quickening of its monthly service between here and the Dutch East Indies to a sailing and an arrival every three weeks, are announced by the Dutch-owned Java Pacific Line, through Perry S. Newcomb, of Dodwell & Co., agents.

The increase will be effective with the entry of the steamer Kertosono, sailing from Batavia May 22, next, direct for Los Angeles and due here early in July. Addition of the Kertosono and the 10,000-ton steamer Saparoea, soon to follow, will give the fleet six vessels in the service, now maintained by two motorships and two steamships.

Java Pacific Line's pyramiding is typical of the shipping firm's growth in the American-oriental trade. Resuming this service in January, 1928, with two ships and a sixty-day service, after years withdrawn the line increased its service to thirty days last October and now is quickening it to three weeks.

Every sailing and arrival boasts a capacity cargo, inbound vessels each bringing thousands of tons of crude rubber for the new tire companies of Los Angeles, as well as capoc, manioc meal, rattan, spices and such. The Siantar is due with 3200 tons and ten passengers for Los Angeles, May 9, and the Bintang sailed from here with 2500 tons of local products and ten passengers yesterday.

Java Pacific is the only line to the Dutch East Indies making Los Angeles its first port of call inbound, and last port outbound.

COTTON DAMAGED BY FIRE IN STEAMER HOLDS

Fire ignited 300 bales of cotton in holds 7 and 8 of the American-Hawaiian steamer Virginian at 8:40 a.m. yesterday, damaging cargo to the extent of $20,000, and the ship $1600 An exposed spot on an overheated steam pipe against which a bale was stored, was believed responsible, according to assistant Fire Chief Kelly. Two fire boats and six land companies were employed an hour, while dock forces manned hoses at the start. The vessel was expected to sail undelayed for the North Atlantic last night.

The gas boat Pal delivered 4000 crates of Mexican tomatoes yesterday after nearly sinking upcoast from San Jose del Cabo. The plate next to the rudder came off, flooding the craft, which with all pumps going, was able to beach herself. The crew unloaded half the cargo, upended the stern, patched the hole, reloaded and continued here. The Huntress also was in with 3000 crates yesterday, and the Prospector is due tomorrow, while the Camina went south in the same trade yesterday, and the Jeanette R, will sail today. Clark & Hansen estimate they have imported 60,000 crates from San Jose and will bring in 10,000 more before the season closes in two weeks.

Several officials of the Cuyamel Fruit Company will leave today for Porto Boca de los Tomates, Mex., where the company is spending $3,000,000 on a new plantation to export bananas to Los Angeles. Eighteen miles of roadbed are completed, and ties and rails are being laid from the port to the plantation. Upward of 2000 men are employed on the railroad, bridge and plantation, which will be shipping 25,000 bunches of bananas here monthly by October, and will have its own fleet running here next year.

Despite Hawaii's output of 800,000 tons of cane sugar yearly, 7500 bags of that product from Cuba will go out for Honolulu on the Lassco steamer Diamond Head at noon today. L. L. Dowling, one of eight passengers sailing, will be accompanied by a pipe organ from the Artcraft Organ Company of Santa Monica, which he will install in the new Chinese Christian Church at Honolulu. Also aboard will be two double-end motor coaches for the Island of Cuba.

The yacht Arawan II has been sold by J. Fred Vogel to Dr. J. Park Dougall of Los Angeles, commodore of the California Yacht Club. She is a cruiser type, seventy feet over all, and was built in Essington, Pa.

One hundred members of the new San Diego Passenger and Freight Association will arrive on that body's first outing tomorrow morning, on the Lassco liner Harvard. They will return tomorrow afternoon on the sister ship Yale. It is the first excursion party availing itself of the new low rates, effective, beginning this week-end.

Robert Sherer of San Francisco and Floyd Pugh of Daytona Beach, Fla., stowed away on the Lassco liner City of Los Angeles, the 20th inst., hoping to reach the beach of Waikiki. Imagine their surprise when they were transferred in mid-ocean to the City of Honolulu, which arrived here yesterday.

Liner arrivals today include the Virginia from New York, and the Venezuela, City of Panama and Pacific Exporter from San Francisco. The Dollar liner President Polk is due tomorrow from New York, en route around the world.

FOOD CHAIN ABSORBED

M'PHERSON QUIZ IN OFFING

Senate Managers Urge Reopening of Conspiracy Charges Against Woman Evangelist

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—Regardless of the outcome of the Judge Hardy impeachment trial, members of the Assembly Board of Managers which prosecuted the hearing are convinced that Los Angeles county should act at once to reopen the entire McPherson kidnaping case and bring the principals to trial again on criminal charges.

"I believe that the evidence brought out in the impeachment hearing justifies the Los Angeles District Attorney in proceeding against Aimee Semple McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, to obtain a conviction for conspiracy," Assemblyman Little, chairman of the prosecuting board, asserted after the verdict.

DISMISSAL CLOUDED

Assemblyman Hornblower in another statement declared that all the official acts of Asa Keyes, convicted bribe taker, who asked dismissal of the first trial of Aimee and her mother, have been placed under a cloud "which should warrant Buron Fitts to again open up the kidnaping hoax."

Hornblower pointed out today that Joseph Ryan, former deputy District Attorney, charged on the witness stand in the Hardy impeachment trial that Keyes suppressed valuable evidence against Aimee and her mother, although Ryan told his superior at the time he believed this evidence, found at Carmel, conclusively proved that Aimee was not kidnaped, but sojourned in the seaside artists' colony with Kenneth G. Ormiston.

HINTS KNOWLEDGE

"I was not the District Attorney and I took my orders from Keyes," Ryan said significantly during the Hardy trial. He added that he was aware of the real reason for Keyes's failure to bring forth the facts unearthed at Carmel, but was not called upon to reveal this reason because of its irrelevancy in connection with Hardy.

"In view of these circumstances and other significant testimony given in the present trial," Hornblower affirmed, "it seems to be that Dist.-Atty. Fitts would be rendering a valuable public service to bring these people to a belated justice."

Fitts has been receiving a complete daily transcript of the Hardy impeachment proceedings, and this is understood to mean that he now is studying the advisability of instituting new charges against the evangelist and her mother in the light of revelations in the Senate impeachment.

McPHERSON CASE DECISION FITTS WILL WITHHOLD

Dist.-Atty. Fitts last night declined to comment on the reported statements of members of the Assembly board of managers that the entire McPherson case should be reopened for investigation and the matter placed before the grand jury.

"I have had no communication from either Assemblyman Little or Assemblyman Hornblower in regard to the testimony placed before the State Senate," Fitts said. "They have not discussed the matter with me in any way, and no requests have been received from them urging this office to reopen the McPherson case.

"The members of the Senate heard all the testimony that the Assembly board of managers presented during the impeachment proceedings, and the vote on the various charges speak for their individual beliefs.

"Until I have given the matter additional consideration, and have studied the entire transcript of the testimony and all the proceedings of the impeachment trial of Judge Hardy, I do not care to discuss the future moves of this office in the McPherson matter."

MRS. McPHERSON FLAYS LEGISLATORS FOR CALL

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist whose name figured prominently throughout the impeachment trial of Superior Judge Hardy, issued a statement tonight bitterly attacking the Assembly board of managers for calling her as a witness in the trial.

Mrs. McPherson stated that she testified willingly before the Assembly Legislative Committee hearing held in Los Angeles last February, contrary to the board's contention that she had been an "unwilling and evasive" witness.

She charged the board of managers with seeking publicity through her appearance in Sacramento and of issuing many "ridiculous and sensational statements . . . forecasting the evidence they expected to produce against me and the terrible things that would befall me when I took the witness stand.

"The statements led one to believe that I was on trial rather than Judge Hardy," the evangelist asserted.

Mrs. McPherson, commenting on her seventeen-minute appearance on the witness stand Wednesday night, stated that, in her opinion, this was done for the sole purpose of "attempting to justify the managers in putting the State of California and myself to such great expense."

The "silly" stories that have been spread concerning her whereabouts on various occasions are "unworthy of an answer," she concluded.

Legislature Sets May 15 as Day for Adjourning

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—The Senate late today passed an amended Assembly resolution setting the date of adjournment of the Forty-eighth California Legislature tentatively as May 15 at noon.

Senator A. H. Breed of Oakland, leader of the Upper House, introduced amendments changing the date of adjournment from May 10 as fixed earlier in the week by the Assembly to May 15. Breed declared that "with the co-operation of every Senator it will be possible to complete our legislative business by that time."

Many night sessions and long committee meetings must be held during the two and one-half weeks, Breed said. He also warned senators that if they had bills to be passed action must be taken on all Upper House measures before May 8. Assembly bills before the Senate will receive preference after that date, he stated.

MRS. PLANT SUES FOR DIVORCE IN PARIS

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Mrs. Constance Bennett Plant, wife of Philip Plant, and daughter of Richard Bennett, the actor, returned from Paris today and confirmed reports that she had sued for a divorce in the Paris courts. She said she expects to get the divorce in October. The basis was incompatibility, she said.

NOTED ENGINEER PASSES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26. (AP)—John D. Isaacs, 80 years of age, nationally known engineer and for many years chief consulting engineer of the Southern Pacific Company, died suddenly here today.

MICHAEL GOES TO HIS REWARD

Russian Grand Duke Called by Death in London

Cousin of Late Czar and Exile From Native Land

End Follows Several Months of Failing Health

LONDON, April 26. (AP)—Grand Duke Michael of Russia, cousin of the late Czar, died here this morning.

Grand Duke Michael suffered an attack of influenza late in the winter, which left him weak, and his family had given up hope some days past.

The Grand Duke was for years an important figure in London society and smart Anglo-American circles on the Riviera. Although his fortunes were badly depleted by the Russian revolution he still was able to maintain a fine London establishment.

MARRIED TO COUNTESS

In 1891 he contracted a morganatic marriage with Countess Torby at San Remo and they lived together devotedly until her death in London September, 1927. She was one of the most famous of London hostesses and had many social gifts.

Their two daughters married into the British nobility, one being Lady Zia Wenher, wife of Maj. Sir Harold Wenher of London, and the other, Countess Milford Kave, whose husband is a cousin of King George. They also had a son, Count Michael Torby.

ODD NICKNAME

On the continent Michael was known as "Miche-Miche," a nickname which was in odd contradistinction to his imposing soldierly appearance.

The Grand Duke was deeply affected by his wife's death two years ago and his health was never the same afterward. Although his family disapproved of his marriage with her their life together was one of romance, both steadfastly clinging to their early affection for each other. Because of this marriage he spent most of his life in exile from his native land.

Mexico to Bar Alien Laborers

MEXICO CITY, April 26. (AP)—In pursuance of a recently announced policy of giving Mexico's jobs to Mexicans the Department of Interior today issued instructions to Mexican consuls not to give entry permits to immigrants who want to come to Mexico looking for work.

Alien women entering the country will be subject to fines of 1000 pesos and arrested or expelled. The measures were necessitated by the scarcity of work in Mexico.

TARIFF BILL SCANNED BY COMMITTEE

Republicans Polish Off Measure for Introducing; Democrats Whet Axes

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The full Republican membership of the House Ways and Means Committee met today in executive session to review the changes in rates drawn up by Republican subcommittees for incorporation into the new tariff bill. The measure is expected to be introduced early next week.

Democratic leaders, meanwhile, were laying plans to combat any attempt to limit the offering of amendments to three or four paragraphs of the bill during its consideration on the House floor.

While a great many changes in rates, mostly increases, are expected to be placed in the bill the impression has gone out of the committee that the revision will be small compared with the thousands of items in the law. A thorough overhauling is believed to be in store for the administrative provisions, especially with relation to Tariff Commission procedure in determining rate bases for administration of the flexible clause and for the information of Congress.

ORATORY FLOODS COLLEGES

Largest Number of Students Ever Involved Now Clashing in State Finals of Contest

WASHINGTON, April 26. (Exclusive)—Five hundred and forty-two colleges and universities, the largest group of institutions of higher learning ever brought together in any project of the kind in the history of American education, are represented in the fifth National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, which is now completing its second, or State, competitive stage. The prizes at stake total $5000.

The contest, which has been sponsored and conducted by the Better America Federation of California for the last five years as a citizenship contribution, has been participated in this year by approximately 28,000 students in universities, colleges and junior colleges throughout the entire nation.

FOUR STAGES

It passes through four major stages.

The first stage is that in which the spokesman is chosen for each institution out of all of the entrants therein. That selection is made within the institution without the intervention of the national management. College spokesmen were selected on or prior to the 15th inst.

The second stage is that in which the champions of States, or portions of States, are selected. These contests are supervised and controlled by the national management. In several States it has been necessary to make two, three or four subdivisions or groupings of participating institutions in order adequately to conduct the competitions. The last of these State or group contests will be held next Tuesday. Most of them are being held this week.

The third stage is that of the national semifinal, or zone contests. There are seven of these, the nation being divided for the purposes of this project into seven major zones—northeastern, northern, eastern, southern, central, midwestern and Pacific. The zone meetings will be held during May in Santa Clara, Cal.; Liberty, Mo.; Evanston, Ill.; Asheville, N. C.; Washington, D. C.; State College, Pa.; Syracuse, N. Y., and Amherst, Mass.

These seven zone meetings lead into the fourth and last stage of the contest, the national finals, to be held in Los Angeles on June 20. Each zone winner goes to the national finals. In the Los Angeles meeting the prizes will be as follows: First, $1500; second, $1000; third, $750; fourth, $550; fifth, $450; sixth, $400; seventh, $350. Total, $5000.

El Gran Duque Miguel Ha Fallecido en Londres

LONDRES, Abril 26.—El Gran Duque Miguel de Rusia, primo del último zar, ha muerto aquí la mañana de hoy. Un ataque de influenza, que le vino ya avanzado el invierno, lo dejó muy débil, y su familia tenía desde hace varios días perdida toda esperanza de que se salvara el paciente.

Por buen número de años fue el gran duque destacada figura en la sociedad londinense y en los círculos angloamericanos de gran tono de la Costa Azul. Aunque su fortuna quedó muy quebrantada por la revolución moscovita, le alcanzaba aún para sostener una casa lujosa en Londres.

En 1891 contrajo enlace morganático con la condesa Torby en San Remo, y la pareja vivió devotamente unida hasta la muerte de la dama ocurrida en Septiembre de 1927 en Londres. Era una de las matronas que mejor recibían en Londres, y la adornan muchas raras dotes.

Record Británico de Aviación

LONDRES, Abril 26.—El jefe de escuadra A. G. Jones-Williams y el teniente aviador N. H. Jenkins, de la Fuerza Real Aérea Británica, salidos de Inglaterra la mañana del miércoles en un avión que debía volar sin escalas hasta Calcutta, han aterrizado hoy en Karachi a la 1:15 de la tarde.

Si bien los pilotos no lograron llegar a su propuesto destino, han realizado el primer vuelo sin escala a la India, y sentado nuevo record británico de larga distancia. En 50h, 48m han hecho un recorrido de 4100 millas aproximadamente.

Méjico Cerrará la Puerta a los Jornaleros Extranjeros

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Abril 26. Ciñéndose a la política recientemente anunciada de dar a los mejicanos los trabajos de Méjico, el ministerio de lo Interior ha librado hoy instrucciones a los cónsules mejicanos de no extender permisos de entrada a aquellos inmigrantes que quieran venir a Méjico en busca de trabajo.

Las extranjeras que entren en el país serán penadas con multas de 1000 pesos, y arrestadas o expulsadas. Estas medidas se imponen, dada la escasez de trabajo en la República.

Chile Será la Meta de un Gigante de los Aires

WASHINGTON, Abril 26.—Hoy dejó ultimados la compañía norteamericana de Vías Aéreas Internacionales sus planes para un vuelo sin escala entre los Estados Unidos y la República de Chile, el que se iniciará dentro de unos diez días.

Los aviadores tripularán el aeroplano Sikorsky, que se construyó en un principio para el as francés Rene Fonk, que proyectaba un vuelo transatlántico. Partirá el citado avión, o de la capital norteamericana, o de Tampa (Florida), o de Miami (Florida).

Se Propone el Nombre de "Hoover" Para la Presa del Colorado

SALT LAKE CITY, Abril 26.—La junta directiva de la cámara de comercio de Salt Lake City ha presentado la iniciativa de que se dé el nombre de "Presa de Hoover" a la que va a construirse en el cañón de Boulder, en debido reconocimiento del papel preeminente desempeñado por el President Hoover como jefe de la comisión del Río Colorado, y de sus eminentes dotes de ingeniero.

NOTAS LOCALES

Hawai Va a Tener otra Línea Aérea

Al regresar ayer de Honolulú, a bordo del paquebote "City of Honolulú", de la línea Lassco, el abogado de Los Angeles, Nathan Newby, Jr., ha anunciado la constitución de la compañía "Hawaiian Airways, Ltd.", que establecerá servicios de aeroplanos entre las diferentes islas del archipiélago hawayano.

Dice Newby que se iniciarán esos servicios en el otoño próximo con dos monoplanos trimotores para catorce viajeros. Estarán equipados, cada uno, con tres máquinas Whitney Wasp patentadas, y transportarán correo, bultos ligeros de express, y viajeros.

La opinión pública en Hawai ha recibido con entusiasmo la noticia de ese servicio, el que, según el citado letrado, tendrá éxito inmediato.

El capital de la compañía se subscribió en Los Angeles, y en la directiva figuran William G. McAdoo, Nathan Newby, Sr., Paul E. Richter, vice-presidente, y Jack Frye, jefe de las Standard Airlines. Este último es presidente de la compañía hawayana que acaba de organizarse.

Cuélgase un Individuo en su Propio Garage

J. C. Kuhlekamp, de 55 años de edad, con domicilio en el 403 de la calle Cincuenta Oeste, se colgó ayer en un garage sito en la parte trasera de su casa habitación.

Al efecto, pasó una soga por sobre una de las vigas, se aseguró el nudo corredizo alrededor del cuello, y saltó de un escalereja en que se había subido. Fue descubierto el suicidio por la señora V. Yohn, habitante en el 405½ de la calle Cincuenta Oeste, que entró al patio adyacente a su casa. El teniente detective Holt, que rindió parte del suicidio, se halló con este recado escrito por el suicida, y dirigido a su esposa: "Mamá querida, qué necio he sido. Mi vida ha sido un fracaso. Con mi póliza podrás ayudarte. Vende todo. Ya no pude aguantar mi espalda y mis nervios. Adiós."

Además de su esposa, deja Kuhlekamp dos hijas casadas en California, y un hijo en Ohio.

At last—a new and still better Eastern oil for the motoring West

The New Mobiloil will preserve your engine's first-year feel for at least 30,000 miles!

30,000 miles—a big figure. Actually, it is moderate compared with the test records on which it is based. Let us explain—

A few months ago we arranged to use the Atlantic City Speedway as a practical "road laboratory" on which to test the New Mobiloil.

The stock cars of several prominent manufacturers were purchased, and special instruments were fitted to their cowls and floor-boards. Then the long test grind began. Thousands of miles were run. Other high-grade oils were used in competition.

The results were amazing!—

When we say that the New Mobiloil will preserve your engine's first-year feel for 30,000 miles—actually, Mobiloil has kept the first-year feel in test engines for more than twice this distance—and without a single major engine adjustment of any kind!

In addition to saving the first-year feel of your engine, we definitely offer you 20% more oil mileage, with a very noticeable increase in power—although the results of our tests considerably bettered these figures. Drain and refill with the New Mobiloil regularly.

Make this chart your guide

It shows the correct grade of Gargoyle Mobiloil for certain prominent cars. If your car is not listed below, see complete Mobiloil Chart at your Mobiloil dealer's.

DISCARDED LOVER HELD FOR ARSON

San Diego Blaze Called Incendiarism to Spite Girl Living in Building

SAN DIEGO, April 26.—Charged with arson in connection with a fire which caused $15,000 damage at the Star Cafe Tuesday night, Ray T. Osborne is held on a complaint issued by the District Attorney. Fire Chief Louis Almgren swore to the complaint.

The fire official charges the blaze was set as an act of revenge upon Mrs. Helen Bruce, a girl who made her home in the building occupied by the cafe. The suspect and the girl are said to have been acquainted for some time. She married James Bruce. Jealousy of her suitor is cited as a motive for setting the blaze, according to the complaint.

Almgren said his investigation disclosed the suspect bought a quart of kerosene at a store on Trias street, the afternoon before the fire. The house that burned was on the edge of a canyon and had an open space under it. The blaze originated there, Almgren said.

Boys to Rule at Inglewood

INGLEWOOD, April 26.—Inglewood observed Boys' Week with a group of Inglewood Union High School boys in charge of city government, police and fire departments, the courts and the constabulary, as well as at the city desks in local newspaper offices and as heads of the various business houses and manufacturing plants.

A feature of the day was the noon luncheon of the Inglewood Kiwanis Club, where all the youthful officials were guests of honor and one of the latter. Carlin Matson, judge of the student body court at the high school and serving for the day as police judge, presided in place of the club president, Louis Ballenger.

An address on "The Future of Aviation," particularly addressed to the boys, who, the speaker said, will be doing the commercial flying of the future, was made at this luncheon by Dr. T. C. Young of Glendale, widely known in aviation circles.

Ted Kinney was "mayor" in place of Hugh B. Lawrence, and other responsible posts were filled by thirty-two youths, including among others, Nathan Dix, City Attorney; Dick Jenkins, City Prosecutor; Deb Needham, Police Chief; Johnnie Apfel, Fire Chief; Junius Bell, Heights Station fire captain; Jack Merrill, City Engineer; Donald Geggie, City Clerk, and Glen Allen, constable.

SAN DIEGO'S FLOWER SHOW OPENS TODAY

SAN DIEGO, April 26.—More rich in color than ever is the San Diego Flower Show which opens today at Balboa Park and continues throughout Sunday. Roses may be a bit late because of the continued cool weather, but here may be seen the most brilliant of tulips, ranunculi in a very complete assortment of colors, Dutch and Spanish iris, ixias and many bulbous plants which, by rights, should have been done blooming long ago. The array of gladioli is a brilliant omen for the coming big gladiolus show in early June. Shrub branches of flowering shrubs, spireas, wegelias, honeysuckle, lilacs, are seen in delightful profusion. The show is sponsored by San Diego's Floral Association, and does great credit to that flower-loving community.

Police Seeking Kin of Woman Drug Victim

SANTA ANA, April 26.—Without regaining consciousness after being found in a local hotel room Saturday, a woman known only as Gertrude O'Donnell of San Francisco died last night at the County Hospital. No clew has been found to trace her relatives or disclose circumstances that caused her to die among strangers, believed to be a victim of dope.

Coroner Charles D. Brown stated today that an inquest date has not been fixed. The body is at the Smith & Tuthill undertaking establishment here.

The woman was unconscious when found in the hotel, where she had registered a few hours before. Numerous scars of hypodermic needles were found on her body. Several needles were discovered in her effects, and her condition caused hospital authorities to pronounce her case to be one of drug poisoning.

JURY GIVES INJURED DRIVER $5500 AWARD

VENTURA, April 26. — Frank Reynos of Ojai was awarded $5500 damages from the Pickwick Stages Company after the jury had deliberated for two hours. Reynos had sued for $15,130 as a result of two broken ribs, a fractured collar bone and permanent scar on his jaw. The accident occurred last October on the State highway between Piru and Fillmore.

SCHOOL HEADS NAMED

GLENDALE, April 26.—The Glendale Union High School Board of Trustees last night appointed Norman C. Hayhurst, head of the physical education department of the Broadway High School, and Miss Frances Jackson, a former principal in the intermediate school, as vice-principals of the New Herbert Hoover High School in northwest Glendale. Eugene J. Wolf, another member of the physical education staff, was elected vice-principal of the Broadway High School, succeeding A. L. Ferguson, who has been appointed principal of the new high school.

IMPERIAL SEES FLOOD MENACE

Level of Rodriguez Levee Being Made Higher

Upper Colorado Snow Hints Excessive Runoff

Large Crew Set at Work to Protect Ranches

CALEXICO, April 26.—Anticipating a flood discharge in the Colorado River this season higher than normal, the Colorado River Land Company has put men and 160 head of mules at work raising the level of Rodrigues levee, which is a secondary line of flood defense in the Volcano Lake region.

Argyle McLachlin, ranch superintendent, stated today that snow reports from the upper watershed indicated an excessive flood runoff this year and the present work is being done as an added measure of protection for ranchers on the Mexican and American sides of the international line.

Irrigation district engineers are preparing to establish daily patrol along the main Pescadero levee, which forms the front line of flood defense. Loaded wreck trains will be maintained at the quarry at Andrade for emergency use during the season.

Reports from Grand Canyon indicate a slight decrease in the flood discharge at that point today. Yesterday's reading was 40,900 second feet, while today's discharge was reported at 38,800 feet. With the snowfall in the upper shed ranging from 14 to 39 per cent above normal, river engineers here are preparing to protect the local districts against a flood that may be in excess of 100,000 second feet at the peak of the runoff.

Daily reports received from Grand Canyon and Topoc give eight days' advance notice of the flood discharge which may be expected at the Imperial intake.

Woman Would Publish Liquor Buyers' Names

REDONDO BEACH, April 26.—Mrs. Eva G. Wheeler, State president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union spoke at the county institute of that organization here this afternoon. Mrs. Wheeler touched upon the several phases of law enforcement making a plea for a fair chance for prohibition and for punishment both for the buyer and the seller in suppressing the liquor traffic.

Mrs. Wheeler praised the attitude of President Hoover upon prohibition enforcement.

Greater interest of police officers in obtaining every ounce of evidence obtainable and, in cases where a still is found, of insisting upon prosecution upon the most severe charges, together with the enforced publication of the names of all persons listed by the bootlegger as customers, were among the measures which she urged the union to demand.

Speaking upon the contest now being conducted by a chain of newspapers in which a $25,000 prize is offered for the best suggestion regarding a method for the repeal of prohibition law, Mrs. Wheeler denounced the action as a vicious measure directed against the Hoover administration and against the wishes of the citizens of the United States, expressed so emphatically at the last election. She urged each union of the Women's Christian Temperance Union to adopt resolutions condemning the move and to obtain their widespread publication.

SPANISH BALLET STAR TO ENTERTAIN ON BOAT

ENSENADA, April 26.—Los Angeles vacationists will enjoy the atmosphere of Old Spain on board the Admiral liner Dorothy Alexander on her special fourteen-day cruise to Mazatlan through the action of Mayor David Zarate, of this city, in delegating a famous Spanish ballet artist to make the voyage, according to advices just received by R. B. Schutten, assistant general passenger agent. The Spanish star is Senorita Marie Ramirez, former member of the Royal Opera at Seville, who will entertain the 200 first-class passengers to which the voyage is limited. The vessel sails from Los Angeles Harbor at 9 p.m. May 18, reaching Ensenada at 3 p.m. the following day.

YOUTH CAN PROVE HE HEARD ENGLAND

CHINO, April 26.—Gerald La Forge, youthful radio enthusiast, has evidence today to prove that he talked for more than a half-hour with Coventry, Eng., last month with his home-made set. The Chino-to-England and back conversation occurred at 4:30 p.m. March 4, while it was daylight in Ontario, but early in the morning of March 5 in England. La Forge has received a verification card from Coventry. His call letters are 6ARN.

MRS. TOOMAY HEADS MISSIONARY UNION

ONTARIO, April 26.—Mrs. John Barron Toomay of this city, has been elected president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the west end of San Bernardino county, embracing about twenty-five churches. Mrs. Toomay was elected at a session of the organization at Westminster Presbyterian Church last night. Other officers are Mrs. Leon Durham, Upland, vice-president-at-large; Mrs. A. J. Colgan, Upland, secretary, and Mrs. Marie Jessen, Ontario, treasurer.

NEW VOICES IN POSTAL FUROR

Smaller Cities Suspicious of Survey Motive

Harbor District Opposition Told at Inglewood

Los Angeles Chamber Denial Heard With Askance

INGLEWOOD, April 26.—Protest against a survey of postoffices in the metropolitan district by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, which was branded as a consolidation movement to establish branch postoffices in surrounding communities, was contained in a resolution passed at a mass meeting in the Chamber of Commerce Building here today.

Carl Hyde, secretary of the Torrance chamber, offered the resolution of opposition, which is to be forwarded to the Harbor District Chamber of Commerce, representing sixteen chambers, "for adoption and strenuous protest."

EDITOR PROTESTS

City Attorney Clyde Woodworth of Inglewood presided at the luncheon gathering, which was broadcast from station KMIC. Among the speakers were Clarke Waite, managing editor of the San Pedro News Pilot; Capt. C. P. Wright, postmaster at San Pedro; Leo R. Fuller, editor of the Redondo Breeze, and president of the South Bay Business Men's Association; Ed J. Parker, president of the Lennox Business Men's Association; Mrs. Tracey Featherby, president of the El Segundo Chamber of Commerce; Councilman Robert C. Ramage of Hawthorne; Harry H. Dolly, president of the Torrance Chamber of Commerce; A. E. Chamberlain, president, and James H. Dalton, secretary, of the Inglewood chamber.

Fuller said he represented not only his paper and the Copley Syndicate, which owns several Southern California papers, in protesting against the action, but also the South Bay Business Men's Association, the Redondo City Council, and twenty other civic and service organizations of his community.

TELEGRAM READ

A telegram was read from the Culver City chamber as well as a copy of a telegram received there from Congressman Crail, indicating his interest in seeing that no action to make branch postoffices out of postoffices in outside communities should be taken without opportunity for public hearing on the matter.

Capt. Wright, charged four attempts in the last ten years had been made to put the San Pedro office in the branch class, and read an extract from a letter purporting to come from a high government official in Washington that read in part:

"It looks as there is going to be a real fight on this postoffice consolidation put up by the Los Angeles chamber."

He and others, after hearing the original letter of the Los Angeles chamber, asking for a survey, and also its disclaimer of any intention to make smaller cities have only branch postoffices, which were read by the chairman, still expressed their suspicions.

Council Yawns and Abandons Reform Scheme

GLENDALE, April 26.—One of the reforms introduced by the new City Council at its first meeting after the recent election is scheduled for the discard.

Candidates elected on a platform of carrying on the city's business "out in the open" insisted that the minutes of the previous meeting be read in open council, rather than being adopted as read.

The first meeting at which this system was tried was only delayed about ten minutes by the reading of the minutes, but after City Clerk Chapman today had droned through the records for half an hour, Councilman Sam Davis chopped a yawn in the middle and demanded if they had to listen to much more of it.

Chapman looked appealingly at City Attorney Fox for a ruling that would allow him to rest his voice, but Fox was adamant and insisted that the reading continue to the end.

It was finally decided that in the future a copy of the minutes shall be hung on the door of the Council chamber and any interested taxpayer may read them if he wants to do so and can spare the time.

VETERAN ALHAMBRA CAR DEALER DIES

ALHAMBRA, April 26.—F. Max Teter, 47 years of age, prominent in the automobile business here for many years, died today after a long illness. He came to California twenty-eight years ago from Topeka, Kan., and had lived in this city eighteen years. In 1916 he founded, with his cousin, Clarence Teter, the Teter Motor Company. Three years ago he retired from active business because of failing health. He was active in Masonic circles, being a member of Alhambra Lodge, No. 322, San Gabriel Chapter, R.A.M., Alhambra Commandery, Knights Templar, and Al Malaikah Temple of the Shrine. He leaves his widow and a daughter, Betty. Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of Turner, Stevens & Turner.

BOY DIES OF BURNS

COLTON, April 26.—Billie Cumming, living at Fontana, died at Ramona Hospital from burns received when a can of gasoline exploded. The boy was using the gasoline to exterminate ants near the house and had lighted gasoline poured on the nests when the five gallon can in his hands exploded.

YOUTHS AT AZUSA AIR-MINDED

Remarkable Miniature Craft Exhibited

AZUSA, April 26.—Sixty model airplanes and gliders were entered in an airplane flight contest yesterday at the intermediate school here an cash prizes were given to boys whose ships flew the greatest distance.

Frank Angiano, 11 years of age, youngest entrant, won first prize for the finest constructed plane. Bob Betteridge, 16, was awarded second prize, and Mike Bravo, 13, third.

In another division of the contest in which entrants vied for honors in flying their planes the longest distance, Paul Winchester, 13, made an unusual record with his ship, which flew 156 feet. Bob Betteridge, oldest boy in the contest, entered a cleverly designed glider which flew sixty feet, and Alton Hines, 12, was the third winner in this class, whose glider made forty-eight feet.

Judges of the contest, which marks the first one of its kind held here, were S. E. Skidmore, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Cornelius Smith, prominent Rotarian and business man, and Dan H. White, local undertaker.

The judges especially praised the model exhibition of Frank Angiano. The miniature plane designed in the likeness of the large Ford trimotored planes, was constructed to perfection, even to motors, and glass windows in the cabin.

The contest was staged under the direction of Supt. Charles Carpenter, and E. S. Hinds, principal of the intermediate school, who instructed the youths in constructing their ships.

THREATS RESULT IN SUICIDE

Elderly Pasadenan Kills Himself While Officers Rush to Residence

PASADENA, April 26.—After threatening to take the lives of his wife and several friends, according to the report of the police, Charles Hoxie, 70 years of age, killed himself today by firing a revolver bullet through his head as police were racing to his home in an effort to avert the tragedy.

When Hoxie snatched his rifle and ran to the cellar, Samuel Gitelson became alarmed and telephoned the police that "a man is going to kill himself here!" When Officer Sweetser arrived at the residence, 175 Pearl street, he found Hoxie's body lying on the basement floor across a .22-caliber rifle.

Mrs. Hoxie, who had mistaken the report of the rifle for a falling plank, collapsed when informed that her husband was dead. She was revived by Emergency Hospital surgeons. The body was taken to the C. F. Lamb mortuary and the Coroner notified.

Mrs. Hoxie told the police that her husband had been despondent for several months because he could not find work.

Cartridge in Bonfire Explodes

MONROVIA, April 26.—A high-powered cartridge accidentally thrown in a pile of rubbish being burned yesterday by Mary Algeria at her home, 620 Duarte street, exploded, striking her right arm near the shoulder. The woman was rushed to the Monrovia Hospital by a neighbor, James Williams.

To remove the brass end of the cartridge, which was embedded deep into the arm, Dr. E. H. Kelley performed an operation. The bullet lacerated several arteries, but X-ray pictures taken last night did not reveal any fractures.

NEWSPAPER MAN HURT IN DANCING MISHAP

SANTA ANA, April 26.—Horace Fine, well-known local newspaper man, today was under a physician's care and facing prospect of a forced vacation of several weeks, as the result of an accident at the Orange County Shrine Club's ball in the Anaheim Elks' Club last night, where he suffered dislocation of his right shoulder. Shortly after his arrival at the ball, Fine was dancing with Mrs. Paul Schwartz, when another couple tripped them. In saving his partner from a fall, Fine fell to the floor, striking on his right elbow. Dr. D. A. Harwood of Santa Ana, a guest at the ball, brought him to his home here.

Van Nuys Picks City Hall Site

VAN NUYS, April 26.—By a majority vote conducted by the use of post cards mailed to the Los Angeles City Clerk, residents of this city decided today they want the new branch city hall erected on the site at Sylvan street and Sylmar avenue, across from the present small city hall building, instead of on the site tentatively chosen on Van Nuys Boulevard near Haynes street. The votes cast were 856 for and 806 against the preferred site.

On the general city election ballot in June residents will vote on the bond issue of $36,250 to pay for the site. The Van Nuys Boulevard site would have cost about $70,000 and was twice as large. The Los Angeles City Council already has allocated $275,000 for the building of the hall as soon as the purchase of the site is settled.

MELON GROWERS TO REDRAFT CONTRACT

BRAWLEY, April 26.—In order to formulate a new melon pickers' contract which will comply with the State laws, a conference is to be held May 2 at the Imperial county Courthouse between a committee of valley growers and Louis Block, representing the State Department of Industrial Relations. State officials have objected to the old contract on the ground that it did not give adequate protection to the workers.

UNITY ON WATER ISSUE PLEADED

Orange County Separated by Sectional Interests

Joint Water-Bond, Harbor Project Vote Urged

Speakers Will Stump County to Reach Voters

BREA, April 26. — Members of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county in a meeting here took steps meant to amalgamate the north and the south ends of the county upon a program of water conservation and harbor development.

Speakers emphasized that failure of the northern voter to support harbor bonds in past years has been due to an uninformed electorate. Others declared that because of a disgruntled feeling and of a failure to understand the importance of water conservation the beach voter is prepared at this time to ballot against the water program.

A speakers' bureau was authorized to be formed and to delegate some speaker to appear before every public meeting in the county until after the harbor and water plans have been submitted to the voters, probably in June. President Lotus M. London will announce the formation of this bureau at a later date.

Speaking for the harbor project Lew Wallace, veteran harbor campaigner, asked that some means be devised whereby the projected $18,000,000 water bond issue can be combined on the ballot with one for perhaps $1,000,000 for harbor improvement. Should there be no method found to accomplish this, Wallace suggested that the present county flood-control measure be amended to permit the entire beach area to withdraw from the flood district, which now includes the entire county.

The meeting was attended by 150 men and women representing virtually every community in the county. The next meeting of the group will be held in Anaheim May 22.

SIERRA MADRE TOLD ABOUT SCHOOL NEEDS

SIERRA MADRE, April 26.—That this city is in the position to provide an adequate elementary school building and auditorium with enlarged recreation facilities, was the summary of the school survey presented before the Chamber of Commerce by the education committee last night. The survey was conducted here by John A. Sexson, Superintendent of Pasadena schools, who acted as spokesman for the committee, in presenting the survey report. George H. Meredith, assistant superintendent, gave a rating on the present buildings, which he said was so low that it would not be sound policy to expend any more money in improving them. E. D. Burbank is chairman of the education committee.

BOYS WILL ATTEND "Y" CONFERENCE

VENTURA, April 26.—The older boys' conference of Southern California, sponsored by the Y.M.C.A., will convene here this week-end, and will bring several hundred boys of high-school age. A program has been prepared for them by the Chamber of Commerce.

The boys are to register at the high-school auditorium tomorrow from 11 to 12:30. At noon they will be the guests of the Rotary Club at a luncheon at the Athens clubhouse. David J. Reese, president of the Rotary Club, is to be toastmaster and will also greet the boys on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, of which he is president.

The conference theme is "Aces" and all the speakers will hold to that theme in planning their talks.

WOMEN OF BEAUMONT PLAN FLOWER SHOW

BEAUMONT, April 26. — The Woman's Club has arranged for the annual spring flower festival and rose exhibit to be held at the clubhouse Tuesday. The judges will award prizes for best displays. Tables are to be arranged by Mrs. K. R. Smoot, Mrs. Mont P. Chubb, Mrs. A. M. Belford and Mrs. Donald F. MacPherson. Mrs. Floyd W. Hough and Mrs. Kaemmerling will combine in the decoration of another and a sixth will be planned by Mrs. Theodore G. Depeel and Mrs. Jessie Hill Anderson.

ROTARY ELECTS POLLARD

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, April 26. Martin Pollard was elected president of the local Rotary Club, and on July 1, next, will succeed W. I. Heath as head of the organization. The following were re-elected: E. G. Bayne, secretary; E. J. Wolter, treasurer and Wallace Duguid, sergeant at arms. Heath, C. L. Hunter, Fred Weddington and W. H. Schade are directors for the coming year.

ROTARIANS SELECT OLIN

GLENDALE, April 26. Rene Olin, secretary-treasurer of Kinner Airplane and Motor Corporation, has been elected president of the Rotary Club here, succeeding John T. Gate, business manager of the city schools. Roy L. Kent, president of the American National Bank, was elected treasurer, and Art Hutchinson was re-elected secretary. Roger Bentley, Dr. Henry Friesen and Kenneth Payne were elected directors.

BANDITS INVADE HOME

ALTADENA, April 26. — Two bandits who forced their way into the home of C. E. Oyster of 222 Terrace avenue, last night and robbed him of $100 in travelers' checks and a watch, while his wife and daughter looked on, are being sought by deputy sheriffs today.

PAGEANT LURE CALLS ANEW

Fourth and Fifth Performances of "Ramona" Will Be Given at Hemet Tomorrow and Sunday

HEMET, April 26.—This city promises to be the mecca for another record throng of motor pilgrims tomorrow to attend the third performance of the seventh annual presentation of the Ramona Pageant in the picturesque Ramona Bowl, to judge by advance reservations.

As the attendance at the performances last week exceeded by 2000 any previous opening, the people of this city and San Jacinto are making ready to accommodate a capacity throng tomorrow. The pageant will be repeated Sunday afternoon and on the afternoons of May 4 and 5.

The pageant management has dedicated tomorrow as "Pasadena Day" and a large delegation from that city will make the trip by motor bus and caravan of private motor cars. Schools and colleges from half the cities within a radius of 100 miles of the twin cities in big groups will attend week-end performances of the historical play.

Many art lovers from the colony at Palm Springs are planning to follow the lead of Al Jolson, who last Sunday brought a delegation of prominent thespians to view the pageant.

The drama, interpolated with gorgeous fiesta scenes and musical effects, which presents the thrilling love story of the Indian girl, Ramona, is presented as a community nonprofit spectacle by the people of the twin cities to preserve early California history and tradition.

OXNARD PLANS ROAD FETE

Opening of New Coast Highway to Santa Monica Will be Occasion for Celebration

OXNARD, April 26.—Plans for a two-day celebration in connection with the formal opening of the Oxnard-Santa Monica coast highway in June were announced last night by Eugene H. Agee, president of the Chamber of Commerce, at a directors' meeting.

They call for formal dedication of the Coast highway at the line between Ventura and Los Angeles counties at which B. P. Meek, Director of the State Department of Public Works, will be present. The chamber has received assurance from Sacramento that Gov. Young will be present to officiate, providing the thirty-day bill-signing period is over in time for the ceremonies.

The tentative date for the opening of the highway is June 22, according to long-distance telephone advices received from Sacramento by the chamber today.

It is proposed to erect an archway over the highway at the county line through which the first car, containing the Governor, will pass. Officials of the State Highway Commission, the original committee of twenty-one who drafted the $40,000,000 highway bond issue and other notables will be invited to be present and participate in the celebration.

Following the observance at the county line the visiting dignitaries will return here for additional ceremonies and a barbecue. Invitations for this affair will go out this week together with announcements of the program. It is the intention of the local chamber to invite the co-operation of Santa Monica and other cities in the affair.

MERICAN RYDER CUP TEAM DEFEATS BRITISH

Chicago After Val Picinich

NEW YORK, April 26.—Manager Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers, according to information from a reliable source, has received an offer from Manager McCarthy of the Cubs for Val Picinich, the catcher, who came to the Brooklyns only last week from the Reds in exchange for Pitcher Rube Ehrhardt and Catcher Johnny Gooch.

The fact that McCarthy is now hard pressed for a first string catcher and the additional fact that Robby has two experienced backstops, Hank DeBerry and Butch Henline, in addition to Picinich, sets the stage for a Cub-Dodger trade.

ANGELS DONATE CLASH TO REDS

Krug Hurlers Present Game to Missions, 10-7

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—Fuzzy Hufft knocked in five runs with two home runs and a single. Pitcher Miller of the Angels wild-pitched two runs across the plate, and Pitcher Child of the same team forced two more runs over the plate with bases on balls, so the Missions beat the Angels 10 to 7 today, and made the series all square to date.

It was another long-drawn-out game, and for a while it was a struggle to see if Hufft could bat in more tallies than the Angels could make off Nelson. But when Miller and Child came to the aid of Hufft by presenting the Missions with four runs, Nelson staggered through to victory.

PLENTY OF HOMERS

Five homers were made in the first three innings. Hufft coming close to making as many as Statz, Tolson and Webb combined. Statz and Tolson hit the ball for the circuit in the first inning and Berger scored

Hornsby Hits Triple With Bases Clogged

Chicago Wins Slugging Tilt by 9-to-6 Score

PITTSBURGH, April 26. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby's war club was a big aid to the Chicago Cubs here today in defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9 to 6. Hornsby tripled in the third with three on base, his clean-up smash overcoming a lead piled up by the Buccaneers in the previous inning. Grantham, Pirate outfielder drove a long homer into the right field stands with two on in the eighth.

ROGERS HORNSBY

Six pitchers were used in the contest. Chicago started with Bush and the Pirates with Kremer. The latter was delieved in the third by Brame, who gave way to Petty in the sixth. French finished for Pittsburgh. Bush held the locals hitless from the second to the eighth, but he was weakening in the ninth when Cvengros relieved him.

RABBIT PUNCHES
BY PAUL LOWRY

BLOOMS IN THE NIGHT

ALTHOUGH it may be distressing news to the Coast League moguls it becomes a duty to report that night baseball has made serious inroads on the common or garden variety of daytime baseball.

I have this on the authority of Doc Smith, who is the business manager of the Arlington Night Ball Association, the annual season of which opens on May 15.

For a long time the club owners in the Coast circuits have wondered whether it was golf or something else that was cutting into their attendance. According to Doc Smith it was "something else."

And that "something else" is night baseball, which Doc swears draws as high as 10,000 people at the loop games. That tells the story right there of the 3000 and 4000 daily crowds—sometimes less—that attend the Coast League games.

Doc writes as follows about the situation: "Night baseball has taken a great hold on Southern California. It is a new sport destined to become nation-wide. There are at present hundreds of teams and three major leagues, the National, American and Orange county. The champions of these leagues play off each year for the pennant in the Southern California Night Baseball Association. The season opens May 15. It is the coming sport."

THE BEST GAMBLER

FRANK CHURCHILL gambled with Promoter Jack Doyle. Jack Kearns wouldn't. That explains why the Baby Sal-Tod Morgan junior lightweight championship is made and the Hudkins-Walker middleweight title bout is still hanging high and dry.

Doyle gave both managers the same bait—60 per cent of the gate receipts. That puts it squarely up to the fighters to draw the crowds.

And that's the way all matches should be made. A fighter is only worth what he will draw at the gate. Guaranteeing Mickey Walker $100,000 for a defense of his title is preposterous, even with Ace Hudkins, and the Wildcat is the baby who would have to pull the crowd.

Both matches have been hot around here for weeks—the Hudkins-Walker fight ever since the Wildcat gave Armand Emanuel such a beating and the Sal-Morgan scrap since the little Mexican won by a two-round knockout on the same program that saw Morgan beat down the championship aspirations of Santiago Zorilla.

A MEXICAN HERO

SAL is the first Mexican to get a crack at a title since Joe Rivers was turned back by Ad Wolgast in the famous double knockout at Vernon seventeen years ago.

He bids fair to outrank Rivers and also that later-day favorite, Bert Colima.

Little Mexico is wild about the possibility of Sal beating Morgan.

And while boxing experts like to string with the boxer there is enough of the scientific, coupled with his terrific punching ability, about Sal to make him extremely dangerous.

Morgan is not a puncher, and Sal can therefore risk his blows for a chance to deliver one of his celebrated six-inch punches. Sal has never missed with one of those punches. Once his right connects there is only one place that an opponent lands—on the floor.

And even when he was on the verge of being knocked out by Joey Sangor and Dr. Mace was clambering into the ring to stop the bout Sal

Pennsylvania Star Takes Relay Crown as Nurmi Runs to New American Two-Mile Mark

FRANKLIN FIELD, Philadelphia, April 26. (AP)—Barney Berlinger, Pennsylvania's all-around star, won the intercollegiate decathlon championship today with a performance that broke the Penn relay carnival record. Tom Churchill of Oklahoma, finished second in a field of nine starters.

Berlinger's point total was 7298.978. This surpassed the former carnival record of 7236.5575 made in 1927 by Vernon Kennedy, Missouri star, but fell short of the American and world's marks Churchill's total was 7163.928.

PAAVO NURMI

The young Penn star's victory was the outstanding achievement of the opening day of the two-day relay carnival, which saw Paavo Nurmi break the American outdoor mark for two miles in 9:15 2-5 and major college relay victories go to Ohio State, Pennsylvania and New York University.

The remaining order of finishers in the decathlon:

Fourth — Clarion Coash, Georgetown, 6386.901.

Fifth — Everett Utterback, Pittsburgh, 6302.211.

Sixth — George Wilczewski, Boston College, 6200.719.

Seventh — Walter Gunby, Dickinson, 6029.173.

Eighth — Aleden Holsinger, Juanita College, 5384.661.

Ninth — C. H. Cramer, Gettysburg, 4446.933.

Running on a track slowed up considerably by heavy rains, old man Nurmi gave the crowd of 25,000 a fine exhibition all by himself as he romped away from six little-known rivals, but the famous Finn fell far short in his attempt to touch the world's outdoor record of 9:01 2-5, held by Edvin Wide of Sweden.

Kennedy Wins Over Owens in Hollywood Go

Les Kennedy, hard-hitting heavyweight from Wilmington, was too big and too tough for Ernie Owens in the main event at Hollywood last night. After Owens had won the first three rounds, Les began to open up. The fourth round was even, but Kennedy took the remaining six and the decision easily. Owens was outweighed sixteen pounds, Kennedy weighing in at 192, while Owens tipped the Fairbanks at 176.

Carmen Tuzzolino and Herman Bundren, a couple of string-bean middleweights, battled to a draw in the semi-wind-up. The boys tried hard but just didn't have the stuff.

The six-round special event was a thriller with Joe Piminthal knocking out Herb Turchi in the last

Hundred Athletes to Run in Fresno Relays

Trojans to Battle Stanford for Meet Laurels

Borah to Run Seven Races for S.C. Cohorts

BY BRAVEN DYER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

FRESNO, April 26.—Citizens of this thriving community are all atwitter tonight in anticipation of the third annual west coast relays slated for tomorrow. The meet actually got under way this afternoon with a number of high-school races, but the real fireworks are slated to begin popping at 10 a.m. tomorrow when heats will be held in most Class A events, featuring many of the greatest track-and-field athletes in these United States.

CHARLIE BORAH

Fresno taxpayers and other interested folk from surrounding towns are expecting to see a couple of world's records go by the boards when athletes representing U.S.C., Stanford, California, U.C.L.A., the Olympic Club of San Francisco and the Los Angeles Athletic Club start doing their stuff tomorrow.

Local fans witnessed the setting of two new marks last year, plus the tying of another, consequently they will not be easily satisfied on the morrow.

Their curiosity was partially satisfied today when Morely Drury, former U.S.C. gridiron star, ascended the throne as king of the raisin festival. Drury went over with a bang and in addition suffered the terrible hardship of having to spend most of the day in the company of Miss Genelle Green, a Porterville miss of much pulchritude, who holds down the job as queen of the fiesta while Morley reigns as king.

Miss Green will probably get a movie contract on the strength of her appearances here while Drury—well, there's no telling what he'll be doing next.

There is a possibility that new world's records will be hung up in the pole vault, shot put, discus, javelin and high jump. Of course, it is unlikely that new marks will be created in all these events, but when you run down the list of names in the various events and then recall what these chaps have been doing this spring you'll have to admit that something may happen.

The pole vault features Jack Williams of Southern California and Ward Edmonds of Stanford. Last year Lee Barnes of the Trojans did 14ft. 1½in. for a new world record but didn't get credit for the leap because there was supposed to be something wrong with one of the pegs that held up the cross-bar. Williams did 13ft. 10in. against Stanford this spring and is confident that he will go higher tomorrow.

Edmonds is probably as great a competitive athlete as there is in the country today and freed from the necessity of running the hurdle races tomorrow he may force Williams to do 14ft. 4in. to win.

Next in line is the discus where Eric Krenz, Stanford's captain-elect, will vie with whoever cares to take him on, whether Bud Houser is going to compete remains to be seen. If he does the duel should be a corker. Krenz did 163 ft. this spring but suffered a sprained back and fell away to a mere 156ft. against the Trojans. Perhaps if he broke his back he would do 175ft. Jim Corson of the Olympic Club is here to egg Krenz on so there will be plenty of excitement, if less drama, regardless of whether Houser appears or not.

Jimmy Demers of the Los Angeles Athletic Club is a dangerous man with the javelin, he did 220ft. recently for a new American record and may bust the existing world record of

CANZONERI WINNER IN ONE-SIDED RING SCRAP

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Tony Canzoneri, bull-chested Italian boy who once held the featherweight championship, soundly trounced Sammy Dorfmann, New York rival, in an interesting ten-round feature match tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Canzoneri toyed with the clever Ghetto boy, winning every round and the decision with debonair ease. Tony dropped Dorfmann for a count of nine with a right to the chin, the first punch of the opening round. He knocked Sammy down again with a left hook to the head just before the round ended. There were no other knockdowns, although Dorfmann at one time or another was rubber legged in every round thereafter.

The bout was fast although one-sided and kept a crowd of 8800 highly interested.

Earle Mastro, Chicago bantamweight made an impressive debut in the Garden, by scoring a technical knockout over Terry Roth of New York in the eighth round of a ten-round bout. Mastro battered his man at will in every round and had Roth on the verge of a knockout when the referee halted the match after two minutes and eighteen seconds of the eighth.

Fidel Signs for Ring Go

NEW YORK, April 26.—Fit and a few pounds heavier than when he used to fight here as a flyweight, Fidel La Barba, the bantamweight, arrived in town today from Los Angeles with his bride, and George Blake, his pugilistic guardian. La Barba and his manager made their first stop at the office of the New York Coliseum, where Matchmaker Jess McMahon signed the former flyweight champion to fight Kid Chocolate on May 21. McMahon announced that all parties concerned would attend the meeting of the State Athletic Commission next Tuesday with a view of getting a championship label for the bout.

JARK BETTERS HOUSER'S MARK

New Discus Record Made as Drake Relays Open

DES MOINES (Iowa) April 26. (AP)—A strapping 200-pounder named Carl Jark, wearing the colors of the United States Military Academy, came back to the corn belt today to set a new world's discus record of 158ft. 3in. in the preliminaries of the Drake relay carnival.

Jark, whose home is Beatrice, Neb., beat the former world's record, established by Clarence (Bud) Houser of the University of Southern California in 1926, by one inch and a quarter. The blonde cadet who is 6ft. 4½in. tall, made his record toss in his first attempt. His best previous effort was 142ft. 8in. made a year ago.

Finals will bring together a record field of more than 2500

Southern California Prep Track and Field Teams Clash Today in Championship Meet

THREE SCHOOLS FAVORED FOR TITULAR HONORS

San Diego, Santa Ana, L.A. High on Par; Jefferson, Hollywood Loom as Dark Horses

More than 200 prep athletes will participate this afternoon in the Southern California track-and-field championship meet, which is scheduled for the Coliseum. Festivities will start at 1:30 and if everything goes according to schedule the entire affair will be finished by 4:30. Finals in three divisions, Class A, Class B and Class C, will be run off.

Interest for the most part centers in the Class A, or varsity section. Any one of three schools is liable to walk off with the title. L. A. High, the defending champion, has the largest squad entered, nine Romans qualifying last week in the preliminaries. The other two with title possibilities are Santa Ana and San Diego.

ALVA REBOIN

The nine Romans competing this afternoon are Wiley in the 220; Red Houck and Bob Reed in the quarter; Dave Foore in the half; Johnson and Crawford in the broad jump; Reves Limeburner in the pole vault; Campbell in the shot and Dick Lessly in the shot and discus.

San Diego will have seven men and a relay team competing. Jimmy Willson, diminutive sprinter, heads the list, with Capt. Bill Miller, holder of the world's prep pole-vault mark, next in line. The other Hilltoppers in the meet are: Fernando Ortiz in the low hurdles, Irvine Warburton in the quarter; Ed Reed in the high jump; Ray Russel in the discus, and Evan Dowers in the mile.

Santa Ana's hopes rest on Alva Reboin in both hurdles and the pole vault; Paul in the broad jump, shot and low hurdles; Cone in the half-mile and Donohue in the mile.

Heading the list of dark horses is Jimmy Purcell's Jefferson High team. The Democrats have but three men and a relay team competing, but may run off with first place in very event entered. Verne Jordan will compete in both sprints, Carmichael is slated to gallop in the century and the quarter, while Parker will take part in the high hurdles.

Hollywood is another possible surprise winner. The Foothillers have Oswald in the 220, Rogers in the quarter, Obergfall and Priester in the half-mile, Smith in the mile, Miller in both hurdles and Ruby in the broad jump, besides a very strong relay team.

BERLINGER IS RELAY WINNER

and Nurmi himself, who was clocked in 1925 in 8:59 1-5 for the distance, the best ever made, indoors or out.

Nurmi, setting his own pace all the way with an eye on his stopwatch, nearly lapped his running mates, finishing 400 yards ahead of T. C. Ottey of the Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia.

Berlinger, after tying for second place in the 100-meters, finished third in the broad jump, first in the shot put and high jump, two of his specialties, and then fifth in the 400 meters.

Utterback, relying largely on speed, finished second in the high jump in addition to scoring victories in the 100 meters, 400 meters and broad jump. The shot put, in which he finished eighth, cut down the negro's score. He lost nearly 250 points to Berlinger in this event alone.

DECATHLON SUMMARIES

100-meter dash — Everett Utterback (Pittsburgh), 11.4s.; Barney Berlinger (Pennsylvania) and Clarion Coch (Georgetown), each 11.6s.; Tom Churchill (Oklahoma) and Robert L. Todd (Indiana), each 11.7s.; George Wilcesewski (Boston College), 11.8s.; Walter Gunby, (Dickinson) and C. H. Cramer (Gettysburg), each 11.9s.; Alden Holsinger (Juniata), 12.2s.

Broad jump—Utterback, 23ft. 5¾in.; Todd, 21ft. 8¾in.; Berlinger, 21ft. 5¼in.; Churchill, 21ft. 3¼in.; Cosh, 20ft. 2¾in.; Gunby, 19ft. 10¾in.; Holsinger, 19ft. 2¼in.; Wilcesewski, 19ft. ¾in.; Cramer, 18ft. 4½in.

Pole vault—Berlinger and Todd, each 12ft.; Churchill, 11ft. 6in.; Cosh, 11ft.; Utterback, 10ft. 6in.; Holsinger, 10ft.; Wilcesewski, and Holsinger, 9ft. 6in. each; Cramer dropped out.

110-meter hurdles — Todd, 16.6s.; Churchill, 16.7s.; Wilcesewski, 16.8s.; Berlinger, 16.9s.; Holsinger, 17.2s.; Utterback, 17.4s.; Gunby, 18.1s.; Cramer, 18.4s.; Cosh, 19s.

Discus throw — Churchill, 125ft. 2in.; Berlinger, 120ft. 10in.; Wilcesewski, 116ft. 11¼in.; Cramer, 116ft. 4in.; Todd, 106ft. 10in.; Holsinger, 106ft. 10in.; Gunby, 103ft. 9in.; Cosh, 92ft. 4in.; Utterback, 91in.

Javelin throw—Berlinger, 170ft. 10in.; Gunby, 166ft. 6in.; Churchill, 150ft.; Cosh, 149ft. 2in.; Todd, 146ft. 2in.; Wilcesewski, 140ft. 2in.; Cramer, 131ft. 3in.; Utterback, 102ft. 6in.; Holsinger fouled all three.

1500-meter run — Cosh, 4m. 30 3-5s.; Churchill, 4m. 43 4-5s.; Wilcesewski, 4m. 45 2-5s.; Utterback, 4m. 49s.; Gunby and Holsinger, 5m. 11s. each; Todd, 5m. 22 3-5s.; Berlinger, 5m. 35 1-5s.

Other events run off today were:

Two-mile invitation run — Won by Paavo Nurmi, Finland; second, Ottey, Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia; third, Davidson, Muhlenberg College; fourth, Clark, Meadowbrook Club. Time, 9.15 2-5s. (New American record; former mark of 9:17 4-5s, made by T. S. Berna in 1912.)

400-meter hurdles, special — Won by Kjellstrom, Georgetown; second, Piper, Army; third, Westall, Army; fourth, Heiberg, N.Y.U. Time, 56s.

Running hop, step and jump special — Won by Green, Army, 47ft. 2¾in.; second, Furth, N.Y.U., 46ft. 2¼in.; third, Bernstein, 44ft. 4½in.

Middle Atlantic States collegiate A.A. one-mile relay championship — Won by New York University (Myers, Walmsley, Veit and Edwards); second, Lehigh; third, Penn. Time, 3m. 24 3-5s.

220-yard high hurdles (special)—Won by Filippin, University of Virginia; second, McCoy, Pennsylvania; third, Rockaway, Duke State; fourth, Crooks, Ohio State. Time, 25 2-10s.

One-quarter-mile college relay championship (decided on time of heats)—Won by Ohio State (Kries, Strothers, Rockaway and Simpson); second, Pennsylvania; third, Syracuse; fourth, Georgetown. Time, 42 2-10s.

Distance college medley relay—championship (first man quarter-mile; second, half-mile; third, three-quarters, and last man one mile)—Won by Pennsylvania (Baxter, Pearson, Ritchie and Montgomery); second, Harvard; third, New York University; fourth, Columbia. Time, 10m. 30 3-5s.

LOCAL RUNNERS PERFORM TODAY

approximately 228ft., if properly aroused tomorrow.

Imagine the situation which confronts officials in the trials tomorrow morning. There will be eight javelin throwers who have bettered 220ft. They are Demers, Harlow, Hoover and Eaton of the L.A.A.C. Churchill and Curtice of California, and Kibby and Sparling of Stanford, only six can qualify for the finals which means that nobody had better get careless and drop below 200 feet.

SHOTPUT ATTRACTS

The shotput will no doubt attract considerable attention due to the strenuous activities of Herman Brix in the L.A.A.C. and Harlow Rothert of Stanford. Brix placed second to John Kuck in the Olympic Games, while Rothert is the intercollegiate titleholder. It may take a put of 52ft. to win tomorrow. Kuck's world record is less than one inch better than 52ft. Kuck broke Ralph Rose's mark here last year doing 51ft. 11 1-2in. and then cracked that all out of shape in the Olympic.

When Bob King and Hank Coggeshall get floating over the cross bar in the high jump they may go right out of sight. A high-school boy did 6ft. 4 1-4in. here today, which will make King and Coggeshall feel like a couple of chumps unless they add three or four inches to that mark.

The 100-yard dash has the good people of Fresno all stirred up. They remember Borah's splendid performance last year when he ran 9 3-5s., and expect to see another such race tomorrow. Borah looks like the class of the field, but the rapid improvement of Hector Dyer, Stanford star, who lost to Charley by inches a month ago, presages an interesting and pulsating duel tomorrow. Frank Wykoff of Glendale, is here to run in the Class B century.

Some idea of the class of tomorrow's meet is gained by reading the entry list. Eleven members of last year's Olympic Games team will perform. They are Borah, Brix, Nick Carter, Jim Corson, Harlow, Houser, King, Krenz, Bob Maxwell, Rothert and Wykoff. Fresno is flag bedecked this evening. The spirit of fiesta is in the air. All is excitement and consequently, this writer can send no more.

LOCAL ATHLETES JAUNT NORTH

Carrying more than 100 local track and field athletes to Fresno, where they will battle for honors today in the annual Raisin Day relays, a Southern Pacific special train left last night, and hopes to return tomorrow with bearing not only the runners, but the championship cup, as it did last year.

Among those prominently present were twenty-nine Trojan varsity performers, who are defending their title, won last season. There were also seven frosh, and one yearling who will compete unattached. The L.A.A.C. was represented by nineteen runners, while sixteen made up the U.C.L.A. Bruin party. The remaining runners were gathered from the various junior colleges in the neighboring cities.

MERCURIES STRONG

The L.A.A.C. squad is made up of Schultz, Darling, Maxwell and Clayes or Bradley in the sprint relays; Nierabach, Burton, Clum and Carter in the two-mile relay; Nierabach, Pomeroy, Gartner and Carter in the mile relay; Schuls and Clayes in the open 100; Pomeroy and Leistner in the hurdles; Brix in the shot put; Walker in the broad jump and Keefer in the high jump. Pomeroy will leave via airplane this morning for the meet. But Houser was unable to accompany the team because of pressing business duties.

PREP JUMPER BREAKS RECORD

FRESNO, April 26. (AP)—Phenomenal records were the order when 200 prep athletes met here today in the Class C events of the west coast relays. Walter Marty, sensational Fresno High School high jumper, established a new world's interscholastic record when he cleared 6ft. 4¼in. Marty tried for 6ft. 5in. after his record leap, but missed. The former mark of 6ft. 3⅝in. had withstood assaults since 1912.

Fresno High and Tulare tied for high honors with 23 points; Porterville was third with 15 and Visalia, fourth, with 11 points.

The summary:

Class C—(High schools and preparatory schools:)

100-yard dash—Won by Maas (Fresno High); second, Trach (Bakersfield); third, Harmon (Tulare); fourth, Porter (Porterville). Time, 9.9 4-5.

Medley relay—Won by Visalia (Roeben, Goodreau, Welch, Mosentin.) Second, Reedley; third, Tulare; fourth, Porterville. Time, 3:37.4.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Denham (Hanford); second, Powers, (Woodland); third, Roeben (Visalia) fourth Sheianian (Tulare). Time, 15 3-5.

880-yard relay—Won by Porterville, (Porter, Sickles, Land, Mulder); second, Tulare; third, Fresno; fourth, Coalinga. Time, 1:32.2.

Pole vault—Won by Talbot (Tulare); second, Fowler (Selma;) Mayberry (Coalinga,) and Brovelli (Porterville,) tied for third. Height, 10½in.

Javelin throw—Won by Nisander (Fresno High;) second Powers (Woodland;) third, Griswald (Hanford;) fourth, Starr (Hanford.) Distance, 139ft. 11in.

High jump—Won by Marty (Fresno High;) second, Donahton (Roosevelt;) Van Osdel (Bakersfield) and Cuen (Bakersfield,) tied for third. Height, 6ft. 4¼in.

12-pound shot put—Won by Winn (Taft;) second, Dunn (Fresno High;) third, Gribi (Hanford;) fourth Brovelli (Porterville.) Distance, 46ft. 4¾in.

Discus—Won by Stephens (Woodland;) second, Winn (Taft;) third, Lady (Merced;) fourth, Dunn (Fresno High.) Distance, 140ft.

Broad jump—Won by Sheianian (Tulare;) second, Hirata (Parlier;) third, Land (Porterville;) fourth, Wilson (Riverdale.) Distance, 22ft. 1 5-8in.

UPSETS MARK OJAI TOURNEY

Alan Herrington Defeated by Jack DeLara

Stratford to Meet Herd for Men's Crown Today

Gorchakoff, Gledhill Clash in College Singles

OJAI (Cal.) April 26. (Exclusive) Upsets were plentiful in the second day's play of the thirty-fourth annual Ojai all-California tennis championships here today. The biggest surprise was the defeat of Alan Herrington, seeded second in the men's singles, by Jack De Lara University of Southern California freshmen star, 7-5, 6-3, in the quarter-final round.

De Lara played rings around the former Stanford star who is a joint holder of the national intercollegiate doubles title, and hardly gave his redshirt foe a chance to get on to his game. Continually De Lara pounded Herrington's backhand and dashed for the barrier where his volleys proved too accurate and speedy for Herrington. De Lara met his match later in the afternoon, however, and was beaten by Clifton Herd of Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-4, the victory advancing Herd to the finals.

Gerald Stratford of San Francisco, winner of the singles in 1927, gained the upper final bracket. He eliminated Sidney Wood of Pasadena, in the semifinals, 6-3, 6-0, while previously he conquered Ellsworth Vines, another Pasadena star, 6-0, 6-2 in a quarter-final tilt. Stratford meets Herd for the invitational men's crown tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Midge Gladman of Santa Monica, singles favorite in the women's division, and seeded first was the only singles finalist in her event yesterday following her defeat of Gladys Patz of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-2. Miss Gladman encounters the winner of the Marion Williams and Mrs. Bartosh contest which will be staged early tomorrow morning. Mrs. Bartosh gained the semis by defeating Mrs. Stratford of San Francisco, 5-7, 9-7, 6-3, while Miss Williams eliminated Dorothy Workman of El Monte, 6-1, 6-1.

In the intercollegiate doubles, the second big upset of the day was scored by a Santa Barbara team when Keith Gledhill and Gerry Koke downed the Stanford duo composed of Johnny Doeg and Larry Driscoll, 9-7, 6-1, in the semifinals. Gledhill and Koke cross rackets with Ben Gorchakoff and Arthur Kussman in the finals of this event tomorrow, the latter team, of Occidental, trimmed Pomona's combination of Levan Zerb and Lee Mills, 7-5, 6-4. The third upset occurred in the college singles where Frank Gove, Occidental, seeded fourth, was beaten in the first round by Ray Swain, of U.S.C., 6-1, 2-6, 10-8.

The fourth and final upset of the day was the victory of Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, over Evelyn Parsons of Palo Alto, in the quarter-finals of the younger girls' singles division. Miss Babcock won after three sets of 6-4, 2-6, 6-2.

One of tomorrow's biggest singles features will be the meeting of Keith Gledhill of Santa Barbara, and Ben Gorchakoff of Occidental. The tilt is a semifinal match in the intercollegiate singles. Gledhill has been rated second in the State following his sensational play in the north during the past summer, while Gorchakoff has won the Ojai collegiate singles for the past three years, and twice has been the national intercollegiate singles finalist in the East.

The summary:

Men's singles, quarterfinals—Stratford defeated Vines, 6-0, 6-2; Wood defeated Robbins, 6-0, 6-3; De Lara defeated Herrington, 7-5, 6-3; Herd defeated Neer, 6-4, 4-6, 10-8. Semifinals—Stratford defeated Wood, 6-3, 6-0; Herd defeated De Lara, 6-2, 6-4.

Men's doubles—Second round, Herrington and Neer defeated Blapord and Gamble, 6-2, 6-1; Barker and Berry defeated Stuart and Chaffee, 6-0, 6-4; Coughlin and Herd defeated Charpoth and Jeaks, 6-2, 6-2; Young and Hinckley defeated Butler and Sinsabaugh, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1; Robbins and Lewis defeated Mathies and Moore, 6-0, 6-2; Warren and Wood defeated Braig and Stevens, 6-2, 6-4; Steefen and Gledhill defeated S. and L. Patterson, 6-1, 6-2.

Women's singles, quarterfinals—Gladman defeated Robbins, 6-0, 6-0; Patz defeated Taylor, 6-1, 6-2; Williams defeated Workman, 6-1, 6-1; Bartosh defeated Stratford, 6-4, 6-4. Semifinals—Gladman defeated Patz, 6-2, 6-2. Mixed doubles—Second round, Marlowe and Vines defeated Jenks and Bendell, 6-0; Mr. and Mrs. Bartosh defeated D. Doeg and Charnock, 2-6, 7-5, 6-1; Mr. and Mrs. Stratford defeated Mr. and Mrs. Keich, 6-1, 6-4; Reed and E. Doeg defeated Gorham and Stewart, 6-4, 6-4; Sinsabaugh and Gladman defeated Rammelli and Chaffee, 6-4, 6-4; Williams and Young defeated Mr. and Mrs. Lusse, 6-0, 6-0.

Borg Visitor in Southland

Fresh from new victories over Hawaii's best swimmers, Arne Borg, Sweden's Olympic champion and holder of numerous world's records for distance swimming events, arrived from the islands yesterday aboard the Lassco liner City of Honolulu.

"The Terrible Swede" is touring the world, accompanied by Mrs. Borg, and is writing a book on his experiences, "Swimming Around the World." He will remain in Southern California for several days before continuing to San Francisco and the East.

Borg closed his aquatic invasion of Hawaii just before sailing last week by establishing a new world's record for 1000 meters, of thirteen minutes and three-fifths of a second, in which he defeated "Buster" Crabbe, of Honolulu, by fifteen yards. In this farewell race he broke his old mark for 1000 meters, established in Oslo, Sweden, in 1925, by three and four-fifths seconds.

Borg will make several appearances in local meets, the first being one at the Los Angeles Athletic Club next Friday night. At that time he will attempt to break one of his world records. Fred Cady of the L.A.A.C. plans to have Borg swim a picked relay team of local stars over the 1000-meter or 1500-meter course, figuring to give Borg more and heartier competition.

Some of Borg's world records are as follows: 300 meters, 3m. 33.5s.; 400 meters, 4m. 50.3s.; 500 yards, 5m. 31.4s.; 500 meters, 6m. 8.4s.; 1000 yards, 12m. 16.8s.; 1500 meters, 19m. 7.2s.; one mile, 21m. 41.3s.

AMERICAN GOLFERS WIN

John Golden and Ed Dudley, who played today.

All day long the American and British players in pairs alternated shots over the Yorkshire moors in fair and foul weather.

A gallery, estimated at 10,000, which often was entirely out of control of the 200 officials and fifty uniformed policemen, fairly fought to get a close-up of the play. For the most part it was golf worth fighting to see.

Only one match was a runaway. In their morning round, Leo Diegel and Al Espinosa played an inspired game, having a score of 66 for the first eighteen holes and sending Capt. George Duncan and Aubrey Boomer to luncheon seven down, with practically no hope of wiping out such a huge advantage. In the afternoon the end came at the thirty-first hole, giving the Americans a top-heavy victory, 7 up and 5 to play.

Abe Mitchell and Fred Robson returned the lone British victory winning from Gene Sarazen and Ed Dudley, 2 up and 1 to play.

Johnny Farrell and Joe Turnesa finished all square with Charles Whitcombe and Archie Compston, thanks to a marvelous shot by the American open champion to level the match at the home hole. Walter Hagen and John Golden defeated Ernest Whitcombe and Henry Cotton in the last foursome to start, 2 up.

The day's play started under almost ideal weather conditions with the sun shining, a mild temperature and scarcely a breeze blowing. These conditions continued throughout the morning but just as the second rounds started, as if to help the British players who are accustomed to playing under stormy conditions, the weather gave the Americans a taste of its worst. The temperature dropped, a wind sprang from the north and rain swept across the course with a threat of snow and sleet such as the visitors encountered in practice for the international contests.

To Johnny Farrell goes the credit for the most sensational shot of the day, his last shot to the last green of a bitterly fought match. It was a shot that will live long in golfing history. A sixty-yard niblick pitch from an extremely difficult lie right over a corner of a refreshment tent and through the narrowest of lanes of spectators crowded about the green.

MATCH SAVED

The ball sailed true for the pin as if aimed from a gun, bounded on the green, hit the pin and stopped six feet from the hole. Until that shot Compston and Whitcombe, who played great golf all day, seemed to have a certain victory in their hands. They were dormie at the thirty-fifth hole and Farrell's sensational coup at the home hole saved the match and the day for the Americans.

Nearly half an hour was required to play the final hole of the match as the crowds became almost unmanageable in their intense desire to see the finish. Fairways for the drives were cleared with difficulty. Whitcombe, whose steadiness coupled with Compston's brilliance made a formidable pair of opponents for the young Americans, for once made an error from the tee. His drive landed in bushes, 200 yards from the green. The ball was unplayable, but under local rules it was lifted with a loss of a stroke and Compston had a clear shot for the green.

Turnesa playing second from short rough pulled his shot almost out of bounds, completely off the line and not only behind crowds encircling the green, but behind a refreshment tent as well. It was under these circumstances that Farrell made the shot enabling him to enjoy the tribute of the English golfing gallery. The crowd roared applause as the ball hit the pin. The American open champion was forced to take a bow from the green and the modesty and genuine quality of his smile as he did so aroused another and even greater outburst.

Compston, playing three, sent the British ball into a bunker. Whitcombe chipped it out, but ran it off the green. Compston had another chip and with the Americans having two left for a win, their opponents surrendered. Farrell previously had dropped a putt of twenty-two feet, but he missed one from eighteen inches.

This match was never more than two holes one way or the other. The Americans did not win a hole until the seventh and turned 1 down, but three 3s, two of them birdies, helped and they finished the first round 1 up. At the twenty-seventh the match was all square.

SCORE REVERSED

The Americans had a morning round of 70 to 71 for the British team and in the afternoon the score was reversed with one hole played after Compston's second shot from a bunker fouled the American ball, resulting in the referee's awarding the hole to the Americans. Compston's ball was close to that of his opponents in the bunker and he could have required the referee to lift it temporarily, but he made his shot and moved the other ball.

With the first foursome halved and Duncan and his partner defeated far from the clubhouse, the galleries sought the remaining matches. Sarazen and Dudley played good golf with approximate rounds of 76 in the morning and 71 in the afternoon against a British score of 74 in the morning and 69 in the afternoon. These few additional American strokes tell the story of the British victory. Mitchell and Robson, with their vast store of golf craft, were able to take full advantage of the slightest slip on fairway or green.

Behind them came Hagen and Golden opposing Ernest Whitcombe and Cotton. The American captain was unperturbed as the 10,000 spectators converged on this match as the others were out of the way. The Americans were 1 up at the ninth, 2 up at the eighteenth, 1 up at the twenty-seventh.

The thirty-third hole was the critical stage. Whitcombe's second was bunkered. Young Cotton extricated the British ball in a masterful manner and left Whitcombe a yard from the hole, but he missed, sending the Americans 1 up.

The match was squared again at the thirty-fourth when Hagen missed a four-foot putt, but he made up for it by sinking a 12-footer at the thirty-fifth hole for a birdie 3, making the Americans dormie. The Americans scored a par 4 at the home hole to 5 for the British, making the final margin of victory 2 up.

DUNCAN UNNERVED

It was a bitter disappointment for Duncan to trail. The British captain has instilled a new competitive spirit among his men, but the round of 74 which he and Boomer played was not good enough to save them from a rout by Diegel and Espinosa, shooting 66.

Duncan also was disturbed because one of his drives struck a girl on the head and slightly injured her. With galleries crowding the fairways all day, the players had to drive down lanes no wider than streets. Probably 100 shots during the day landed in the crowds, particularly in the afternoon with the wind rendering control difficult.

shot over his short right. It landed with a crash on Joey's chin, and the Milwaukeean hit the floor.

Knock out or get knocked out seems to be Sal's creed. It was that of Joe Rivers in the old days.

And as long as the Morgan record is shy of knockouts the Sal supporters are winking knowingly.

Backswings of Stars Differ

BY SOL METZGER

Stars differ in methods. Remember Abe Mitchell's scheme for starting the backswing, a lateral hip slide to the right and then a dragging back of the clubhead with a

Barnes starts his backswing by pushing from the left shoulder, the center of the radius of the arc of the swing. A push back with a straight left arm, it is, with the elbow and wrist held firm. What a whale of a difference between these two fine drivers, both bred on British links, both influencing American golfing methods.

The important point in starting the backswing, according to "Long Jim," is to take the club back low and straight from the ball. Push it so that it moves away from the ball through the tops of the blades of grass, is the idea. And let the straight left arm do the whole job. If you don't then you'll have something to worry about, as will be shown in Monday's article.

A few simple but vital points to remember in putting will keep your score down. Write Sol Metzger, care of this paper, and get his leaflet on "Putting," which is free. In writing inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

STECHER PLANS SURPRISE

Scissor King Will Switch to Offensive Tactics in Clash With Strangler Lewis

An aggressive style of wrestling, in place of his old defensive tactics will be employed by Joe Stecher, the Nebraska giant, in his efforts to beat Ed (Strangler) Lewis, the headlock expert, when they meet at the Olympic Wednesday night in a winner-take-all finish match, it was reported.

In his workout at the Main-street Athletic Club yesterday afternoon, the "scissor king" gave the rail birds a thrill when he opened up on two trainers who were on hand to work out with him. He employed more offensive tactics in the hour he was in the ring with them than he had for any of his local matches.

Should Stecher switch from his former style of wrestling mat experts believe he will stand a better chance to dispose of Lewis. The latter, in the opinion of mat veterans, has analyzed Stecher's defensive style of wrestling perfectly, and if the Nebraskan should suddenly switch to the same tactics used by Lewis himself, he will have the headlock exponent off balance most of the match.

Nick Lutze, the young Chicago mat sensation, will clash with Jack O'Malley, a 220-pound flying tackle and flying body scissor exponent, in the special event. Promoter Lou Daro expects to have another pair of heavyweights in the opener.

SOLONS STOPPED

BOSTON, April 26. (AP)—The Red Sox defeated the Washington Senators, 2 to 1, in the eighth inning here today.

The Sox went to bat in the eighth facing a one-run disadvantage, the visitors having scored in the fourth. A double by Reeves, a sacrifice by Todt, a single by Pinch-Hitter Taitt and Rothrock's double to left brought in the two decisive tallies. Until that inning Liska had held the Sox to three hits.

Goslin and Judge hit Russell fiercely but the Senators' one run came in the fourth when Goslin tripled and Myers brought him home on an infield out. Score:

BRAVES COLLECT

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—The Boston Braves opened their season's series at the Polo Grounds today with a 4-to-2 victory over the Giants. The veteran Harry Seibold, athletic fledgling of a decade ago and star of the Reading (International League) team last year, made his debut with Boston. He had the Giants whitewashed until the ninth when Mel Ott hit a home run with Reese on base.

Carl Mays, submarine ball veteran, started his first game for the Giants, and pitched effectively until the fifth. Three singles sent one run home and left two on when George Harper, former Giant, hit into the right-field seats for a home run.

Catches by Terry, Harper and Mueller featured. Travis Jackson, Giant captain and shortstop, was out of the game with a cold, Cohen taking his place. Score:

CARDS CELEBRATE

ST. LOUIS, April 26. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals hoisted their 1928 National League pennant at Sportsman's Park this afternoon and then, celebrating their opening home game, bombarded three Cincinnati hurlers to score a 9-to-2 victory. The champions, led by Frisch, who obtained three hits in four trips to the plate, collected seventeen safe blows, while Jess Haines, in fine form, held the Reds to four hits.

The flag raising was before a crowd of 15,000 cheering fans, after the opening game with attendant ceremonies had twice been postponed in as many days because of rain. There was a parade to the flag pole headed by a band, Mayor Victor J. Miller, President Sam Breadon, and Business Manager Branch Rickey of the Cardinals. Both teams also participated in the ceremonies. Score:

ROBINS WIN OUT

BROOKLYN (N. Y.) April 26. (AP) Lou Koupal's relief work in the box saved another game for Brooklyn here today, but official credit went to Doug McWeeny, who was knocked out in the sixth. The Robins shaded the Phillies by 7 to 6 in the series opener.

Koupal relieved Moss with one out in the seventh and the bases filled. He struck out Whitney and retired Hurst on a pop fly to Bissonnette, and held the Phils safe in the eighth and the ninth.

Ray Benge, starting pitcher for the Phils, was knocked out before he had retired a man. Babe Herman got a single, a double and a home run. Brooklyn executed a triple steal in the fifth, with Flowers sliding safely into the plate.

ANGELS DONATE CLASH TO REDS

along with them because he had drawn a pass.

Hufft got two of those runs back by crashing the ball over the right-field wall, driving in Mulligan ahead of him. A double by Dittmar and a single by Holling gave the Angels their fourth run in the second, and Webb hit for the round trip in the third.

Again Hufft came to the rescue. In the last of the third with Boone on first base by reason of a pass, Fuzzy took a whole-hearted swing and again drove the ball clear out of the lot. Two swings and Fuzzy had driven in four runs. He came up again in the fifth and this time he hit only a single, but he drove in a tally.

FUZZY GETS ASSISTANCE

With Fuzzy showing signs of getting a bit fed up on home runs, Miller and Child, who are listed as pitchers on the Los Angeles roster, came to his aid. Holling was lifted in the seventh with the bases filled and Hufft at bat. Miller fooled Fuzzy by wild pitching a couple of blokes home and then wound up by taking Hufft's easy bounce and getting a runner at the plate.

Miller was in the game only a few minutes but he unloosed three wild pitches, which must be some kind of a record.

Child started pitching in the eighth. A hit by Finn and four passes forced two runners over the plate and finally Gabler went in and got the side out.

Nelson was staggering along and the Angeles picked up a run in the seventh and another in the ninth.

WETZEL STOPS SEALS' RALLY

ceded in arousing the ire of Umps Genshlea. We don't know what Bassler said to get put out of contest, but it must have been quite insulting for Genshlea let Mails get away with a lot of stuff. The Seal southpaw showed up Genshlea before the fans all during the game but the arbiter didn't send Mails to the showers, Genshlea probably figured that the Stars would chase the Seal pitcher in due time, but he erred there, for Mails got better as the game progressed.

The Stars got to Mails for a run in the second, but it was in the nature of a gift from Langford. The Seal centerfielder, after making a nice run to get in front of Carlyle's line drive, let it squirt out of his hands. Carlyle reached second and the benevolent official scorer called it a double. Rehg bunted Cleo to third, from where he scored on Mickey Heath's sacrifice fly to Langford in deep center.

Hollywood picked up another run in the fourth, Mails being the donor of this one, by walking Carlyle to open the round. Rehg's infield out advanced Carlyle to second, but Heath did nothing for the cause, lifting an easy fly to Langford. Rollings, however, punched a single over second and Carlyle legged in home from second. Bassler fanned on the called third strike and started the argument which eventually resulted in his being shagged.

Mails was touched for three hits and two more runs by the Stars in the fifth, Joe Bonowitz driving home the two tallies with a double off the center-field fence. Marty singled to left for a starter and Lee followed with an infield hit off Gus Suhr's bunions. Maloney bunted the boys along and then Bonowitz responded with his double off the center-field bricks. Mails then retired Carlyle and Rehg to put the brakes on the rally.

BASSLER GIVEN GATE

After Maloney had thrown out Mails to open the San Francisco sixth, Bassler said something that proved to be the last verbal straw on Genshlea's back, so the umpire shagged Johnny to the showers. Sypher replaced Bassler behind the bat.

Marty then walked Crosetti. Pinelli skied to Bonowitz, but Suhr proceeded to knock an outside pitch over the left-field fence to account for the Seals' two runs, Jolley followed with a single but was forced by Wingo.

SEALS THREATEN

Langford singled and Caveney walked to open the Seal seventh and things looked bad for Marty. Vitt almost sent in a new pitcher but decided to let Marty stay in after a talk with Joe out on the mound. Reed tried to bunt the runners along but Marty came in fast to get the ball on the fly and whipped a throw to second that doubled Langford. It looked as though Langford beat the throw but Umpire Powell ruled otherwise. At that, the Seals didn't kick any on the decision. Mails slapped a single to center to again put Marty in a tough spot, but Crosetti hit one back to the pitcher and was thrown out at first to kill off the rally.

Marty got in a jam again in the eighth and this time Vitt yanked him for Wetzel, who quickly quelled the Seal uprising. Pinelli popped out to Lee for a starter, but Suhr and Jolley singled. When Wingo worked Marty for a walk that filled the bases, Vitt rushed in Wetzel to the mound. Buzz slipped over a perfect third strike on Langford and then Caveney forced Wingo, Rollings to Maloney, to save the game for Hollywood.

Lorey Baker, batting for Mails, doubled down the first-base line for the opening shot of the Seals' final time at bat, but Wetzel was again equal to the situation, disposing of Pinch-hitters Coleman and Thurston and Crosetti to end the contest. Score:

WELTERWEIGHTS CLASH AT MAIN-STREET CLUB

How much Leo Hernander's sleep-dealing right fist is worth against a really rugged welterweight will be decided tonight when the young Mexican climbs into the ring at the Main-street Athletic Club to meet Bert Samson.

Since turning professional, Hernandez has won twelve straight fights, eleven by knockouts. Samson has knocked out few men but has thirty consecutive wins to his credit, with the victims including Frankie Burns, Happy Romero, Johnny Albin, Tony Bevo and Bert Hubbard.

Ritchie Aguayo and Eddie Bertram, 138-pounders, are tonight's semi-wind-up battlers. Four other bouts are also on the card.

TOD MORGAN PICKS CAMP

Junior Lightweight Champion Will Train at Bastanchury Ranch for Sal Fight

Tod Morgan will train for the Baby Sal Sorio title bout in the same ring which Gaston Bastanchury built for Paolino Uzcudun. This was the announcement of Frank Churchill yesterday.

Churchill will move the ring to Fullerton where an outdoor camp will be opened. The champion will train at least two weeks there. He may come to Los Angeles for the last week of the grind.

Morgan arrived back from Denver yesterday. He came through the Eddie Mack fight last Tuesday night without a mark. Tod said he believed Sal to be the most dangerous challenger of them all because of his hitting.

"I have offers from Benny Bass, Tony Canzoneri, Al Singer, Honeyboy Finnegan, Ray Miller and about a dozen others," said Morgan. "None of them hit like Sal."

Morgan is only a few pounds over the title weight now. With three weeks ahead in which to train the champion expects to spend a lot of time climbing the hills near La Habra as preliminary work.

Sal's plan to open a camp near San Bernardino may be changed. Olympic officials have offered to furnish a camp site at old Vernon, where Jack Doyle's old training quarters used to handle the world's greatest fighters.

It is said Doyle believes Sal should train nearer Los Angeles in order to help the gate. But Sal's mind is on the fight, not the gate, this time. The Mexican receives nothing or less than that for fighting Morgan.

The Olympic has two ten-round bouts, an eight and two fours for next Tuesday. They are Santiago Zorilla vs. Goldie Hess, Jackie Pilkington vs. Pedro Amador, and Lorenzo Sison vs. Huerta Evans on the top.

Sison is due here today from the fleet. He is a Filipino and holds the bantamweight championship of the Navy.

PARAFFINE, INC., IN NEW ACTION

Northern Subsidiary Bought Southern Asbestos

Deal Gives Plant Rubber Full Control of Company

Local Factory to Operate as Separate Concern

Expansion of the holdings of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., in Los Angeles was revealed yesterday with the announcement that the Plant Rubber and Asbestos Works of San Francisco, a subsidiary, had purchased from Sydney L. Plant and his associates all of their stock in the Southern Asbestos and Magnesia Corporation. This gives the Plant Rubber and Asbestos Works, which formerly held a 45 per cent stock interest in the Los Angeles concern, entire control and ownership.

It is understood that the Southern Asbestos and Magnesia Corporation will be continued as a separate unit, manufacturing and jobbing insulating and water-proofing materials and piston rod, valve stem and sheet packing. In addition the corporation will distribute in Southern California all the manufactured products of Plant Rubber and Asbestos Works, which with factories in Redwood City and San Francisco produces—magnesia coverings, Vitex, asbestos coverings, high and low pressure packings, molded rubber goods and other specialities, with annual sales estimated to be in excess of $1,000,000.

The Los Angeles company's manufacturing and sales facilities will be increased. Its present annual volume of sales is estimated at about $200,000. No change in the personnel is expected at present, although it is reported that R. H. Shainwald, son of R. S. Shainwald, president of the Paraffine Companies, Inc., will become president of the Southern Asbestos and Magnesia Corporation.

Sydney L. Plant, who was president and general manager of the Plant Rubber and Asbestos Works prior to its acquisition by the Paraffine Companies, Inc., in September, 1928, is expected to retain a connection with the latter company. Mr. Plant is still a director of the Paraffine subsidiary, which bears his name. He and his associates acquired their interest in the Southern Asbestos and Magnesia Corporation in January, 1928, when the Southern Asbestos and Magnesia Company was reorganized with Mr. Plant as president and the name changed. The authorized capitalization of the company is $100,000 with $50,000 of $100 par value stock issued.

The Paraffine Companies, Inc., which has a plant in Los Angeles, includes among its other Los Angeles holdings the Sunset Paper Mills, the Schumacher Wall Board Corporation and a substantial interest in the Vitrefrax Corporation. It also owns a majority of the stock of the Fibreboard Products, Inc., and a substantial stock interest in the California Ink Company, which have factories in Los Angeles.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—There were further declines in cotton today under continuation of yesterday's selling movement, which apparently was stimulated by easy cables, a favorable view of the weather news and encouraging crop reports from the Southwest. Prices made new low ground for the movement on all positions, with July selling below the 18¾-cent mark.

The general market showed net declines of about 26 to 29 points during the middle of the afternoon.

NET PROFITS OF LIGHTING UTILITY GAIN

Increase of 40 Per Cent for Year Reported by Pacific Corporation

Consolidated net profits of the Pacific Lighting Corporation and subsidiary companies for the twelve months ended March 31, last, reached a total of $6,594,568 after all charges, including taxes, depreciation and dividends on preferred stocks of subsidiaries, which is equivalent, after allowing for preferred dividends of the company, to $5.08 a share on the average amount of common stock outstanding during the period, it was revealed in a statement issued yesterday.

This compares with net profits of $4,635,597 reported earned after all charges for the preceding twelve months' period and represents a gain of $1,958,971, or nearly 40 per cent.

After preferred stock dividends of $590,172 and common stock dividends of $3,681,033 there remained a balance carried to surplus of $2,514,365. This contrasts with $1,960,475 carried to surplus for the former period, which is a gain of $553,889, or more than 27 per cent. Surplus account as of March 31, last, aggregated $8,195,463.80 and depreciation reserve more than $20,300,000.

Gross revenues for the twelve months aggregated $32,014,948, as against $29,272,735 for the preceding year, an increase of $2,742,202, or more than 9 per cent, while operating expenses increased $553,833, or about 4 per cent, to $13,578,075. The net operating profit, after operating expenses and slightly more than $3,000,000 for taxes, amounted to $15,414,401, a gain of more than $2,000,000, or 15 per cent.

Mark Value Off on Reparations Parley Failure

NEW YORK, April 26. (Exclusive) A sensational movement took place in German exchange today but practically all the trading was conducted either on the continent or in London.

Failure of the efforts to bring about a plan for settlement of German reparations was the chief cause of a collapse in the German rate, although other factors entered into the situation.

No beneficial result came from the advance of the German bank rate from 6½ to 7½ per cent although that action was made a basis for some buying, putting the rate up to 23.72½ yesterday. Offerings of marks in London this morning came on a long scale, carrying the market down to 23.59, a new low for the present gold standard currency and a drop of 23 points from yesterday's level.

In this market the mark yielded to 23.92, a loss of 10 points but only a small amount of business was transacted here. Germany bought largely of Dutch exchange putting guilders up 2 points to 40.20.

Tone Quiet on London Market

LONDON, April 26. (Exclusive)—Trading on the stock exchange was quiet, with little business transacted. Columbia Graphaphones were strong on American buying and H. M. V. Gramophone, Ltd., was higher. Tobacco issues and artificial silk securities were steady. Textiles and International Nickel were lower. Dunlops were harder. Oil securities tended to harden. Mining issues were steady but Rio Tinto was dull. Rubbers were steady. Ford Motor, Ltd., held around £3 13-16.

The gilt edge division maintained a steady tone. Home rails were lower, and Argentine rails easier. Foreign securities were quiet with Brazil issues depressed.

The Mortgage Bankers' Association of America is a national organization composed of leading mortgage, title and trust companies. The president of the association is E. E. Murrey, of the American Trust Company, Nashville, Tenn.

AIR GROUPS INTERLOCKING

United Aircraft, Aviation of Americas and Aviation of Delaware Take Significant Step

BY EARLE E. CROWE

As the recent transaction between the United Aircraft and Transport Corporation and the Aviation Corporation of the Americas testifies, the major financial groups in aviation are engaged in a series of adroit maneuvers to effect the right affiliations and checkmate the moves of the opposition. In this instance it appears that the National City Bank group and the combination of Hayden, Stone & Co., Lehman Brothers, and W. A. Harriman & Co. are getting closer together.

By purchasing 50,000 shares of Aviation Corporation of the Americas, which is controlled by the Hayden-Stone, Lehman Brothers and Harriman interests, the United Aircraft indirectly affiliates itself with the recently organized Aviation Corporation of Delaware, a $35,000,000 holding and development company. The latter company was organized by Lehman Brothers and W. A. Harriman & Co.

THREE-WAY ALLIANCE

While the United Aircraft investment in Aviation Corporation of the Americas is not large enough to warrant the forecast of a physical consolidation later of the two companies, there is the suggestion of an interlocking ownership among United Aircraft, Aviation Corporation of the Americas, and Aviation Corporation of Delaware. The only missing link is the disclosure of ownership by the last two named companies of an interest in United Aircraft, and it is perfectly possible that Aviation Corporation of Delaware has done this through the open market.

The interlocking interest, however, between Aviation Corporation of Delaware and Aviation Corporation of the Americas is plain. W. A. Harriman, chairman of the Board of Aviation of Delaware; Graham B. Grosevenor, president; Robert Lehman, chairman of the executive committee, and Sherman M. Fairchild, director, are all members of the board of directors of Aviation Corporation of the Americas.

In two directions this apparent three-way affiliation may become effective. Through the first, the National City Bank, Hayden-Stone, Lehman Brothers and Harriman interests may find it to their mutual benefit to oppose the Curtiss group and their bankers, now one of the outstanding forces in the industry.

HUGE SYSTEM POSSIBLE

Interchange of passenger and express traffic is the other possibility that may result from such an interlocking interest. An alliance of this kind would create the most comprehensive transport system in existence, uniting the facilities of Boeing Airplane and Transport, Pan American Airways, Inc., and Universal Aviation. The first named is controlled by United Aircraft, the second by Aviation of the Americas, and the third is in process of acquisition by Aviation of Delaware.

Boeing lines stretch from San Francisco and Seattle to Chicago, from Seattle to Los Angeles, and are expected to extend into Mexico. Universal Aviation operates from Chicago to the principal Middle West centers, and Pan American Airways operates an international service from Florida points to Cuba, Santa Domingo, Porto Rico, Panama Canal Zone and the Central American republics.

UTILITY FINANCING SCHEDULED SOON

Financing of United Power Gas and Water Corporation, the recently formed holding company whose subsidiaries have combined assets approximating $200,000,000 with annual gross earnings exceeding $22,000,000, will be undertaken shortly. It will consist of two issues, namely 45,000 shares of $3 cumulative preferred stock with common stock purchase privilege, and 10,000 shares of common stock, which will be offered by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc., and associates, to withdraw from these offerings any preferred and common shares.

HAL ROACH PROFITS ON FILMS GAIN

Increase in Twenty-six Week Period to January 26 Set at $37,136

Net profits of the Hal Roach Studio, Inc., accruing from the motion-picture productions released through Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation, amounted to $89,163.06 for the twenty-six weeks ended January 26, last, as compared with $52,026.22 for the corresponding period of last year, an increase of $37,136.84, or more than 71 per cent, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

Prior to September, 1927, productions were released through Pathe, Inc., and earnings from these releases are being applied to the liquidation of the Pathe inventory. Earned surplus carried on the balance sheet of the company as of January 26, last, totaled $249,535.61, representing an increase of $11,463.64 for the period.

Gross earnings accruing from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer releases amounted to $756,299.24 for the twenty-six weeks period, as against $618,167.35 for the corresponding period ended January 26, 1928, a gain of $138,131.89, or more than 22 per cent. Net working capital increased $54,066.46 to $750,077.36, as of January 26. The 8 per cent preferred stock, which is listed on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, had a book value of $67.25 at the close of the period, it was stated.

First of the sound productions of the Roach studios are now ready for release. The new sound stage has been in operation for about four weeks and is equipped with both Movietone and Vitaphone recording devices. All equipment was installed by Victor Talking Machine Company at its own expense, for about $125,000, which is to be repaid by a percentage of the profits of the sound pictures.

Studebaker Earnings Up

NEW YORK, April 26. (Exclusive) Net profits of the Studebaker Corporation for the first quarter ended March 31, last, have been estimated at approximately $4,600,000, or $2.35 a share on 1,893,750 common shares after allowing for prefetred dividends, against $3,979,893, or $2.05 a share on 1,885,000 shares in the first quarter of 1928. The report will be made public next week.

Sales of Studebaker cars except the Erskine line have been progressing encouragingly and indications are that a substantial gain in business and earnings will be had in the current quarter. President Erskine recently estimated that for the first half of this year net should run between $5 and $6 a share on the common. This means that in the second quarter the net will run well in excess of $6,000,000 or $3 a share.

TRADE SLUMP HINTS HEARD

Let-Down in Last Half of Year from Present Satisfactory Level Suggested in Many Quarters

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, April 26.—While business remains at an extremely satisfactory level, many bankers and business leaders are hinting for the first time that possibly in the second half of the year it may "get a little soft." It is known that much financing has been postponed, due to the high price of money. But the drive to expand foreign trade to offset the lessening home demand is on.

The wage situation on the whole is good. And it must be kept good, because of the enormous amount of credit tied up in the installment strfucture. Should a period of unemployment come, weakness would show almost immediately at this point.

The automobile companies were the largest factor in the expansion of foreign trade during the first two months this year. They had an increase of 62 per cent, while exports averaged a 20 per cent increase. And in this connection it is worth noting that the increase in automobile export was not due so much to exports of cars and bodies as of parts for assembly. In the first two months of 1928, automobile parts for assembly exported amounted to $6,861,000. For the first two months of this year they totaled $23,782,000, a gain exceeding 280 per cent.

It looks as though the motor industry, knowing as it does from first hand the threat of tariff retaliation in Europe and Canada, has decided to do a larger and larger part of its manufacturing abroad. Such a move on the part of American manufacturers in the old days was looked upon with anything but enthusiasm, on the ground that it might increase unemployment in the United States. Today business men believe that increasing the purchasing power of other countries helps to maintain American prosperity.

W. E. Yeomans, acting manager of the industrial bureau of the Merchants' Association, warns business that it cannot prosper under the costly handicap of frequent turnover in personnel.

Big industrial plants meet this problem by the establishment of employment and personnel departments. But the small manufacturer has not been able to do this, and his labor turnover has been much higher in proportion than the turnover of the larger manufacturing units.

"Replacement of an experienced worker involves an expense ranging from $50 to $300, depending upon the particular line of work involved and the amount of skill necessary to perform the task," Mr. Yeomans says.

He suggests that the selection of proper workers in the first place can be partly assured if the executive co-operates with an executive training school instructor, or consults a competent placement executive.

The United States Department of Commerce issues weekly a little bulletin which summarizes business conditions for the preceding week and compares that week in two ways—with the week before and with the same period for 1928.

In the week ending the 20th inst., check transactions showed a gain over both the previous week and the same period last year. The steel plants showed no change from the preceding week, but were much more active than a year ago.

Those interesetd in petroleum will be interested in knowing that this product, during the latest reported week, showed a decline from the preceding week, though it was higher than for the same period of 1928.

Bituminous coal showed gains in both cases, as did lumber production. The distribution of goods, indicated by freight-car loadings, was greater than a year ago.

One significant thing is wholesale prices. They receded again during the week, so they were lower than the previous week and lower than during the same period a year ago.

Iron and steel prices showed no change from the preceding week, but were 4 per cent higher than a year ago. Cotton prices were lower than the preceding week, and also lower than a year ago. Copper prices, which showed no change during the week, were considerably higher than a year ago.

Loans and discounts at the Federal Reserve member banks went down for the preceding week, but were higher than a year ago. Interest rates on call loans and time funds were lower than in the preceding week, but, of course, higher than in the same period a year ago. Bond prices showed a rise over the preceding week, but were lower than a year ago. Stock prices advanced both over the preceding week and over the same period last year.

Business failures were more numerous during the week than in either the preceding week or in the same period of 1928. Receipts of hogs as well as of cattle at the primary markets during the week ending the 13th inst. were larger than in the same period of last year. Wheat receipts were less than a year ago.

WILLYS EXPORT SALES SHOW BIG INCREASE

TOLEDO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Willys-Overland Company today reported an increase of 72 per cent in its export business during the first quarter of 1929 as compared with the same period of 1928. Shipments of cars for foreign markets totaled 12,679. It is estimated that approximately 4500 cars will be shipped during April to overseas dealers. The total production for the first quarter increased 33 per cent.

NATIONAL ACME NET IN SHARP INCREASE

CLEVELAND, April 26. (Exclusive)—The National Acme Company today reported for the March quarter net profits of $708,831 after all charges including depreciation but before Federal tax as against $197,967, for the 1928 quarter, an increase of 259 per cent.

DEMAND ON WOOL MART ONLY FAIR

Survey Reports Prices on Mediums Firmer and Finer Grades Steady

BOSTON, April 26. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

The wool trade has passed through another quiet week, although not without some business being done. Medium wool prices have steeled a little more, while fine wools have held fairly steady.

Most activity in the West is reported from California in the range of 21 cents for the poorest short Southern to 34 cents for the choicest long Northern wool. Some medium wools in Idaho have moved around 31-32 cents. Most Eastern buyers want to bid 30 cents for fine and 35 cents maximum for medium Ohio and similar.

Foreign markets are steady. London is expected to rule fairly steady at the opening Tuesday.

The goods market is in fair position, generally.

Mohair is still quiet here, Texas operations this week have ranged from 50 to 55 cents for adult hair and a dime more for kid.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to April 25, 1929, inclusive, were 59,815,000 pounds against 60,440,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1929, to April 25, 1928, inclusive were 71,339,085 pounds against 81,065,800 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Secured basis:

Texas fine twelve months selected, 1.00@1.03; fine eight months, 98@1.00.

California: Northern, 90@91; middle counties, 85@90; southern, fine and F.M. staple, 98@1.00; fine and F.M. French combing, 97@1.00; fine and F.M. clothing, 95@96; Valley No. 1, 90@94.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, April 26. (AP)—Another flurry in money rates today failed to shake the bond market from its recently won advanced levels. In their resistance to month-end tightening of credit, the fixed-income securities showed a tendency toward stabilization around their present prices. Price movements in the general list this week have been narrow, following the pronounced upswing last week.

Oils led the industrials and high-grade rails were relatively firm. As a group German bonds softened on news of the fall in the mark exchange value, unsettled German credit conditions and flight of foreign credits from that country.

Without the popular convertibles, trading would have been exceedingly thin. Nearly one-eighth of the day's sales volume consisted of the turnover of the 5½ convertible debentures of the newly organized American Oil Chemical Corporation, a combination of German chemical enterprises and American capital. The issue of $30,000,000 debentures was offered today at 95 and interim certificates listed on the stock exchange.

Trading started off at a fast pace at 96¼. Later they sold as low as 95½, but finished at the opening price with a turnover of 1029 bonds.

Popularity of the semispeculative convertibles also was manifested in activity of International Telephone 4½s, Adam 4½s, American International 4½s, and Dodge Brothers 6s, but as a group they were irregular with Public Service of New Jersey 4½s sold off 4 points.

Despite some liquidation German Republic 7s held steady. However, the list of German industrials, municipals and German railroad issues showed a reaction to nearly 3 points. French governments also were easy, but British 5½s firmed.

Domestic industrials continued to give ground as a result of good quarterly corporate statistical reports. Bethlehem Steel, Consolidated Gas, Anaconda, Copper 6s, American Telephone issues, Chile Copper 5s, National Dairy 5½s, Loew's and Standard Oil of New Jersey 5s held steady or sold up fractionally. Utilities did not do so well.

United States government issues, resulting to the stiffening of money, were quiet and irregularly lower.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. Fractions are in thirty-seconds (the point omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close given same as high.

rising 2 points to a new high, and American Telephone selling up about 4 points. United States Steel mounted about 2 points to 187, and closed just under 186. General Motors held fairly steady in spite of the reduced earnings in the first quarter. Bethlehem Steel sold down about 3 points on selling attributed to disappointment over the increase in the number of shares, but regained some of its loss.

Hayes and Murray Body, Commercial Solvents, Corn Products, Bohn Aluminum and New Haven Railroad were again bid up 2 to 5 points to new high territory, largely reflecting higher earnings. United Aircraft was sent up nearly 6 points to a new peak. American Rolling Mills, Columbia Graphophone, International Telephone, General Refractories, Wright and Curtiss aeros and Westinghouse were among other issues making substantial gains.

Allied Chemical, Allis Chalmers, Burroughs Adding Machine, Calumet and Arizona, Houston Oil, Ingersoll Rand and National Distillers were among issues depressed from 2 to 4 points. Radio sold off about 3 points, but regained most of its loss. Baldwin Locomotive dropped more than 3 points in a small turnover.

Commodity markets were irregular, cotton losing about $1 a bale on lower Liverpool cables and better weather. Wheat dipped to a new low for the year, then rallied sharply, ending the day with net gains of about a cent a bushel.

Foreign exchanges were dull. The German mark fell to 23.59 cents, the lowest level since August, 1924, when pegging operations began in preparation for stabilization. The drop was attributed to an outward flow of capital from Berlin.

Wheat Rallies Slightly After Early Decline

CHICAGO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Passage of the farm-relief bill by the House had some effect on the wheat markets, both here and abroad. All deliveries with the exception of the July sold at a new low on the crop at the start, as the result of an accumulation of overnight selling orders and weakness in Liverpool, but a rally of 1⅝@2½c followed, with general short covering in evidence on the way up. Profit-taking and local pressure caused a recession from the top, with the close unchanged to ⅛c higher.

Corn showed a much firmer undertone, with more attention given to the delay in plowing and planting, and the shipping demand continues to hold up well. Prices advanced on local and commission-house buying and finished ⅛@1¼c higher. Oats gained ⅛@⅜c, rye showed independent strength and gained ⅝@1⅛c.

Pit observers claimed that the short covering in wheat was the most extensive in some time, but longs in May continued to liquidate on a liberal scale and replaced with purchases of the July. The May-July spread ranged from 4⅝ to 4⅞@4¾, closing at the former, with cash houses taking the May and selling the July, changing over hedges. May at the inside figure touched 1.11⅛, or 22½c under the high in February, and a decline of 12½c from the best price of the previous week.

Some of the locals who covered on the early decline put out their lines again on the bulge. Liverpool was off 1⅛@1¼d at one time, but rallied sharply on short covering, due to the passage of the farm-relief measure and finished ⅛@⅝d higher. Winnipeg also showed strength and finished ⅛@⅛c higher. Buenos Aires gained ½@¾c for the day.

A report that new crop wheat for July loading had been booked at a country point in Missouri at 85c per bushel attracted some attention, as it served to call attention to the low price that confronts the producer.

Reports from the seaboard indicated a lack of export business, although a little hard winter and durums were said to have been sold. Too much rain is reported in parts of the Southwest, with the plant turning yellow in consequence, with generally fair predicted in Kansas overnight. Seeding is under way in the Canadian Northwest.

The corn market acted as though it had had its break and there was a better class of buying than of late, although there was selling of the May delivery by longs, with reinstating in the deferred deliveries. Weather conditions are being closely watched, with the Iowa report claiming that unless there was a period of dry weather, seeding might be as late as it was in 1927.

Longs in May oats liquidated, and gave that delivery an easier undertone, but there was fair buying and all deliveries averaged higher. There was export business in Canadian oats.

Trade in lard and meats was light and hog prices 15@25c higher on light receipts. Enough lard came out from holdings and other interests to satisfy all demands and make a close of 5c lower on all deliveries. There was no business in ribs, with prices unchanged and the small increase in trading in bellies, which closed unchanged to 2½c lower.

BAN URGED ON MEXICAN IMMIGRANTS

Legislators' Proposal to Memorialize Congress Favorably Reported

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (AP)—A resolution urging the Assembly to go on record as favoring a curb on Mexican immigration into the United States was favorably recommended by the Assembly Committee on Federal Relations today.

Introduced by Assemblymen Anderson, Jones, Lyons, Bernard, Adams and Fisher, the resolution would, if adopted by both houses, be sent to Congress as an official expression of the California Legislature. It probably will be acted on by the Assembly next week.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY VOICES PROTEST

FRESNO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Opposition to any obstruction of the seasonal importation of Mexican labor was unanimously voiced here today by the San Joaquin Valley regional advisory council of the California Development Association in resolutions directed to the Assembly and Senate of the State Legislature and to the parent organization of the development association.

The resolutions were aimed specifically at the proposal in the Legislature by Assemblyman Adams of Livingston that the Legislature adopt resolutions urging Congress to adopt legislation to halt the seasonal influx of Mexicans during the California harvest season.

Rebel Chieftain Gets Sanctuary

WASHINGTON, April 26. (AP)—The State Department has advised Representative Garner of Texas that it has no intention of deporting Raoul Madero, a rebel chief at El Paso, Tex., for crossing the border without immigration authority.

Madero, who had appealed to Garner to help him, was so advised today in a telegram from the House minority leader.

PHONE QUIZ ISSUE AGAIN BROUGHT UP

State Senate Requested to Ask Congress for Inquiry; Assembly Turned It Down

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Renewal of the fight to obtain passage by the Legislature of a resolution asking Congress to investigate the affairs of the various telephone companies of the nation was made this morning in the upper house by Senator Inman of Sacramento. Inman introduced a resolution identical with that which the Assembly already has turned down on the same subject. It was referred to the Senate Committee on Federal Relations, where it is predicted it will remain.

The investigation for which the resolution asks is aimed at the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company and has stirred up the charge in the Legislature that it is a political move on the part of the friends of Senator Hiram Johnson, who fathered the original proposal in Congress at the last session.

Members of the Alameda county delegation in the Assembly have become engaged in an acrimonious debate with Preston Higgins, Oakland City Attorney, over their votes on the resolution in the lower house. Six of the eight Assemblymen from Alameda county assert that Higgins failed to take a hand in the fight for the resolution until after the vote was taken and now is criticising them for their stand.

Mill Workers in India Strike

BOMBAY (India) April 26. (AP) A large scale cotton mill strike was started here today. Employees of thirty-eight out of eighty-four mills responded to the labor leaders' general strike call and threw down their tools after the general lunch period.

A total of 100,000 men was involved. The trouble is believed to be the outgrowth of a failure of a conference between union representatives and mill owners to discuss the asserted victimization of workers in the Wadia group of mills after the recent strike there.

Governor Urges People to Back War on Leprosy

SACRAMENTO, April 26. (Exclusive)—Stating the belief that leprosy can be wiped out in a single generation if sufficient funds are available, Gov. Young called upon the citizenry of California to contribute to the Gen. Wood memorial fund for the eradication of leprosy. In a telegram to the fund commission the Governor said:

"May 1, the anniversary of the Battle of Manila, has been designated as Philippine Day by the Leonard Wood memorial for the eradication of leprosy, which has received the public commendation of President Hoover.

"I wish to give my hearty approval of this great humanitarian

TRAVELER GUEST OF LOS ANGELES

Trader Horn

WRITER OF ADVENTURE TALE HERE

"Trader Horn" Drops in by Hawaiian Liner for Day in Los Angeles

Trader Horn, most colorful character of modern literature, yesterday paid Los Angeles his first visit, surrounded by all the romantic atmosphere—hirsute, sartorial and intellectual—which has made him and his book, "Trader Horn," absorbing topics throughout the English-speaking world. He arrived from Honolulu aboard the Lassco liner City of Honolulu in continuation of his trip around the world; remaining until last night to confer with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer officials about the filming of "Trader Horn" and to "show Hollywood my whiskers."

Alfred Aloysius Smith is the real name of Trader Horn, and he told the score of newspaper men who met him at quarantine that he is very anxious to have the world know how he acquired his odd nom de plume. Three years ago, when Mrs. Ethelreda Lewis had just discovered him and his book, he met John Galsworthy, the English novelist, at a dinner in London.

AL SMITH COMMON

"Galsworthy suggested I call both myself and the book 'Trader Horn,' because the world is full of Al Smiths, and with such an ordinary name I could never batter down the doors of American publishers," he explained.

He talked on in endless fashion as the liner moved slowly up channel, his keen philosophy and bizarre mixture of Oxford English and billingsgate contrasting sharply with his venerable appearance and odd costume. Trader Horn says he will be 80 years of age next July 4, but the agility of his mind and body show that time has treated him kindly. Slight of build, yet erect as a guardsman, his suntanned face is framed in a white beard of patriarchal size. Yesterday he came ashore in a well-worn tweed suit, a gray topcoat and further protected from the morning chill by four woollen mufflers. A huge gray felt hat, reminiscent of California's Argonauts, was set at a jaunty angle atop his bald head. This headgear, he said, became his favorite when he visited America fifty years ago.

ALWAYS RICH

"I have been in the United States six times, but no place is home to me," he continued. "My friends liken me to Salathiel, the Wandering Jew, but I've got him beat—

CITIES BATTLE FARE INCREASE

Pacific Electric Petition Given Hearing

Company Presents Basis for Schedules

Session Lacks Fireworks; Adjourn to May 21

Hearing of the Pacific Electric Railway Company's application for increase of fares, which began before Commissioner L. O. Whitsell yesterday, was adjourned until the 21st inst., following a day spent in hearing witnesses in support of the company's contention that higher fares are necessary.

In the afternoon F. E. Johnson, representing the Northwest Chamber of Commerce, inquired as to whether or not the Pacific Electric's financial difficulties were not due to inefficiency in management. "I have investigated operating conditions of some ten or twelve eastern interurban systems," Mr. Johnson said to Attorney Frank Karr, the company's chief counsel, "and I have compared conditions in Southern California with them. Here you have the best possible climatic conditions under which to operate, your wages are considerably lower, your motive power is said to cost less, and yet, in comparison with these eastern systems, your passenger rates are the highest. Is not this, after all, due to inefficiency in management?"

BRUNT OF DEFENSE

Aroused to the defense of his company and its application for increased rates, Mr. Karr demanded that Mr. Johnson be placed on the witness stand and made to qualify as to the extent of his investigation of other interurban systems. Mr. Johnson did not press his question of inefficiency further.

Although many Southern California communities served by the Pacific Electric were represented by city attorneys, deputy city attorneys or representatives of chambers of commerce, the brunt of the attack on the Pacific Electric's application—its printed schedule of new rates sought, and its statements of earnings, operating expenses and losses—was led by L. A. Deither, deputy City Attorney of Pasadena. Earl Porter, representing Venice, supported his Pasadena confrere from time to time.

A feature of the opening of the hearing yesterday morning was the introduction of a subsupplemental application, amending in a small part the company's supplementary application filed with the commission on the 2nd inst. The newest application relates to local fares in Los Angeles and to monthly passes between Los Angeles and Glendale and between Los Angeles and Pasadena. The original supplementary application seeks a modification of a long list of items in the experimental rates that went into effect for one year on April 27, 1928. In a large number of instances the company seeks an increase in rates, but some of the modifications of the experimental schedule would change the system of operation without materially affecting fares.

NEWEST PROPOSAL

It is proposed to fix the monthly pass rate between Los Angeles and Glendale outer zone (which takes in Burbank,) at $8.50, and include transportation on motor busses, and fix the monthly pass cost between Los Angeles and Pasadena and points on the Pasadena local lines within the outer local fare zone of Pasadena at $10 and permit of transportation on local street car and motor-bus lines.

In its earlier application, for consideration of which yesterday's hearing was called by the Railroad Commission, the company seeks "authority to change, establish and place in effect the passenger rates, fares, rules and regulations set forth, for the period of six months and until changed again upon application of applicant or further order of the commission."

BASIS OF RATES

Only two witnesses were called to the stand by Chief Counsel Karr to prove the Pacific Electric's case. These were L. R. St. John, assistant to the chief auditor; and O. A. Smith, general traffic manager for the Pacific Electric lines. Both were bombarded with questions by representatives of the various communities, each interested in the proposed changes affecting his own territory.

It was brought out that the chief points in the company's application for a change in rates include a petition for one way fares based upon 2 cents a mile within a zone extending twelve and one-half miles from the Los Angeles terminals; one-way fares based upon 2½ cents a mile between all points outside the twelve and one-half-mile zone; one-way fares of 2 cents a mile

TROLLEY TRAINS IN CRASH

Thirteen Hurt in Whittier-Boulevard Collision and Others Bruised and Cut

A broken front axle was fixed by police as the cause of the spectacular crash between two two-car trains of the Los Angeles Street Railway at Indiana avenue and Whittier Boulevard early yesterday morning, resulting in painful injuries to thirteen of approximately thirty-five passengers aboard both trains.

The trains were traveling in opposite directions, east and west bound on Whittier Boulevard. The east-bound train was practically empty, it being reported that there was but one man aboard besides the two conductors and motorman. Approximately thirty-five passengers were seated or standing in the west-bound cars besides the car crew.

LOUD CRACK HEARD

Just after the east-bound train had passed the intersection of Indiana avenue, there was a loud crack, according to witnesses. The long front car, wrenched from the front trucks, swung diagonally across the west-bound tracks and directly in front of the train traveling eityward with its load of early morning workers.

In the next instant the heavy west-bound train, traveling at about twenty-five miles an hour, according to witnesses, plowed head-on into the east-bound car. The crash is reported to have been heard for many blocks around. There was a snarling of rended steel, whine of splintered wood, and tinkle of broken and flying glass, mingled with the screams of women passengers as the impact threw them against seats or on the floors of the two cars.

MOTORMAN ESCAPES

That no one was killed outright or fatally hurt is considered by witnesses and police as almost a miracle. Motorman C. G. Ward, at the controls of the west-bound car, reported he had time only to apply his brakes and then leap quickly back to prevent being crushed. He escaped with bruises.

Car crews and passengers who escaped injuries quickly assisted in aiding the injured from the cars. Ambulances from the Hollenbeck Heights, Newton and Central divisions took them to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital where they were given emergency treatment by Police Surgeons William P. Jacobs and Edgar Spear. All suffered from numerous contusions and abrasions and but two persons, Mrs. Lillian Mercer, 43 years of age, of 465 South Downey Road, and Esmerejilch Santallo,

ORCHESTRA WILL GO ON LONG TOUR

Philharmonic Trip Starts Monday With Dr. Hertz as Conductor for Event

The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles, in charge of George Leslie Smith, will leave Los Angeles Monday morning for a tour of four weeks through the Northwest, visiting cities in California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Nevada. Alfred Hertz, conductor of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, will be the tour conductor, assisted by Henry Svedrofsky, concert master of the orchestra, who will wield the baton for the afternoon concerts.

The orchestra will travel on a special train, attached to which will be the private car of William Andrews Clark, Jr., president and founder of the Philharmonic orchestra. With Mr. Clark will be Mr. and Mrs. George Leslie Smith and Dr. Hertz. Twenty-seven concerts will be given. The orchestra will return the latter part of May. The first concert will be Monday evening in Fresno and the tour will close with a concert at Visalia May 24.

Dr. Hertz, brought to America by the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York twenty years ago, was the first conductor of the symphony concerts in the Hollywood Bowl.

PROTESTS TURNED DOWN

The City Council yesterday denied the protests against the ordinances of intention for the improvement of Lankershim Boulevard between Burbank and Ventura boulevards, Lyric avenue between Griffith Park Boulevard and Hyperion avenue, and Avenue 57 between Hermon avenue and Carlota avenue.

HAWAII TO HAVE NEW PLANE LINE

Company Formed With Los Angeles Backing to Operate Between Islands

Formation of Hawaiian Airways, Ltd., to operate planes between the different islands of Hawaii, was announced yesterday by Nathan Newby, Jr., Los Angeles attorney, upon his return from Honolulu on the Lassco liner City of Honolulu.

NATHAN NEWBY JR.

Newby said the service will start in the fall with two three-motored, fourteen-passenger Fokker monoplanes, each powered with three patented Whitney Wasp engines. They will carry mail, light express and passengers, he said.

Sentiment throughout Hawaii he described as highly in favor of such service and he forecasts immediate success. The Territory is building fields throughout the islands.

The company is financed by Los Angeles capital, and includes among its directors, William G. McAdoo, Nathan Newby, Sr., Paul E. Richter, vice-president, and Jack Frye, head of Standard Airlines. The latter is president of the Hawaiian company.

"PARSIFAL" TO BE TOPIC

Stereopticon pictures and music will be used by Miss Margaret Goetz to illustrate vital episodes in the European musical drama, "Parsifal," when she gives a lecture on the play at the Public Library today at 10:45 a.m. The lecture will be delivered in the lecture hall.

ARTISTS WILL MEET

Artists of Los Angeles will attend a social and sketching party this evening at the home of Mrs. Cora Spalding, 1117 Douglas street. Mrs. Spalding is president of the Los Angeles Art League.

AQUEDUCT PLAN BEFORE BOARD

Gravity System Described by Engineer La Rue

Idea Result of Long Study in Colorado River Area

Metropolitan District Heads Will Consider Data

One of the most interesting phases of the project to bring Colorado River water to Southern California was presented to the Metropolitan Water District board of directors yesterday when E. C. LaRue, consulting engineer, laid before the board data on his plan for a gravity aqueduct.

Of the four suggested routes for the proposed aqueduct La Rue's plan is the only all-gravity plan, and for that reason has attracted widespread interest. The others require the lifting of the water by pumps some 1600 feet, the annual cost of such pumping amounting to about $9,000,000 a year for the 1500 second feet.

Practically the full board was present to hear the plan as outlined by La Rue who, as hydraulic engineer with the United States Geological Survey, has studied the Colorado River for more than fifteen years, and made the first exhaustive report on the river to the government. In his official capacity he has reported on dam sites up and down the stream.

AIDED BY EXPERT

In compiling the date on the dam necessary to the gravity plan, La Rue had the services of B. F. Jakobsen, one of the outstanding authorities on dams, whose original studies on dam construction on two occasions brought him the medal award from the American Society of Civil Engineers.

La Rue mentioned these facts to show that he spoke with authority and to meet criticism from some quarters that the plan is not feasible. In concluding his report he expressed the opinion that the plan not only is entirely feasible, but in the long run will be the cheapest.

Statistically, and briefly, the plan calls for the delivery of 1500 second feet of water to Southern California. It will require the construction of 167 miles of grade tunnels (tunnels through which the water flows by gravity;) fifteen miles of pressure tunnels, and 176 miles of covered aqueduct; or a total aqueduct length of 360 miles. Time required to build would be about eight years, and the cost $219,000,000.

FIGURES ON COSTS

For the dam and power plant, La Rue stated that the height of the dam could be anywhere from 350 to 950 feet, depending on the variation of factors at this end of the aqueduct. For the purpose of the plan considered, the height of the dam was given as 575 feet above bed rock. Such a dam would cost $41,000,000. A powerhouse of 482,000-horsepower capacity would cost $14,000,000. Transmission lines to Los Angeles would cost $22,000,000. The total for dam, power plant and transmission lines would be $77,000,000. The total cost of dam, power plant, transmission lines and aqueduct would be $296,000,000. Under the pumping route, the cost of the aqueduct alone has been estimated at from $130,000,000 to $200,000,000. With dam, power plant and transmission lines, the cost has been estimated at around $300,000,000.

RETURN FOR OUTLAY

For this estimated cost Southern California would have available 1500 second-feet of water and 2,200,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy annually. No Federal legislation would be required, because the district would merely go through the routine of obtaining the damsite right of way, power permit and other rights of way from the government. The Federal government would not be called on to appropriate any money. The project need not interfere with the Boulder dam, La Rue said.

When a question was asked by a director as to what would be done about flood control, he said he does not think he should be called upon to answer the question in connection with his project, because his is purely a project of water supply and power development. He does not feel that because Los Angeles wanted to take a drink of water she should be called on to finance flood control on the river.

He expressed the belief that the Imperial Valley would have had flood-control protection from the government years ago, if that was all that had been asked for.

La Rue called attention to the fact that if, on the gravity-aqueduct plan, the power were sold at the

by Harry Carr

EVERY reporter along the route will breathe a sigh of relief to know that Sir Rabindranath Tagore has a mad and is going back to India without being interviewed.

The only reporter within my memory who knew what Tagore was talking about was the late Henry Warnack. And when Henry explained what Tagore was talking about nobody understood what Henry was talking about.

INTELLECTUAL EQUALITY

A little girl 12 years of age has been employed by a news syndicate to interview the current Congressmen on this subject and that.

She ought to get along wonderfully well. Although from my experience with the average Congressman she could have started at 10 and done just as well.

MILLIONS OF 'EM

The child has already made progress. She has discovered how many secretaries are employed by Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick. The infant must have a talent for mathematics as well as journalism. Or else she has a pocket adding machine. Whenever you see Mrs. McCormick she is surrounded by enormous mobs of fascinating young lady secretaries.

TAKING NOTES

Among the wreckage of the Maddux airplane knocked out of the sky by an army stunt flyer, they found the notes of the little newspaper girl who was making a flight for literary purposes.

This suggests to me a query that has often been in my mind.

Why does any writer take notes? If an impression isn't strong enough to be remembered without notes, it isn't worth writing. The same is true of interviews.

HAPPINESS

Senator Cousens has set aside an enormous sum of money to be devoted to making children healthier and happier.

How do you make children happier? My most unhappy days were the days when I was in the old Los Angeles High School on top of the Fort Moore hill.

BORED

They were unhappy because I was bored to death. Because I had to ponder about the angles ABC in their entirely unimportant relationship to the angles XYZ.

The only value I got from those days was reading a book about the Army and about ships in books bootlegged into my geometry book. What I learned about the Army and about the rigging of ships has proved of value beyond estimation to me.

I still do not know why the angle ABC equaled the angle XYZ, and I don't know the names of the bones in the body. Furthermore, I don't want to.

A GRAND NAME

For some mysterious reason the name of the bone tibia always fascinates me; but I don't care to know its geography. It sounds as though it ought to be in the heel. If it isn't, I don't care to know that it did not get into the right place.

WILL HAS TEN WORDS

George Peterman, wealthy baker, in ten words disposed of his $200,000 estate, according to a will on file in Probate Court. Peterman, who was burned to death when his automobile caught fire, left a will which said: "I hereby leave my estate to my wife, Mary Peterman." Other heirs are a daughter and three sons.

RAIN CLOUDS ONLY THREAT

Scanty Showers of Yesterday to be Followed by Fair Weather Over Week-end

Threatening clouds, which hung over Los Angeles all day yesterday, bringing only a trace of rain, will be dispated today and tomorrow, the Weather Bureau forecast last night.

"Fair Saturday and Sunday, with moderate temperature and cloudy morning," is the official prediction.

Small showers were reported from some of the foothill areas yesterday. Arcadia reported a fall of .06 of an inch, bringing the season total to 15.85, as against 13.75 inches for the same date last year. Azusa, .08 of an inch; season total of 15.96 inches, against 14.31 last year. Duarte, .03 of an inch, making the season total 14.07 inches, against 13.08 inches last year. Monrovia had a fall of .05 of an inch, making 15.09 for the season, against 14.04 inches last year. Sierra Madre, .09 of an inch, raising the season total to 16.50 inches, as against 12.81 inches last year.

Yesterday was without sunshine during the possible thirteen hours and twenty-four minutes, and the highest temperature was recorded as 62 deg., the lowest 53 deg.

Following is the rainfall in inches reported from various Southern California points up to 6 p.m. yesterday.

	24 hrs.	Season	Last Year
Los Angeles	T.	12.51	9.47
Arcadia	.06	15.85	13.75
Azusa	.08	15.96	14.31
Duarte	.03	14.07	13.08
Monrovia	.05	15.09	14.02

TAXPAYERS MUST HURRY OR COUGH UP PENALTIES

Only two days remain for taxpayers to pay the second installment of county taxes for the fiscal year of 1928-29, according to an announcement made yesterday by Tax Collector Welch.

Deviating from the usual custom of closing at noon on Saturday, the Tax Collector announced his intention of keeping his office on the third floor of the Hall of Justice open until 5 p.m. today.

Taxes unpaid by closing time at 5 p.m. Monday will become subject immediately to a penalty of 5 per cent. In addition all tax payments on real estate will be increased by a charge of 50 cents for each parcel. This latter is in the nature of a service charge, necessitated by the extra book-keeping and other work required by past-due payments, he said.

While the mail may be used for making tax payments, payment in person is preferred, Tax Collector Welch said. Certified and cashiers' checks are acceptable, but not personal checks drawn on banks outside of the county. Last year approximately 36,000 checks were returned because of irregularities, Col. Welch said.

County taxes totaling $117,217,097 are scheduled to be collected this year as against $106,604,601 last year. Up to the 24th inst., $84,370,974.39 had been paid as against $76,207,706.19 for the same period last year, according to figures of the office.

On previous occasions long lines of taxpayers have crowded the Tax Collector's office until closing time.

FIGHT STIRS CLUB SESSION

Exclusive Beverly Hills Women's Group Thrown in Uproar by Fist Attack Over Book Review

There is the comparatively uneventful business of book criticism, for instance, especially those volumes which have for their central characters important figures of history.

But yesterday a review of two books is reported to have thrown the exclusive Beverly Hills Woman's Club into an uproar which featured a verbal attack on the critic, a physical attack on the chairman of the meeting, and the expulsion of a woman visitor from the club after a call for police assistance had been made.

The books in question were a study of the life of John Wilkes Booth by Francis Wilson and a review of international affairs by George Seldes. The reviewer was Mrs. Jack Vallely, well-known critic and lecturer. The chairman of the day, who is reported to have been attacked, is Mrs. George Elmendorf. Her assailant was an unidentified visitor at a benefit tea given by the book section of the club.

The trouble started when Mrs. Vallely read excerpts from the books giving the authors' information on Lincoln and Lenin, according to reports. An elderly lady arose and questioned the speaker's Americanism, members of the club said. Apparently she did not understand that the reviewer was repeating the words of the writers. She acted as if she was hysterical, they declared.

Mrs. Elmendorf attempted to placate the woman and explain the

Howard Admits Striking Blow During Brawl That Resulted in Cooley's Death

DETAILS GIVEN IN CONFESSION

Trial May be Waived When He Goes Into Court

Murder Complaint Expected to be Issued Today

Admitted Killer Possibly Will Face Widow

John L. Howard may waive trial and plead guilty to the hammer murder of his friend and employer, Victor A. Cooley, wealthy Pasadena automobile man as the result of a full confession to the crime made by him early yesterday morning in Pasadena.

Shortly before Howard returned last night to jail in Pasadena, he indicated to Blayney Matthews, assistant chief of District Attorney's investigators that he will offer no defense for his crime.

The slayer will be arraigned today at 10 a.m. before Municipal Judge Gibbs in Pasadena Justice Court, and then probably will be sent to the County Jail here, it was announced last night. A special guard was placed over the man in the Pasadena jail.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts said a murder complaint will be issued before the arraignment.

While the self-confessed murderer maintained that the killing was the result of a drunken argument over Cooley's asserted accusation that Howard was neglecting business, Chief Investigator Wheeler declared yesterday that his office doubts Howard's assertion and will continue its investigation in a effort to ascertain whether Howard expected to profit by Cooley's death.

CONFESSION SHOUTED

"I did it all by myself. There was no one with me or no one who encouranged me to do it. I just did it in a crazy moment. You can't rope a woman into this so you might as well not try," Howard heatedly shouted at his inquisitors.

Hardly had the garage man completed his Pasadena jail breakfast yesterday morning when he called for Detective-Lieutenant H. M. Thomas, who has conducted the investigation of the case. The slayer was ordered jailed Thursday after a statement made to District Attorney's investigators showed discrepancies in former ones.

"If you will go to the garage and look in the tool box you will find a round-headed machinists' hammer. Bring it here and I will tell you my story," Howard told Lieut. Thomas when the latter arrived at his cell.

As the officer returned with the weapon Howard looked at it in a disinterested manner and slowly, but firmly, said: "That's the hammer I killed Vic with."

DETAILS GIVEN

In the confession he signed two hours later, and which was witnessed by Captain of Detectives Betts and Detective Lieutenant Cubeer of Pasadena, Jack Chriss and R. M. Broker of the District Attorney's office, besides Thomas, Howard related in detail what he asserts to have been the events surrounding the murder in the North Vernon-avenue apartment shared by Howard and Cooley.

"I had been drinking heavily at the garage where I was working on one of the cars and my liquor ran out. I went to the apartment to get another pint I had there," Howard said.

"When I got there Vic started in on me for staying away from the business so much at night, and one thing and another — that I was drinking too much. Vic had also been drinking. Half of my whisky was gone. I kept arguing back at him not to take that attitude; that I was working on the cars, in fact I was working on a car at the time I came up there. There were things said that I don't recall, then I started to leave.

"He sat up on the bed first, the right-hand side, I was pulling away from him. I thought he was reaching for his gun. I kind of shoved him back on the bed. I started around the foot of the bed to get to the door and as I started he rolled over on that side and he grabbed at me with both hands. He got me by the left arm and the left pants leg and started pulling.

BLOW ON HEAD

"I had my hammer, screw driver, pliers and gauge in my right pocket. I pulled out my hammer from my pocket and swung down once and struck him on the head.

"He dropped back on the bed," Howard said as he continued his narrative after answering numerous perfunctory questions. "He laid still. I thought I had killed him. I thought then the best thing to do was to make it look like robbery. I mussed things up around the room. I took his clothes from the davenport and scattered them on the floor; took the wallets from his pockets, went into the dressing-room there, mussed up the drawers and took some things out of them. I then put out the light and left the apartment."

Howard set the time of the assault, which took place on the 16th inst., and from which Cooley died four days later, at about 10:30 p.m.

In detail he related his movements. His return to the garage where he met Clyde, Cooley's 19-year-old son, and another employee of the garage, and of the trio's trip to a cafe where they had a midnight lunch.

AGITATED STATE

Although Howard appeared to his companions to have been more than self-composed, he undoubtedly was in a highly agitated state, as his subsequent action showed, and which proved one of the seemingly insignificant details that in fact led to the man's confession.

So certain was Howard that Cooley was dead, he stopped in the lower hallway on his return to the apartment-house at 12:45 a.m., and used the pay telephone to call the police, when he told them he had found a man murdered in his apartment.

His embarrassment, he said, was startling when he entered the room after placing the police call, to find Cooley sitting erect in bed wiping his face with a shirt he had obtained, unaided, from a dresser drawer. The injured man, however, was in a semidelirious condition and from the time officers arrived until his death, was unable to name his assailant.

DEBT DENIED

Howard denied he owed Cooley $100, and also that there ever had been serious argument between the two. They had lived together most of the time during the sixteen months Howard worked for Cooley, he told police.

While Howard, in his statement, in a feeble way has attempted to inject a self-defense angle into the killing, officers yesterday said that the fact that he attempted to make the slaying appear as the aftermath of an attempted robbery, and that if he wanted to get away from Cooley the unlocked door of the apartment was only a few feet from the bed, precludes the possibility of him making a major issue of Cooley's asserted attempt to "grab" him.

The continued investigation into possible motives that caused Howard to slay the man who had befriended him will be based on statements made by Mrs. Pearl Cooley, the estranged wife in whose arms the fatally beaten man died, to the effect that Howard had been paying unusual attentions to her for some time. The statement was made in a stenographic report taken during an interview between Mrs. Cooley and Chief Investigator Wheeler Thursday in the District Attorney's office.

RAGE SHOWN

The slayer, in a statement taken later yesterday by Dist.-Atty. Fitts, but in which Howard failed to enlarge or add to his confession, is said to have admitted his admiration for Mrs. Cooley, but became enraged when asked direct and personal questions concerning the extent of his admiration.

Cooley's personal affairs, including his announced intention to wed Mrs. Evelyn Merritt Hanan, wealthy Pasadena divorcee, after he, Cooley, obtained a divorce from Mrs. Cooley, all were well known to Howard, Investigator Wheeler said.

The automobile man, it is announced, left a fortune approximating $105,000. His business, the District Attorney official said, conservatively has been appraised at $60,000. He carried a $10,000 straight life insurance and a $10,000 double indemnity policy. His bank account was a little more than $15,000, Wheeler stated.

"All of these facts were known to Howard and we propose to ascertain, if possible, whether he indirectly expected to benefit by Cooley's death," Wheeler declared.

STATE OF COLLAPSE

Today, if possible, Mrs. Cooley will be brought face to face with Howard before Dist.-Atty. Fitts, who will ask her to make the accusation against the man she is asserted to have made in her formal statement. She was reported in a state of collapse last night.

Superior Judge Archbald yesterday issued special letters of administration for her husband's estate. He did not, however, admit the will to probate, although her attorney, Michael F. Shannon stated the widow is chief beneficiary and that Cooley's automobile business is his chief asset.

he was always broke, while I have always been rich.

"I haven't been rich with money until now, when I am about ready for the dissolution of my partnership with life—but I have always been rich in desires for fights, books and hard work.

"People are always wanting to know where I came from. Well, I am one of the original Smiths. I was born in Preston, Lancastershire, and above the door of an old inn on the river bank there is a sign, 'The Hand and Dagger,' with above it the Latin inscription, 'Nemo me impuni lacessit,' which I translate, 'No one can stick me and get away with it.'

"I ran away from the family hearth when I was fourteen and I have been going ever since. Now I am going home to Kent, to visit my daughter, Mrs. Mary Scales. She lives right next door to the house—still standing—where Lord Nelson courted Lady Hamilton.

"I'll stay in England until the cool winds begin to blow and then I'm going down to Egypt. A fellow in Australia gave me 'knock-down' to King Fuad and I expect to get enough stories out of the king for another book. They tell me he's a real fellow."

Trader Horn rambled through the hundreds of phases of his life, from the incident, when as a peddler of tinware in Africa, he met Mrs. Lewis and she brought him and his book out of obscurity, back to his early days with the native blacks of mid-Africa, his explorations of the Kameroon Mountains, his experiences with Cecil Rhodes in Zambesiland and during the Boer War.

Yesterday he met his old "pardner" of those campaigns, Evan Lawrence, an Irishman now living at Los Alamitos, who was Trader Horn's fellow-adventurer from 1897 to 1902. The two had not seen each other for twenty-seven years, but in an instant they were reminiscing over those days when both were wounded while with the African Scouts and of their close calls while serving with Cecil Rhodes's Chartered Company of South Africa.

He said he is receiving about $5000 a week in book royalties and is out to see in "high-hat fashion" what little of the world he has missed in a lifetime of wandering. He left last night by train for New York.

Flower Show Will Display Fresh Blooms

Every floral display which is not presented as a growing plant in the West Los Angeles Flower Show at Santa Monica and Sepulveda boulevards will be replaced early this morning by fresh flowers to assure a colorful finale for the event, which has attracted hundreds during the past few days, according to an announcement made last night by Director C. G. Groenewegen.

With Mary McAllister, screen actress, heading the list of features, the entertainment program this afternoon will be arranged for the benefit of school children. The entertainment program is given to supplement the main floral attraction, and includes vaudeville and radio artists. Cabaret entertainers, phonograph recording artists and a revue of nine girls in twelve costume changes are scheduled for the entertainment program tonight.

Suspect Taken in Gun Battle

The ability of Police Officer Temple of University Station to detect the odor of liquor resulted in the arrest of an asserted bootlegger after a gun battle last night and the confiscation of a still and 500 gallons of alcohol, according to the police report.

The officer was patrolling his beat when he said he smelled liquor at 6901 Cimarron street. Seeing a man on the porch, he ducked behind a hedge. The man ran through the house and out the rear door. Officer Temple followed him and a short gun battle resulted before he surrendered. He gave his name as Tracinto Capuchione of 6901 Cimarron street. He was booked on charges of assault with a deadly weapon, Wright act possession, and possession of still apparatus.

Nearly 20,000 tractors were put to work on farms of the three prairie provinces of Canada last year.

CHURCH OFFICIALS TO ARRIVE TODAY

Heber J. Grant, president of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, and Charles W. Nibley, first counsellor of the church, of Salt Lake City, will reach here this morning on the Union Pacific to attend the formal dedication ceremonies of Hollywood Stake Tabernacle, at Manhattan Place and Country Club Drive, Sunday afternoon. President Grant will arrive on the Los Angeles Limited, due at Central Station at 9:10 o'clock, and Bishop Nibley on the Continental Limited, due at 8:30 o'clock.

HAYES RECEIVES LIFE SENTENCE

Court Acts Under Habitual Criminal Statute

Effort to Withdraw Pleas in Robberies Fails

Reported Illness of Mother Wins Brief Stay

Robert (Zeke) Hayes, asserted gunman and bandit, yesterday was adjudged a habitual criminal by Judge Wilson and sentenced to spend the remainder of his life in Folsom. In addition the court sentenced him on two specific counts of first-degree robbery, to which he pleaded guilty last Tuesday.

Ushered into a crowded courtroom as the afternoon session opened, Hayes made a plea through Public Defender Benedict to withdraw his pleas of guilty to the two robbery counts, stating that his former attorney had begged him to plead guilty and he had done so with the understanding that the sentences would run concurrently. Denying that there had been any understanding to that effect, Judge Wilson denied his plea. Hayes then petitioned the court for stay of execution of sentence for ten days, declaring that his mother is in a dying condition. This was granted by Judge Wilson.

Hayes was placed on trial Monday on eight felony counts, including robbery, assault with intent to commit murder, assault with a deadly weapon, grand theft and kidnaping. Following the testimony of his former sweetheart, Kay Perry, to the effect that he had confessed to her and told her that an asserted engagement ring he had given her was stolen property, he suddenly brought his trial to a close with the guilty pleas Tuesday afternoon.

between points within the twelve and one-half-mile zone and 2½ cents a mile between points outside this zone; round trip fares based on double the one-way fare where the one-way fare is 25 cents or less, and a sliding scale for a round-trip fare where the one-way fare is 30 cents or more.

It was stipulated that no change is desired in the present commutation fares, and it is desired, the company urged, that all fares end in multiples of 5 cents.

SCHEDULE OF FARES

From a long list of communities, their present rates of fare, the rate of proposed fare, and the rate existing before the advent of the trial schedule adopted in April, 1928, a few are given here:

Alhambra, (Wilson and Main streets.) Present fare, 15 cents; round trip, 25; proposed, 15, round trip, 30. Before April, 1928, 26, round trip 42.

Burbank, present fare, 25, round trip, 45; proposed, 25, round trip, 50; previous to April, 1928, 33, round trip, 54.

Long Beach, present fare 40, round trip 70; proposed, 45, round trip 80; previous to April, 1928, 52, round trip 85.

Pasadena, present fare, 20, round trip, 35; proposed, 20, round trip 40; Previous to April, 1928, 29, round trip 47.

Santa Monica, present fare, 30, round trip 50; proposed, 30, round trip 55; previous to April, 1928, 43, round trip 70.

RESUMPTION DATE

At the conclusion of yesterday's session, efforts were made by Earl Porter, representing Venice, to have the hearing adjourned until a date some three or four months hence in order that attorneys opposing the company's proposed increases in rates might be afforded an opportunity to study the various schedules and prepare a case. This was strongly opposed by Chief Counsel Karr, of the Pacific Electric forces, who urged that the experimental fares had been in effect one year, that the company's new application had been on file for several weeks and that each community had been furnished with a copy. Commissioner Whitsell finally set May 21 as the latest date on which the hearing could be resumed, declaring that a crowded calendar would not permit of further postponement.

Millions Asked in Cross Action Over Oil Stock

Damages aggregating $2,028,255 are asked by Irving Augur and the South Pacific Coast Oil Corporation in a cross complaint filed against Clifford De-Lorme and William Neblett yesterday, answering the petition of De-Lorme and Neblett, for damages asserted in a Bolsa Chica oil stock deal.

Augur and the corporation were sued for $205,000, charges being made that the defendants misrepresented the value of 809,000 shares of stock for which the plaintiffs wanted their money back.

The original suit disclosed that the South Pacific Coast Corporation gained control of the Bolsa Chica Corporation.

ADOHR STOCK FARMS' COWS WIN IN TESTS

Adohr Stock Farms of Ventura Boulevard was first and captured third and fourth places on the honor roll for March in the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau Cow Testing Association competition for cows making 2.70 pounds of butterfat on testing day. Adohr cows finished first with a test of 4.13 pounds of butterfat and won third and fourth places with tests of 3.70 and 3.20. In the dairy cow competition the Adohr cows were high with a first place for the highest producing pure bred cows and with first and second places for highest producing grade cows. Adohr Farms also took first honors in class "D" for the best five cows in herds of fifty-one and more as well as first place in Class "I" for the five best cows in herds of 251 and more.

Many of the passengers suffering from bruises and cuts from flying glass, refused to be taken to the hospital for medical treatment, it is reported.

Following the police investigation of the accident, street railway officials announced the launching of an investigation on their part to determine the responsibility for the asserted breaking of the axle on the east-bound car.

LAST RITES FOR CULVER TO BE TODAY

Pioneer Realty Developer Will Be Paid Honors at Masonic Service

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p.m. today at Bresee Brothers' chapel, 855 South Figueroa street, for Alexander Stephen Culver, pioneer developer of Los Angeles real estate, who died Thursday from stomach trouble at Monte Sano Hospital.

ALEXANDER STEPHEN CULVER

Last rites will be conducted under the supervision of Penthalpas Lodge, F. & A. M., assisted by members of Golden West Commandery, No. 43, Knights Templar. The body later will be cremated at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Culver was a native of Virginia, the son of a family prominent in early history of the nation. Educated in Washington, he came to Los Angeles in 1887 and was one of those who visualized the future growth of the city and took an active part in its development.

Among those who mourn his passing are his widow, Margaret I. Culver, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Cornett, 671 West Lexington street, Glendale.

PROTEST HEARING DELAYED

Hearing of protests against the ordinances of intention for the improvement of three streets was postponed yesterday by the City Council. Protests against the improvement of Dundee Drive from Commonwealth avenue to a point 2217.58 feet northwest will not be heard until October 4, and May 14 and May 28 were set as the next dates for the protests on the improvement, respectively, of Alfred street between Rosewood avenue and Beverly Boulevard, and of Blackwelder street between Clyde avenue and a point 1020.20 feet west of Hauser Boulevard.

misunderstanding, but when she approached the angered listener is said to have struck her. A police call was sent in, it is reported, but before the officers arrived an unidentified man had been called in from the street, who persuaded the woman and to leave the club.

WOMAN WAS STRANGER

Thereafter an expression of apology was made to Mrs. Vallely by the club and the meeting continued. The woman who caused the disturbance is not a member of the club and is unknown to the club, acording to Mrs. Jay B. Millard, one of the founders, who was present. No police report was made by the officer, who responded to the call, Beverly Hills police officials said last night.

The occasion was an annual benefit given to provide funds for the book section of the organization and tickets are sold. Mrs. Millard declared last night that many strangers attended the meeting and this woman might have come with an out-of-town party.

Among those whose costumes were outstanding from romantic, beauty or historic standpoints were Miss M. F. Wills, in a red, cream-lace trimmed gown, and ostrich-feather bedecked hat with which she carried a fringed red parasol; Mrs. Edmund Lazard, whose tea gown was of pale blue and plum, with blue Watteau pleat and plum ribbon jabot; Miss Theresa Levy, in maroon taffeta with bustle, matching the bonnet and many white embroidered petticoats; Mrs. George Curtis De Garmo, in a bouffant yellow and pink satin with poke bonnet; Mrs. Llewellyn Bixby Smith, in the white wedding gown worn in 1856 by the first Mrs. Llewellyn Bixby Smith, and Miss Jane Spaulding, whose gown was worn by her mother when she presided over the first meeting in Los Angeles for Susan B. Anthony.

"And the silk," pointed out Mrs. Lazard, "is all just as good as it ever was. I wish the silk manufacturers of today would take notice."

WHAT THEY DISCUSSED

Mrs. Carter during the luncheon presented charter members in costume—Mmes. Josiah Evans Cowles, John R. Haynes, Edgar Lacy Swaine, Warren Gillelen, Ella P. Hubbard, W. W. Stilson, J. F. Sartori, George H. Wadleigh, Horace B. Wing, W. A. Spaulding, L. A. Groff, Minnie A. Seward, E. P. Clark and Shelley Tolhurst, Miss Caroline Seymour and Miss M. F. Wills. Conversation, needless to say, was all about "the dear old days," and scraps such as "we lived at Sixth and Main, across from the Central Building," "many's the time I sat on that porch—the Subway Terminal's there, now," "a half-block on Hill street for $450," were accompanied by sighs which quickly ended in giggles at some modern matron in carefully built-up pompadour, lace mits, erect ostrich plumes, or the complete costume of the Gibson Girl.

All were not a little sorry, I think, when Mrs. Carter's gavel at 2 p.m., adjourned the meeting and brought several hundred busy women back to this life of short skirts, close-fitting hats, skyscrapers, horseless carriages and—Whoopee.

"It was the nicest program we've had this year," breathed one member, happily.

CLUB WILL HEAR RABBI

Rabbi Ernest R. Trattner will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Electric Club of Los Angeles Monday noon at the Biltmore. His book, "Unraveling the Book of Books," won the April grand prize of the Religious Book Club headed by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman. The book was dedicated to Marco Hellman, who will be a guest Monday. Frank S. Knight, superintendent of the Seal Beach plant of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, will preside.

SUIT CALLS MINE STOCK DEAL FRAUD

Santa Barbara Capitalist Demands $174,250 Back from Four Aces Company

Another chapter is being written into the history of the Four Aces Mines Company, this time by civil court action which went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Stutsman, wherein Albert Isham, millionaire Santa Barbara capitalist, is suing the mine corporation, its officers and others for $174,250 with interest at 7 per cent for one year. Fraud and misrepresentation are asserted.

The affairs of the Four Aces Mines Company recently were aired in the criminal court when L. B. Longnecker, president, and J. W. Garrity, treasurer, were tried on charges of violating the blue-sky law in the selling of the stock of the concern and were released on probation with the proviso they straighten out affairs of the company, which was incorporated in Nevada.

The suit now on trial was brought by Isham against Longnecker, Genevieve Longnecker; Garrity and Ivy Garrity, E. R. Drebin, secretary of the company and the Four Aces Mines Company.

The defendants are accused of misrepresenting the status of the mine company when Isham was induced to buy stock and he asks judgment for the amount he invested.

The defendants assert Isham had inspected the mining property and was thoroughly familiar with the corporation's papers before he purchased stock.

Isham, however asserts:

That he was induced to buy 470,000 shares of the stock; that the defendants told him the stock was legally issued and that there had been no violation of the Securities Act in selling it, also that they had a permit to sell the stock in California.

NEW SPEEDY AIR MAIL TO BEGIN MAY 1

Cross-Country Carriers of Western Express Will Reduce Time Half Day

With the inauguration of the new night schedule May 1, transit of air mail across the continent will be cut to one business day, according to details of the service announced yesterday by Western Air Express.

An east-bound plane will leave Los Angeles every evening at 7 o'clock and the mail thus dispatched will arrive at New York City at approximately daylight the second day thereafter. Mail will be en route only one business day and two nights.

Western Air Express announced that to provide for this service, it has purchased and accepted delivery of four especially constructed air-mail planes from the Boeing company. It is said they are the fastest planes which have been built for this type of service.

Under the old once-a-day mail schedule, mail that left this city at 7:34 a.m. arrived on the Atlantic seaboard late in the afternoon of the next day. It laid in the post-office over night at either terminal and it is to avoid this delay that the new night service is being inaugurated.

Mail that reaches the local post-office up to 6 p.m. will be sent on the night plane, and it will reach New York in time for the first morning delivery of the second day thereafter.

RUNAWAY CHILD BACK AT HOME

Boy is Found Shivering in Darkness After Hiding Out All Night

After hiding out all night, James Grady Whitt, 7 years of age, was found at 4 a.m. yesterday and returned by police to the home of his father, H. L. Whitt of 1306 Girard street. Grady, as he is called, left the vicinity suddenly Thursday night after a small boy answering his description stepped on the starter of a neighbor's parked car and crashed it into a building a block away.

The child evaded search parties until early yesterday when some street car men discovered the disconsolate little fellow shivering in the dark near Pico and Girard streets. They turned him over to police, who took him home.

the large pool of blood that had trickled from the vehicle.

EVIDENCE SOUGHT

Capt. Bright announced he will make every effort to determine whether or not the blood came from a human being, and if so to trace the body to discover whether or not it was Marconia.

The inquest over Chulla's body was conducted in the Coroner's office earlier in the day by Frank Monfort, deputy Coroner.

E. E. Cummings, constable of Antelope Township, who made the original investigation, was the principal witness. He told of Ormsby and Chenoweth, former Federal prohibition agents, going to his office Wednesday afternoon informing him that they had shot Chulla during an altercation near the Cohen ranch, fifteen miles northeast of Lancaster.

One of the principal bits of evidence in the case was found by Cummings, according to his testimony, pointing to Chenoweth as the man who fired the fatal shot. This was a bullet from a small-caliber automatic pistol, similar to that carried by Chenoweth, Cummings said.

MONEY IN POCKETS

Dr. H. S. Savage, Lancaster physician, told of the two men taking Chulla to his hospital, but reported that the man was dead when he made his examination. The physician also told of finding a watch, and $200 in currency in the pockets of the victim.

W. L. Peters, assistant Federal prohibition-enforcement administrator for this district, took the stand and related his acquaintance with Chenoweth and Ormsby, stating that they formerly were employed as agents and informants, but that they were not in government service in any capacity at the time of the shooting.

Peters pointed out, however, that both men had come to him repeatedly asking to be commissioned as officers during the last fortnight that they might expose a large still combine which contended it had the protection of Federal agents. This request was refused several times, Peters said, but Chenoweth and Ormsby were advised to attempt to obtain the names of the agents, if any, who were extending protection.

Both Chenoweth and Ormsby declined to take the stand upon the advice of their attorneys. Chenoweth was represented by W. J. Ford and Ormsby by Leo Daze.

According to Constable Cummings, the two men told him they had gone to the Taylor ranch northeast of Lancaster, seeking evidence of the presence of a still on the day Chulla was shot. Driving into the yard they smelled mash, Cummings said, and started to drive away after talking for a short time with Chulla.

After they had left the Taylor ranch and had driven to a point in Kern county near the Cohen ranch, Chulla overtook them in another car with another man, the two men told Cummings, and an argument ensued. Chulla climbed to the running board of their car with a gun in his hand, Chenoweth and Ormsby asserted, and Ormsby grappled with him. In the fight that followed Chulla was shot in the right side. His partner fled across the desert and escaped.

Officers later found a large still on the Taylor ranch, they assert, and arrested Dewey G. Holden and accused him of operating it.

Chenoweth and Ormsby were taken in custody by deputy sheriffs from Bakersfield after the inquest where they will be taken pending further investigation and possible trial.

PUPPILO CONVICTED UNDER STATE GUN LAW

Convicted of violating the State gun law, Mike Puppilo, asserted Chicago gangster and one of the three defendants charged with the murder of August Palombo, yesterday was sentenced to serve from one to five years in San Quentin by Judge Wilson. The court granted Puppilo a stay of execution of sentence until the completion of the murder trial, which is scheduled to begin Monday. Motions for an arrest of judgment and a new trial were denied by the court.

Puppilo, asserted to be an unnaturalized alien, was tried on two counts of violating the gun law, which makes it a felony for an alien to possess a gun. Two guns were asserted at the trial to have been found at his place of residence when he was questioned about the Palombo slaying. A jury found him guilty on one count.

With Vito Ardito and Dominic Deciola, Puppilo is charged with the killing of Palombo, asserted bootlegger, last July.

Rites Conducted for John Woody

Funeral services for John Samuel Woody, assistant general sales manager of the Fox Films Corporation, who died the 17th inst. at his home in New York, were conducted yesterday afternoon at Pierce Brothers' chapel, 720 West Washington Boulevard. Temporary interment was in a receiving vault at the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Woody was born in St. Louis thirty-nine years ago. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Lillian Woody; one brother, Oren F. Woody and three sisters, Mrs. Frank M. Berman, Mrs. Royce Ouvery and Mrs. E. Lewis Evans.

Great Britain now has one automobile to every twenty-one people.

RAVAGES OF TERMITES SHOWN

Library Display Tells Tale of Damage

This Once Was a Heavy Pillar

Katherine Eckman looking at a piece of heavy house pillar reduced to a honeycombed fragile mass by pests.

CLOSE-UP views of termites and examples of the damaging work they do are on display at the Los Angeles Public Library, first floor.

The exhibit includes pictures of the pests in their various life stages as well as actual specimens preserved in alcohol. On display also are examples of the ravages they cause. Pieces of once heavy house timbers reduced to a fragile mass of honeycomb-like structure are in the display, as are also many pictures showing houses, books, trees and other articles damaged by the insects.

It is intended by the exhibit to acquaint persons with the insects' appearances and with evidences of their presence, usually unsuspected until serious injury has been done, so that assistance may be obtained and their ravages stopped.

The display bears the warning: "When in doubt call the county horticultural department or the city building department."

Articles in the exhibit were provided by McEverlast Company, Inc., and Scientific Pest Control, both Los Angeles organizations. They are in charge of Helen T. Kennedy of the library.

War Veteran's Tragic End Due to Exhaustion

The story of another post-war tragedy—an ex-soldier who sought surcease from a tortured mind in the Hollywood hills and there lay down to his last rest—yesterday closed the police records in the case of Jack St. Claire, 32 years of age, who once roomed at 1642½ North Cahuenga avenue.

Since his discharge from the Army recruited for World War service, according to a report made by Detective Lieutenants Kynette and Sanderson, St. Claire weakened physically and mentally.

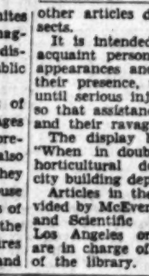
On February 15, last, he disappeared. On the 6th inst., his body was found in the hills. Unidentified at first, it was rumored that he might have been shot, but this theory was disproven by the officers' investigation.

"It is apparent that while wandering in the hills in an unbalanced mental and physical condition he overtaxed his strength and died from exposure or other natural circumstances," they reported.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Laura Krajewske of Cleveland, who directed her brother's funeral arrangements.

Recital of Girl Causes Binding Over of Suspect

Testimony by Leona Laemmel, 422 South Comstock avenue, that Arthur A. Schneider, former salesman for the Victor Adding Machine Company, was a customer at her cafe at 118 Greenleaf street and that he stored there two of the five adding machines which he is accused of stealing, led Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday to order Schneider held for trial by Superior Court on a charge of grand theft.



LEONA LAEMMEL

Schneider also was held on an additional complaint charging him with issuing five checks without sufficient funds, when Dep. Dist.-Atty. Bialock introduced evidence to that effect. The man was arrested in San Francisco, where he was convicted and paroled on bad-check charges. Bail was fixed at $3000.

NEW YORK MAN DIES AFTER ILLNESS HERE

Frederick T. Proctor, 72 years of age, of Utica, N. Y., died yesterday at the California Lutheran Hospital following an illness of two weeks duration. Mr. Proctor was identified with extensive business and civic interests in Utica, was a trustee of St. Luke's Home and Hospital there and a life member of the American Hospital Association. Mrs. Proctor left last night for Utica with the body.

VAST PIPE-LINE PLAN OFFERED

Engineer Describes Gravity Aqueduct System

Economy Angle Set Forth to Water Group

Huge Revenue Possibilities Also Detailed

rate which Los Angeles now pays for its power, the gross annual revenue of $18,204,000 would pay the interest, depreciation, operation, maintenance and the entire principal of $296,000,000 in forty-three years. From the start, on the completion of the aqueduct, the water could be delivered in Los Angeles free with such a power sale. However, he said he feels that water and power each should pay for its share on the aqueduct, and so, with the water selling at 3 cents a 100 cubic feet and power selling for 2 mills a kilowatt hour, the entire project could be paid for in thirty-nine years.

Another feature, he said, is that in a gravity aqueduct it would cost no more to bring in 1500 second feet than 100 feet—just as cheap to run it full as half-full.

AMPLE SUPPLY

"Many years will pass," he said, "before we need the full 1500 second feet for domestic use. When 500 second feet are needed, 1000 second feet will be available to replenish our underground water supply. The surplus aqueduct water, delivered at no additional cost, could be discharged into every dry wash between San Bernardino and Los Angeles. These washes could be turned into perennial streams for thirty years or more. The San Bernardino artesian basin could be kept full and the surplus water would follow the Santa Ana River to replenish the underground water supply in Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties."

The water supply diverted at Bridge Canyon would be of better quality, he said, because below that canyon many mineral springs discharge very bitter water into the river. The gravity route would not be subject to interruption of service because of breakdowns in generators, pumps or water wheels, or transmission lines.

POWER FEATURE

If necessary, he said, the power feature could be left out of his project and the Boulder project used for power, in which event the Boulder dam power would not have to be used in pumping aqueduct water, but could all be put on the market. With the water selling at 3 cents for 100 cubic feet at this end of the aqueduct, without any power revenue, the project could be paid for entirely in forty-three years.

La Rue pointed out that detailed surveys no doubt would bring about changes in the proposed route. He noted, already, since he first evolved the plan five years ago, that a "short cut" in the route could be made via Bull's Head, saving fifty-four miles on the aqueduct. He urged that the plan be turned over to a consulting board of impartial engineers for detailed study and recommendations.

As to the apparently great mileage of tunnel work to be done, La Rue was frank to say that at first it appeared to be an insurmountable obstacle, but when he submitted the matter to competent tunnel engineers and contractors, they viewed the construction work as so elementary that they laughed at any idea that it could not be done within a reasonable cost.

TUNNEL BUILDING

He explained that in building a long tunnel such as contemplated, the work is not done by two crews working from both ends. The work is let out on a number of contracts, shafts are driven down at intervals and crews work both ways from each shaft. The longest interval between shafts would be around fourteen miles. Some fifteen years ago, about fifty miles of tunnel were driven in the construction of the Los Angeles Aqueduct from the Owens Valley. With the great development in machinery and methods, 182 miles of tunneling now is considered entirely feasible.

La Rue cited facts and figures in the construction of the great Shandaken tunnel in the water-supply system for New York City, driven through mountains, and finally culminating in a pressure tunnel eighteen miles long running under the city itself. It is the longest tunnel of any kind in the world.

FLOOD DAM URGED

La Rue also advocated the construction of a small dam on the Little Colorado, to prevent flash floods coming down and destroying coffer dams and other construction work. He also suggested that a power plant be constructed at this dam to furnish power in the construction of the larger dam. This should be done, he said, no matter what route is followed or what dam is built. "It will cost about $1,000,000 for this small dam and power plant, but in my opinion, it will be the best $1,000,000 investment you could make, whichever plan you follow," he said.

In suggesting that this project be turned over to competent, unbiased engineers for study, La Rue said: "Gentlemen, you are charged with the responsibility of providing a water supply to meet the growing demands of the cities of Southern California. What you do will affect the welfare and happiness of millions of people yet unborn. I feel sure that you will not take one step forward until you know where the other foot is going to land. Your decision will determine largely the magnitude of our future growth and the degree of prosperity our Southland shall enjoy during the coming generations."

At the conclusion of the presentation, following several questions, on motion of Director Hutton of Santa Monica, a vote of thanks was tendered to La Rue by the board. It also was directed that the matter be turned over to the board's engineers for study.

Aren't you enjoying the country sausage I suggested last week that you buy at once from any one of the three stores of the Western Sausage Co.? If you have been hunting for sausage made out of government inspected eastern shoulder pork, seasoned to suit the queen's taste, you now know where to go! Just think, there are thirteen different ingredients in the seasoning—so you can depend upon its being the best ever. Go in today for a pound. The addresses are 300½ S. Broadway, 302 S. Hill, and 6400 Hollywood Blvd. A real treat is in store for you when you taste this marvelous sausage!

Mother's Day is May the 12th—don't you think it would be a splendid idea to have your photograph taken for "her"? Why, I can't think of any gift which would give greater pleasure . . . nor one which would make her happier. You should act at once on this suggestion for time is growing short. Go in right away to Witzel's Studio—making your appointment today for a sitting, and the photograph he makes for you we will wager will be the best likeness you ever had for Mr. Witzel is famous for his artistry. His portraits are distinctive and charming. Note these two addresses: 1011 W. 7th street and 6334 Hollywood Blvd.

To Test Colors—Make a strong soap solution and heat it till it is warm, but not hot; rub and squeeze a piece of the material in this for ten minutes; rinse in cold water and leave in the water fifteen minutes; wring out and dry. If color of material is not changed and the water not colored, it is reasonably fast for washing. For a more severe test, add some washing powder to the soap solution.

You will be simply amazed at the transformation to your silver wrought by the Peerless Platers, 239½ S. Spring (upstairs.) They do such fine repairing and replating of old, discarded pieces you thought quite worthless. Prices are ever so small too. Ring them up, why don't you—VAndike 5417 is the number to call.

All spots and stains can be removed much more easily before washing, as washing and boiling only serve to give stains a firmer hold. Fruit, tea and coffee stains are probably the most common; they will usually disappear, when fresh, if the stained portion is placed tightly in embroidery hoops, or held taut over a basin or bowl and hot water poured from a height over and through it.

Have I ever suggested that you take the blind-folded test in trying out Hughes Ice Cream? The wager is made that you can tell Hughes from amongst ten at least for it has that delicious something about it that other ice creams miss—mayhaps it is the fresh fruit juices which you instantly detect—or it may be the pure cream which delights your palate—whatever it is it is mighty fine and makes you buy every time from the near-by dealer who sells Hughes ice cream.

You have a treat sure enough in store for you today! At Mrs. A. M. Walden's Cake and Pastry Shop, 638 South Western avenue, there is going to be a marvelous special of Lady Baltimore Cake and oh so good apple pie. Adjectives fail me in describing the deliciousness of both! Hurry up and get your order in though, won't you?

An enameled tub or bowl can be cleaned, when thoroughly dry, by rubbing it with a cloth which has been dipped in turpentine and salt; afterward wash with clean warm water and wipe dry. Do not scrub with soap as this cracks the enamel. Kerosene and whiting make another excellent cleaner.

Have you ordered as yet a pound or more of Van Bus Kirk's "Karamel Kuts"? Once you try these unusually delicious caramels you will declare them the finest you ever tasted. You see, the very best of creamery butter, pure cream and sugar are used to make them. Why don't you phone in your order now for the desired amount—the address is 5120 3-4 Hollywood Blvd. (Morningside 17876.)

Cheese and Nut Sandwich—Cut slices of whole-wheat bread; spread them with cream cheese and chopped nuts, with butter added, and season well.

The one economical way to make grape juice is to buy Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice and dilute it with four parts water . . . making the finest beverage you ever tasted! You may not have heard as yet about the splendid product put up by our very own Italian Vineyard Company of Guasti, California, where they have 5000 acres of grapes under cultivation which give us the best concentrated grape juice money can buy.

But wait until you taste the cooling drink this Guasti juice makes, and wait until you prepare some of the frozen desserts you can make with it—the directions for which will be found in the booklet known as "Grape Drinks and Desserts," which is mailed or given you free when you send in your order for a quart or gallon of Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice to your grocer. In case he cannot supply you phone or write in to the Italian Vineyard Company, 1248 Palmetto street, Los Angeles, MUtual 2124, and they will very promptly attend to your order. You may think you want only a quart to start with but we make the guess that your very next request is for a gallon at least!

To Clean Black Silk—Brush and wipe it well, lay it on a flat table, right side up, and sponge it with hot coffee which has been strained through muslin; iron when partly dry. Black silk can also be cleaned by sponging dirty spots with water in which potatoes have been boiled.

Ever tried painting unfinished furniture? . . . if you haven't you have missed the greatest sport of your life. You see the simplest article absolutely unadorned, transformed into a stunning piece of furniture at a price which leaves you no end of delight . . . but you must have the best lacquer paint to work with and it is the best only which Mathews Paint Company carry, known as Pratt and Lamberts 61 Lacquer paint. You will find it goes on like a charm and leaves the surface smooth and even as can be. Now jot down won't you, these three addresses of Mathews Paint Co., 1245 S. Hill; Vine and Selma in Hollywood, and 740 E. Green in Pasadena. Try and go in this week if possible that you may have your old or new furniture ready for spring—when it comes!

To set the color in delicately colored handkerchiefs, add a teaspoonful of turpentine to a basin of lukewarm water and soak the handkerchiefs for ten minutes before washing; then wash as usual.

Morton's Iodized Salt is simply splendid for cooking and table purposes, for it pours so easily, being fine yet not so fine that it lumps. You know the slogan of the Morton's Iodized Salt—"When it rains it pours," and certainly no better statement was ever made. Now the iodized salt aside from its other attributes is beneficial to a marked degree. The iodine in it only amounts to .02 per cent—not enough to change the appearance nor yet the taste of the salt, but a sufficient amount to give to us the necessary amount of iodine our systems require. Do try Morton's Iodized Salt when next you order this commodity. It is very, very good, no doubt about it!

Banana Sandwich—Butter thin slices of whole-wheat bread and fill with thin slices of firm bananas, sprinkled with sugar and a few drops of lemon juice. Serve very fresh. Or, use thin-sliced bananas, moistened with mayonnaise.

To Clean Embroidery—Put it in cold water (blued, but not too deep,) and add the juice of a lemon; boil one-half hour, rinse in cold water and dry in the air.

To prevent mauve-colored prints and muslins from fading or running in washing, put a little soda in the water. Soda has just the opposite effect on mauves that it has on other colors.

At the Food Show at the Ambassador Hotel this week, I visited the Ben-Hur Drip Coffee booth, and was very much interested in listening to the comments of hundreds of women who came to be served with a sample of this delicious drip coffee.

One party was telling of having bought a pound of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee and a Hen-Hur Healthful Coffee Maker, going on to say that they had been using another popular brand of coffee for many years past, and while they thought Ben-Hur made very delicious coffee, just from habit on purchasing their next pound they went back to their old brand, thinking it would make just as good coffee as Ben-Hur in the Healthful Coffee Maker. The first morning this coffee was served the husband turned up his nose and asked the maid what was the matter with the coffee—simply miserable. The maid laughed and said: "This is some of the coffee you used to use and liked so well." The husband replied: "For goodness sakes, throw it away and get us another pound of that Ben-Hur Drip Coffee for tomorrow — my breakfast is ruined." The party stated that after trying the coffee once more this is actually what they had to do.

A week's use of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee and the Healthful Coffee Maker gets you accustomed to the delicious flavor of coffee without the bitter, astringent tannic acid, and indigestible, insoluble fats. You are spoiled for improperly prepared boiled or, percolated coffee thereafter. If the public could only be impressed with the advantages from a health standpoint of Ben-Hur Drip Coffee made in the Healthful Coffee Maker, there would only be one brand of coffee sold.

With Ben-Hur Drip Coffee every variety in the blend has been selected not only for delicious flavor, but for a quick releasing characteristic which makes it peculiarly adapted to the healthful filtrition system of making. Every particle of flavor is extracted from the Ben-Hur Drip Coffee when the water is poured once through. Brands of coffee blended for the boiling or percolating method generally have to be boiled to get the strength out of them. Regrinding such brands does not make a Drip Coffee.

I would like to hear the experiences of some of my readers who have tried this coffee on my recommendation. Won't you help me spread the good news that a more delicious and healthful beverage can be made from real coffee by letting me publish a story of the good results you are having.

You may not have known the following news before, but wait until we tell you again that you can actually operate an electrical refrigerator for $1.50 a month—think of it—or even less in some instances! . . . Is not that news of the best sort for you and "that ain't all"—to say in the vernacular—you may buy an electrical refrigerator exactly the way you do a radio . . . a little down and the rest in convenient monthly terms. Wonderful news, and just what we want to hear for where is there a woman in all this town and the ones adjoining who doesn't crave refrigeration which is electrical? It's the modern labor-saving method and it is but right she should have it!

There are many standard makes of electrical boxes—all will be shown and demonstrated to you without any obligation in the basement of the Bureau of Power and Light, at 2nd and Broadway. Let us show our appreciation for the low rates on electrical appliances which the Bureau has made possible, by going in this coming week and hearing about as well as seeing these electrical refrigerators.

Who wants to be too fat . . . it makes you uncomfortable and besides it isn't smart to be too large—but how to reduce easily do you ask and I hasten to answer, by means of Basy Bread which you know is sold by Youngs Market Company—corner of 7th and Union.

You eat a slice of Basy Bread with each meal—taking care not to eat any other kind of bread at the same repast. Indeed if you eat Basy Bread the Basy way there is every reason to believe you will lose two pounds a week . . . think of it! Now may we not urge you to write in or phone Youngs Market Co., right away for a loaf of this truly remarkable bread? Asking at the same time for one of the instructive leaflets telling you all about Basy Bread and what it will do for you. The telephone number is DUnkirk 2201. You will always be glad to find out about Basy Bread, of that there is no doubt.

BOUQUET SENT LONDONERS

Mrs. Hoyt's Collection of California Flora Will be Housed in Seperate Tent at Chelsea Show

Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, State chairman of the conservation committee of the Garden Club of America, who is en route to England with a complete exhibit of specimens of California flora, will arrive in London on May 1, Mrs. Hoyt stated in a radio message sent from the Berengaria to friends here yesterday

The birds, reptiles and animals which Mrs. Hoyt intended to exhibit at the Chelsea show of the Royal Horticultural Society of England cannot be entered in the show, Mrs. Hoyt radioed. They will be given to the Royal Geological Society of England when the boat docks.

A special tent has been erected at the Chelsea show, however, to accommodate the large redwood trunks, shrubs from the redwood forests, ferns, varieties of redwood bark, small redwood trees, a collection of Death Valley sands and minerals, more than 100 desert plants and a number of cacti which Mrs. Hoyt is taking across the Atlantic to give the English a first-hand view of some of California's most interesting flora.

The California exhibit was taken to Boston early last month by Mrs. Hoyt and shown at the annual flower show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. It then was transferred to the Berengaria for the trip to England.

The London showing of California's redwoods and desert plant life will mark the first time Europeans have been offered a chance to view California's novel growths, it was pointed out by friends of Mrs. Hoyt yesterday.

The wild flower exhibit, including a majority of the flowers native to California, will be displayed in conjunction with the redwood exhibit and will be set off by a background of the redwood big trees of Richardson's Grove painted by Perry McNeely, head of the State exhibit department in Exposition Park. Mr. McNeely also has prepared a painted background for the desert display.

Fifteen men were required to prepare Mrs. Hoyt's exhibits. It took several months to collect the material she is taking to England.

International recognition for Mrs. Hoyt's activities in horticultural fields was accorded her when she won the international gold medal and the special medal of the Garden Club of America for a desert exhibit which she took east last year.

VORKAPICH BABY BORN

Birth of a baby daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Slavko Vorkapich at St. Vincent's Hospital Thursday afternoon, was announced yesterday. Vorkapich is a Slav painter and creator of the picture, "Hollywood Extra 9413," that won him a position as technical adviser with Paramount studios when the production, filmed with a toy camera on his kitchen table, was shown. Mrs. Vorkapich formerly was Miss Denyze Sentous, prominent in Santa Barbara society.

Today's Bible Text

Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon Him while He is near. Isa. lv:6.

ITCH FOR WAR

War is as old as human nature, but human nature is changing. It is not so relentless in its dislikes.

NO TIME AT ALL

Tom Jefferson was right. A man who never loses any time wouldn't waste time in complaining of want of time.

MAKING UP

When the modern maiden has a miff with her man is doesn't take her long to make up. Just a couple of dabs with her powder rag and a second helping from her lipstick and there she is!

MOIST TRESPASS

A Hollywood bootlegger was fined $2300 or 500 days in jail by an Artesia justice. There is no chance for the juices of Hollywood to impair the purity of the beverage that makes Artesia famous.

THE BIG AUDIENCE

It is now mentioned that the theaters of the world provide a weekly audience of 250,000,000 souls for the movies. Our studios have the greatest approach to universal mankind that the imagination could conceive. Even the radio is not as wide and convincing.

ON BUNKER HILL

The only way to raze Bunker Hill is to lower it and once more this great adventure is under way—at least to the extent of $40,000,000. There have been several battles of Bunker Hill and there may be another before all the interested property owners are signed up. But it is a sensational project and one that would hardly be attempted in any other day or age. There will be lots of enthusiasm in the old town the moment it is assured.

TALKATIVE MALES

Woman gets a divorce because the husband talked so much and so fast that she could hardly get in a word. If it had been the other way 'round there might not have been a divorce as even courts will recognize the right of the woman to monopolize speech in the home. If the lady cannot get in her verbal oar she is justified in walking out on her man at any hour of the day or night. A husband that talks all the time should be fed to the lions.

THIS FREEDOM

The big trouble with America is that we are too tender with our toughs. In his latest public utterance President Hoover expressed the thought in the assertion that the sympathetic mind of the American people has swung too far from the family of the murdered to the family of the murderer. We not only give our criminals the benefit of all the doubts, but we endow them with the freedom of the streets rather than the grim restraint of our jails. We must go into reverse.

THE GOOD-WILL SPIRIT

In his statement of America's attitude before the arms conference at Geneva Ambassador Gibson declared that the only way to consider disarmament is on the basis that as nations we are to be friends, not foes. That's the spirit that lives in the Kellogg treaties. With the technicians and militarists in charge the meetings would be the haggling of prospective enemies rather than the amiable concessions of neighbors and friends. In our dealings with other peoples we must gradually replace suspicion with confidence.

THE LONDON COPS

About once in a century the uniforms of the London police are changed. This is to be the year of the new deal and the familiar figure with the bell helmet and the long tight coat will disappear from the picture. The new bobby will have a snappy military cap with shining visor and a trim military blouse. His deadliest weapon will be an electric flashlight, which he may use on occasion for burrowing in the London fog. Whether the ancient Britons will take kindly to the innovation is another question. They may think their national defense is gone when they behold this new figure on the corner.

AMERICAN NEWS ABROAD

Suggestions for a plan to remedy the slanderous misrepresentation of the United States in the press of many sections of the world have been laid before the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association at the successive conventions of those organizations in New York. Such slanderous misrepresentation exists; virtually all the so-called American news offered to publishers in many countries consists of sensational accounts of crimes and scandals, reports of racketeerings and bombings, and the like, with little or no information of the constructive activities of the nation.

The picture thus gathered by foreign readers of the people of this country is far from attractive, and it is no wonder that dislike and distrust of the United States have been engendered—a feeling which may have serious consequences for the peace of the world. Foreign politicians, who, like politicians everywhere, are not slow to seize upon anything they may turn to personal use without regard to the consequences to others, take full advantage of this situation to enhance this dislike and distrust. It has its effect also in the commercial world.

It does not appear that, in the main, the foreign publishers are much at fault. A leading newspaper man of Melbourne, after a visit to the United States, recently expressed emphatic surprise and disgust with the character of American news offered to his paper; similar complaints have come from the Orient, and returning travelers from Russia tell the same story. It may be too much to say that the foreign news-gathering organizations are staffed with anti-American propagandists; but the effect is much the same as if they were.

Up to recent times, the same situation obtained in South America; but the extension of Associated Press service to South American countries, which formerly obtained all their news of the United States through prejudiced foreign sources, has largely operated as a cure. The improvement in relations between the United States and Latin-American countries in the past few years is without doubt traceable to this cause, at least in considerable part.

It is not that there should be anything remotely resembling a censorship. A censorship always defeats its own object by giving the impression that there is something to hide. The best way to combat poisonous propaganda is to offset it with the truth.

The plan spoken of above was advanced at a recent meeting of Pacific Coast members of the Associated Press, which passed a resolution favoring a direct exchange with Australian papers of Associated Press news for news of their own country. Such a scheme evidently is capable of extension to other countries. Crime news would not be excluded from such an exchange, but would be given only in its proper perspective.

Probably such a service could be furnished most easily and cheaply by radio, which has been proved practicable for long-distance communication in countless ways—one of the most striking being the manner in which Commander Byrd's South Polar expedition is being kept in touch with the rest of the world. Something like an international radio commission to allocate the necessary wave lengths might be found necessary to bring this about. But the manner of dissemination is not so important as the dissemination itself.

As a means for bringing about better understanding and hence better relations between the peoples of the world, the importance of a bettered reciprocal news service can hardly be exaggerated. The constructive and forward-looking activities in the United States so far outweigh the destructive—even though it be admitted, as President Hoover admitted, that there is much criminality in the United States—that if both were presented in their real proportions, the efforts of anti-American propagandists would be completely overcome.

JUDGE HARDY ACQUITTED

The State Senate, by a varying vote in no case near to conviction, has acquitted Judge Hardy of all the charges against him. The acquittal, of course, means that he remains on the bench for the remainder of his term unless he should choose voluntarily to retire. The term for which he was elected expires next year.

It seems to have been established that Judge Hardy had no corrupt intent, and while the circumstances were peculiar, and his conduct in some instances perhaps unethical, there was nothing which, in the view of the Senate majority, really justified such a drastic step as removal.

The whole case is an illustration, however, of the principle that no judge can be too careful, not only of his conduct while on the bench, but of his conduct off it, and that those judicial officers fare best in public esteem who avoid even the appearance of irregularity.

It is to be hoped that one result from the acquittal will be the final shelving of the McPherson case and all the details of that affair with which the public is so wearily familiar. There are more important matters to occupy public attention. In fact, the question of where the evangelist was while she was lost to public view never was of any great moment, though a good deal of public time and money were spent in trying to answer it. At least there need be no more wasted in that way.

VISITORS FROM BOSTON

The Boston Chamber of Commerce will shortly pay a visit to Los Angeles and look the town over. These social exchanges are to be commended and it would do our business men good to make a journey to New England and view the scene of our first national tea party. It is by rubbing elbows with one another that the land becomes fully Americanized.

LONG-DISTANCE WALTZ

An old-time pianist in Vienna played the ancient but popular Blue Danube waltz for eighty consecutive hours without stopping. He says that he has always been able to play in his sleep and this faculty made his stunt more simple. But who wants to listen to a waltz a week long? Maybe he wore earmuffs to spare his own sensibilities.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

YOU might think, from a passing glance, that La Habra is the last spot in which one could find romance. Yet John Breckenridge Ellis, Missouri novelist, who spends his winters in La Habra, seems to have found plenty of it there. His latest book, "The Mysterious Dr. Oliver," is laid there and in Long Beach, and the publishers announce that it is so romantic and mysterious that they expect it to be more popular than any of Ellis's other novels, though he has written three "best sellers" in the past, and six or seven of his novels have been dramatized or screened.

Our Proudest Heritage

As to mystery, we used to think there was a good deal of that about La Habra. We'd never stopped there, but, hurrying through, it seemed to us a mystery that anyone should want to live there. But we visited the town the other day, and now we understand. What mainly makes a town is the people in it, and La Habra is neighborly, kindly and sweet. "It's a town in which no one can be a stranger," Ellis told us. "Our town in Missouri is famous for its old-fashioned southern hospitality. Yet we came here strangers, and neighborly kindnesses were showered on us such as one could expect only from his closest friends and relatives back East."

We told him of our friend down in De Luz, who avers that Southern California's finest spirit did not come from the pioneers or the '49ers, but from those who came afterward, before citrus groves and irrigation and prosperity were here, when we had only climate. "Whole families came," he says, "because one member had to be here for health's sake, unselfishly enduring hardships and struggles, and getting in the habit of helping each other in this sparsely settled country. That helpful, co-operative spirit is what has made Southern California grow so great."

Ellis agreed that that sounded logical. "For certainly," he said, "we have found that spirit wonderfully prevalent in Southern California."

No Foolin'

They were having a merry social at the Methodist Church in La Habra the other night when the minister cried, jestingly: "Well, now, if anyone wants to be married, just step up." Immediately a young couple stepped forward, and the crowd laughed. That was playing the game and made it the minister's next move. Not to be outfaced, he proceeded in his best ministerial style, until both had said "I do." Then, while mock congratulations were being pressed on the young couple, the young man said: "Thanks, awfully, parson. We just got our license in Santa Ana about two hours ago and were driving along, not knowing just where we'd get married. We stopped at your house, but they said you were here, so we came right on over. But we never expected to have so many witnesses."

Local Records Imperiled

A Hollywood cynic thinks Harry Sinclair's money may keep him out of jail a long time. In fact, he may even get as many delays as Marco.

Putting on Dog

First prize for distinguished consideration of man's best friend goes to C. E. Peck of Corona, to whom our attention is called by the Corona Independent. Peck's dog was struck by a motor car and its hind quarters crushed so that they were paralyzed. But otherwise the dog was all right, so when veterinarian skill could do no more Peck had a little platform on rollers constructed to fit under the helpless end of the dog's anatomy. Now doggie patters and coasts about town, apparently as gay as and certainly more distinguished than ever before.

Inexorable Laws

G. B. writes us that Japan is by no means the only place in which the Diet makes the laws. The same rule, he avers, applies in many of the households of Pasadena.

Getting Epidemic

While the Legislature is in session, shouldn't it consider the advisability of a law limiting the number of new historic community pageants which may be added to the already lengthy list to, say, twenty a year? The pageant writers are manufacturing history at such a rate that nobody can hope to keep up with all of it.

BOYS' WEEK

Every dog has his day; but the dog's master is to have a whole week beginning April 29. The Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches will unite. The boy is the tie that binds.

On Monday the central and branch libraries of the city will serve youth as never before. Boys' stories will be featured and the dreams of youth will be multiplied. Incidentally these flocks of human question marks will be refueled for continued flight.

One hundred and eighty-two boys will "fill" Federal, State, county and city offices. The boy as future citizen will sprout his wings. Youth is usually more just than age and it may be well to have some of the trying cases, that have been hanging fire, on the docket that day. Factories, stores and banks will be open for these young interrogation points to enter.

The greatest father-and-son gathering ever staged on the Coast will feature Wednesday in the Shrine Auditorium. Various organizations of men and boys in school, service club and civic body are affiliated in the demonstration. The big auditorium will be packed with boys and every boy will have his dad.

The unification of religious bodies stands out as a by-product. The boys are bringing the world together. They do not know the prejudices of their forebears. They play with boys of other faiths and find them to be both human and humane.

The boy is no longer a second-table affair. Nor is he a hand-me-down in clothes as in olden days. Youth now has precedence. He is served first. Nor is he endured as a necessary nuisance. His energies are harnessed to his dreams. He begins to feel his future. No longer brushed aside for being in the way, he is the main show. It may make him a trifle cocky at times; but realities crowd upon him soon enough and grind him into the ruts.

This is the boy's day—and week—and age. Now he has something to do beside acquire bad habits. The boy will soon be man.

DRYING UP DIPLOMACY

It is difficult for a full-blooded American to understand a diplomacy that comes to this country, sets up its legation and then proceeds to flaunt the Constitution. It is not a diplomacy that commends itself highly.

Taking advantage of the protection of international enactments for legations openly and brazenly to break the laws of any land is not the part of good judgment, much less astute diplomacy. What other nation would permit Uncle Sam to do the same on foreign soil?

Comes now an announcement that a bill is being introduced in Congress looking toward drying up foreign diplomacy.

In itself this may prove to be the best diplomacy. Liquor is reputed to loosen the tongue. More than one state secret has been spilled at a diplomatic banquet. A sober ministry from a foreign power may be the best protection of amicable relations. International squabbles doubtless have been started by hotheads superheated by drink. Drunken nations, like drunken individuals, more easily pick quarrels. Tongues lose their diplomacy when set on hair triggers by alcohol. World peace is safer in the hands of sober legations.

Even though international law defends a foreign government in establishing a law-breaking center in the capital of another country, at least common courtesy ought to dictate consideration. When the President of this republic is definitely committed to the dry regime, it ought to be sufficient for representatives from abroad to acquiesce to our customs. Anything less is insult.

Dry diplomacy is better than drink diplomacy. Bootleg diplomacy need have no terrors for America. A law looking after these little damp spots, instead of creating international complications, may save us from them. Why should our lawmakers stand being splattered over from these mud puddles in the capital? If names mean anything, most of the bootleggers of the country are foreigners. They should have no refuge in Washington.

When in Washington, let the world do as Washington does!

SAME THING

Coleridge said that silence does not always mean wisdom but Coolidge proves that it frequently does.

NOT SO BAD

At that some men are in bad company when they are alone.

THE FROGS
By James J. Montague

When little frogs divest themselves
Of floppy fins and tails
And hop along like tiny elves
Among the mossy vales
The violets twinkle all about,
The wrens and robins sing,
And past the shadow of a doubt
The sun has brought the spring.
And so all day and half the night
They tell the world of their delight.

When little frogs are bigger frogs,
And summer has begun
They sit and gloom on fallen logs
Beneath the burning sun,
Or further out across the pond
With sleepy half-closed eyes
They perch upon a lily frond
To snap at fleeting flies.
But when soft twilight comes along
They join together in a song.

But when the leaves come tumbling down
Like fish in scurrying schools
To fleck with flakes of gold and brown
The waters of the pools,
Half hid along the water's edge
The frogs repose all day
To sound from sheltering rush or sedge
A deep and mournful lay.
And like a bell that sadly tolls
They croak the sorrow of their souls.

LETTERS TO The Times

Generally Approved

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The letter which appeared in The Times dated April 15 and written by Christine Sterling has certainly given expression to me and many other school children's parents.

In the first place I believe that many times the abilities of the children are entirely overestimated. They are given at times as many as forty mathematical problems to solve in addition to their other studies, and if the work is not handed in on time they receive no credit for them. In order to finish such an amount of school work they must sit up almost until midnight when they should be in bed by at least 9 o'clock. In the long run this will undermine their health. But what good is a trained mind in a diseased body?

Another thing to be taken into consideration is that children who are taking music, dancing, or who are in some other activity outside of school, must put in their practice in the afternoon after school, leaving the child tied down, not only in the evening, but also during the day, leaving no time for recreation of any sort.

Demand for Action

HOLLYWOOD, April 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is certainly gratifying to a mother to learn that justice comes to the front sooner or later. I am safe in saying that all mothers feel as I do that immediate action should be taken to abolish home work for our little boys and girls. In keeping with the swift age we are passing through they are crowding our children with studies to the extent that three-quarters of them are nervous wrecks.

Another grave mistake is the Junior High, allowing our boys and girls at an age several years too young to enter into the advanced stages of education.

Something must be done and I am sure it will if given a fair consideration.

RUBY MARSHALL.

Law Observance

LOS ANGELES, April 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As a subscriber to your highly valued paper, I want to congratulate you upon the editorial in today's Times on "The Duty of the Press."

When the papers of this country, generally, awaken to the need of holding law observance before the people, the bootleggers and hi-jackers will go out of business automatically, because there will be no business fo. them.

You are making a wonderful start and I hope and believe you will continue your splendid efforts.

Other Thousands

LOS ANGELES, April 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I should like to enlighten L. E. E. about this alimony business. He only reads a few cases of women getting alimony, but I am one of the many thousands who get nothing, although it was not I, but my husband, who wanted the good times. There are many of us who do not care to live with a "sporty" man and I really think a girl gets the worst of it. She gives up a good position thinking more of love than material things and suddenly finds herself disillusioned and has nothing but a heartache and sometimes is in a poor physical state besides, so what is she going to do? There are thousands of nice girls who want a home and real honest-to-goodness love, so please do not judge all by a few. R. N.

WHERE CAN I LEARN Upholstery?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

The development of the idea of comfortable seats can be traced from the linen cushions on the crude chairs and couches of the ancient Egyptians. The modern davenport, with its rich brocade or velvet covering, is the crowning achievement of centuries of striving after comfort in furniture.

The art of furniture upholstery is taught at Lincoln Evening High School, 3625 North Broadway. The instructor is Alexander Mackenzie, a practical upholsterer of many years' experience. Under his direction students learn all the phases of the art, and produce for their own use or for sale, easy chairs, rockers, cogswell chairs, davenports and other sorts of upholstered furniture.

The work is carried on in the same way as in the better class of custom shops, and students completing this course are able to enter the trade without the long period of adjustment so often necessary. There is no charge for instruction, and students wishing to enroll may phone CApitol 4920, or come to the class on Monday or Wednesday evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

It has always been plain to me that a sacrament serves the interests of the church administering it, but it has never been so plain that it serves the interests of the men and women receiving it.—[Rev. John Haynes Holmes.

HE WHO GETS SLAPPED

BY ALMA WHITAKER

The youthful male of the species whom we are honoring next week is just lumped into a two-inch paragraph in Roget's Thesaurus—along with "man, gentleman, sir, master, ashib, yeoman, wight, swain, fellow, chap, blade, beau, husband (married man,) Mr., mister, boy (youth,) male, he, masculine, manly, virile; unwomanly; unfeminine."

He gets another little innings under "youth" . . . as juvenile, junior, the rising generation, green, callow, budding, sappy, beardless, unfledged, etc., and again under "infant" . . . as kid, bairn, brat, chit, urchin, whipper-snapper, stripling, cadet, minor, master, colt, pup, tadpole."

"Adolescence," however, really proves the most complimentary heading, with "majority, adultism, manhood, maturity, ripe, flower of age, spring of life, man's estate, years of discretion, grown-up, marriageable, etc."

We can see for ourselves what a time the dear fellow must have deciding which appellation fits him best these days. He is inclined toward those "years of discretion" himself, except that parents and profs offer so little encouragement.

He is a little uncertain as to whether he really approves of this Boy Week idea. It makes a fellow so darn conspicuous, with the authentic grown-ups a bit smug and jocular, or most alarmingly psychologically serious. They seem to be playing a game at his expense. He hopes it really is for his benefit. He's a nice chap, and would not publicly doubt the righteousness and sincerity of these Boy Week stunts . . . prefers to think the grown-ups mean well and all that, but it's the very dickens to be nobody in particular for fifty-one weeks and then a stylish poppy show for one.

Of course it's up to him to be a good sport, generous, manly, loyal and all that . . . but it is just about 1 per cent of him that comes in for the super-boosting—the while the other 99 per cent have a sense of being neither one thing nor the other. That is to say they are sort of in the celebrations but not of them. It's all very well for the chosen elect who temporarily play—act as mayors, chiefs of the police, sheriffs, etc., or high-school principals, profs, deans, etc. . . . but after all if one has to be bossed around, one prefers a bona fide grown-up that is anyway supposed to know his job, and can conscientiously be regarded as "the enemy" on occasion.

So while the 1 per cent gets at least the sensations of those fancy words "majority, manhood, man's estate, years of discretion," the 99 per cent is quite apt to ponder on such words as "whipper-snapper," "pup" and even "tadpole" and regard Boy Week with considerable misgivings.

You see, about his age, a fellow begins to feel all sorts of individual stirrings, and to become a bit exclusive. Sure, he likes to be one of a "gang," but to his mind his gang is superior in so many ways that grown-ups don't understand. It's all right to be patronized in school and college, or even by ma and pa . . . but being jocularly, smugly patronized by organized publicity is a bit baffling, the more so the more complimentary it is. It makes a fellow feel so self-conscious, and frequently just silly. And the speeches . . . gee, what a lot of flapdoodle grown-ups can gush about boys in Boy Week speeches! One can excuse the women orators, they can't be expected to know what they are talking about, but when a male orator, who was once a boy himself, gets slushy and blurby, it's an awful test of self-restraint for the youthful male audience.

Even father, who is a fairly reasonable being for the rest of the year, can wax sort of weird during Boy Week. It is quite awful when mother takes the thing seriously—but thank heaven, she is usually content to josh a fellow a bit.

However, Boy Week is one of the things you have to see through as gallantly as you can—the grown-ups would be so disappointed if one didn't. They seem to get such a kick out of it.

KITCHEN-SINK SCIENCE

The housewife is often inclined to ask why kitchen sinks should be so low as to compel stooping, or closet shelves so high as to compel standing on a chair to reach them. All this may not be changed immediately—reforms move slowly—but there is a chance for change in the announcement that the American Home Economics Association, with 9000 member teachers of home economics and other experts, has been admitted to the Standards Council of the American Standards Association, where its members may co-operate with the representatives of engineering societies, the industrial organizations and the government bureaus forming that body.

Dr. Margaret M. Justin, president of the association, points out how the study of standards may aid the housewife. It may help to determine the best arrangements of kitchen utilities to save steps, the proper height, placing and design of stoves, sinks, tables and stools, the best types of cooking utensils, knives, brooms and brushes. It should aid in directing purchases, as large industrial companies and government services are aided by exact information.

Within the past few years economy as well as efficiency has been served by reducing the number and improving the design of standardized tools. Now the home maker is to have this benefit in regard to types of refrigerators, sheets and blankets, kitchen utilities and textiles needed for daily use. Such work, we are told, is being done already in twenty countries, with Germany, Russia, Czecho-Slovakia and Sweden leading the way. It was quite time we followed suit.—[New York World.

SPRING CLEAN-UP

Spring comes with all its glad array of lovely sights and sounds and guod mes[s] around and say, "We'll have to straighten up our grounds a[fter] Nature's making all things shine, which in her jurisdiction lie, we'll surely have to get busy line, and make the winter's ruin bish fly. If such there be, go mark him well, he lacks all pride, his head is sore, and all his frailties will tell, at evenings, in the Front store. When spring arrives the world's renewed, everything seems fresh and sweet, and men with wives pride imbued will make their homes look trim and neat. They'll rake the rentas from the sod and put new gravel on the path, and polish up the lawning rod, and give the place needed bath. They'll blow themselves for standard paint, seed oil of proper tang, then with colors queer and quaint, they'll beautify the whole shebang. Since Old Dame Nature does her part to make the world so bright and fair, ur to toilers in the mart share.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy

Author of "Tell Your Troubles to Hamstra"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him at the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

HOW TO USE STARCHES

Every diet contains as much starch as I believe any one should use unless to remain in good health.

Those who have followed this series of articles have been waiting to see when I would prescribe starchy foods. I do not believe that starchy foods are ever necessary in the diet, nevertheless, I know that so many are fond of starchy foods and will insist on using them whether or not I recommend them.

When starchy foods are used it is best to use either those which contain the least amount of starch or to use those starches which are rich in other food elements such as protein, organic salts, vitamins. The potato and Hubbard squash are two foods containing a low amount of starch of the so-called "starchy" variety.

WAYS TO USE GRAINS

Of the other starchy foods the grains, or foods made of grains. In my opinion, it is best to use denatured flour after all of the bran and germ has been removed. You can get cereals and whole grain flours at any store. The wholewheat flour is best used for mush, or the coarse wholewheat flour for muffins.

Cereals should be cooked and not overprocessed and should be used in preference to the denatured kind. Oatmeal makes an excellent mush, and may be used for making muffins.

Another way to use oatmeal is to cook it as a mush. There are excellent brands of rolled or cut oats on the market, and it has been the custom to refine them. Rolled oats are made from the whole grain afterthey are passed between rollers with heavy pressure.

In addition to these points, I would suggest the best starchy foods to use are potatoes, Hubbard squash, muffins from wholewheat or graham flour, oatmeal, stewed corn, or hominy in the cob in season.

Now let us see just how are you to add starchy foods to your diet?

STARCH COMBINATIONS

Fruit, toast and stewed fruit may be changed slightly, using wholewheat muffins for toast, or using only one egg and a small amount of wholewheat flour.

For the noon meal, if you have used any starchy food at breakfast, you could try using a baked potato or baked Hubbard squash along with the nonstarchy vegetables.

Starches should be used with the evening meal, which should also be kept as a "protein" meal with all starches should be omitted.

It is best to leave out even these starches if there is any tendency to overweight, to catarrhal disorders, tuberculosis, or any disease where starches should be omitted.

I shall start with one of these menus and additions with tomorrow's menu, and look for the last article in this series, which will be published Monday and which will contain a general regime for you to follow afterward.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Muscle Jerk

Question: J. G. C. asks: "Will you please tell me that causes a twitching of my arm and leg? It seems to be a muscle that jerks. It started with my arm but has gone to my side. Can it be stopped?

Answer: You need a good diagnosis of your case to determine what is causing the muscles to jerk. If the side now being affected is on the same side as the arm and leg which jerk, it may be due to a brain tumor or some other cerebral irritation.

Frog Legs

Q.: J. H. W. writes: "I recently heard of a case of stomach trouble that was cured by eating frog meat. I would like to have your views on this subject of feeding stomach cases with frog meat."

A.: Frog legs are a remarkably good form of protein easily digested and nourishing, but I do not believe they are of any special benefit in overcoming cases of stomach trouble.

Cataract

Q.: Mrs. W. writes: "I would like to know if there is any treatment that will restore cataract eyes."

A.: It is sometimes possible to stop the formation of cataracts through adopting hygienic ways of living, but this is usually not advisable after the cataract has really started. It is generally better to let the growth continue until it reaches a size where it can all be removed by a skillful surgeon. There is a fair percentage of good results from these operations. It is often necessary to remove the entire lens of the eye, but wearing glasses with heavy lenses will substitute for the one removed so that often a patient can see just about as well as before the cataract started to grow.

Man Hangs Self in Home Garage; Nerves Blamed

J. C. Kuhlekamp, 55 years of age, of 403 West Fiftieth street, hanged himself yesterday in a garage at the rear of his home. He put a rope over a rafter, adjusted the noose around his neck and jumped from a stepladder. The suicide was discovered by Mrs. V. Yohn of 405½ West Fiftieth street, when she went into the adjoining yard. Detective Lieutenant Holt, who reported the suicide, found the man had left the following note to his wife:

"Mother, Dear, Oh what a fool I have been. I've made a failure of my life. My policy will take care of you. Sell all. My back and nerves are too much for me. Goodby."

Kuhlekamp leaves, besides his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Emerson of La Crescenta, and Mrs. A. Long of Whittier, and a son in Ohio.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

FLIES STILL A MENACE TO BABY'S HEALTH IN SUMMER

The fly season begins early. The weather warms up and we notice a fly buzzing about. That is the time to put in the screens before the fly brings all his relations to make your home his camping ground for the summer.

People get used to flies. They get used to seeing them crawl all over the food on the table, the baby's face, the refuse in the kitchen. It is the fact that we get used to flies, so that they seem more of a discomfort than a health menace, that is the real danger. Where there are children the danger is exaggerated. Flies are well-known carriers of filth. They are in no way particular where they drop this filth, and food which has been contaminated by them is both unfit from an esthetic standpoint to be put into anyone's mouth and a frequent couse of disastrous illneases to the baby and small child.

We should feel horror when we see a fly walking on baby's face or hands, not only because the baby is made so miserably uncomfortable by it, but because of the dirt and germs which cling to the fly and are dropped wherever he alights.

IT'S AN OLD STORY

I am conscious as I write of how many, many times this has been said. And yet we still have flies, they are still dirty flies, and in some neighborhoods they make life almost a torture to small babies. Evidently one must keep on saying this until homes at least are kept free from flies with the same thoroughness with which we battle dirt in any form.

If one can't afford screens, one can always manage cotton netting tacked on securely. All of the known methods of keeping an interior free from flies should be applied vigorously every day in the summer. Food must always be kept covered. Baby's crib or buggy should have its own netting, which is slipped over it during nap periods.

DARKEN HOUSE ONCE A DAY

If the house is darkened once a day and all the blinds drawn down tightly the flies will flock to any open bright spot. If this bright spot is the door, the screen can be opened and the flies shooed out. Then the depleted army can be more easily extinguished.

The odor of food draws flies so that the kitchen needs screens without a tear. Garbage draws flies, so that the garbage should be wrapped in paper or covered securely when put into pails.

Soiled diapers should be kept in covered pails until ready to wash.

Simple, trite warnings, these. The careful housewife knows them all; she does them, because she hates a fly even if she knows nothing of his menace to her baby's good health. It is the mother who believes that flies are an evil which are an unavoidable part of summer, and who makes only feeble efforts to get rid of them, who should heed these warnings.

Sand Kicks Up More Trouble

An appeal to City Attorney Stephens on the problem of what to do about sand on the seashore at Point Fermin in front of the property of H. J. Pinney, one of a number of landowners who sued the city during the fill which made Cabrillo Beach, has been made by the Playground and Recreation Commission, following complaint made by Edward R. Young, attorney for Pinney.

The property owners won an injunction suit a year ago to stop the fill in front of their holdings, and the playground and recreation department constructed a sea wall at the foot of Fortieth street to control the sands. The sea wall broke and the sands again caused complaint.

GUIDING YOUR CHILD

THE OTHER EXTREME

By Mrs. Agnes Lyne

Betty's mother spoke with unconscious fervor:

"I want Betty always to remember her birthday as a day when she had everything her heart desired. My own mother never planned any nice birthdays for me and I want Betty's to make her feel that being a birthday child is a gay and important business.

"Her birthday comes the end of this month and, of course, she is going to have a grand party. I've gotten some of her presents already, a set of unbreakable tea things, a little rubber apron to wear when she does her dishwashing, a miniature dish mop, and best of all, a marvelous electric stove that really works.

"It has an oven and kettles and pans. The woman who sold it to me says Betty actually will be able to bake all sorts of things in the oven. Now I must find her a doll bed and a baby doll, with clothes that she can take off and put on. And I wonder whether she wouldn't enjoy one of those laundry sets, too?"

I believe Betty's mother stopped at this point simply because she ran out of ideas.

One wonders whether Betty's birthdays, celebrated in such heroic manner, will succeed in providing the bliss at the moment and the pleasure in retrospect for which her mother hopes. Because she was starved for festivity and gifts and limelight, her little daughter is on the way to being surfeited with them.

The end result in character is likely to be more unfortunate in Betty's case than in her mother's. For while her mother was hurt and deprived, Betty is likely to become spoiled and selfish.

In correcting the mistakes made by our own parents, unless we use the head as well as the heart, we will succeed only in making blunders even more serious than theirs.

DELAY WON IN TRIAL OF BOB SHULER

Pastor Will Face Court Monday on Accusation of Libeling Catholic Order

On motion of Defense Attorney Paul D'Orr, trial of the Rev. R. P. (Bob) Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, charged with criminally libeling the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus, was set over until 10 a.m. Monday, when the case was called in Municipal Judge Pope's court yesterday.

Attorney D'Orr told the court he had another case in Superior Court yesterday morning that would interfere with the Shuler trial and asked that the matter be put over until yesterday afternoon. It developed that Judge Pope also had a short case yet to try and it thus was decided to postpone the pastor's trial.

Shuler appeared in court with a large number of his followers. Deputy City Prosecutor Paul Hornaday and Special Prosecutor Cannon also were on hand and declared themselves ready to proceed immediately with the trial.

Bids Requested for State Game Farm Buildings

The State Department of Public Works yesterday called for contractors' bids for the erection of buildings at the State Game Farm, Chino. The buildings include married help's quarters, single help's quarters and an incubator house. All are to be of wood-frame and stucco construction, single story, concrete foundations and shingle roofs, with a total floor area of approximately 3100 feet.

Bids must reach the State Architect, Sacramento, by May 14, next. Plans and specifications are on file here at Room 1025, Associated Realty Building. These plans and specifications may be obtained by direct application to the Division of Architecture, accompanied by a deposit of $25 for the set. Bids will be opened and read on May 14, after the 2 p.m. closing limit.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 1:30 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BREADED HAM CUTLETS

Remove the fat from a thick slice of ham and cut in pieces for serving, if too salt, cover with lukewarm water and let stand for thirty minutes, drain, wipe and dip the pieces into flour, then beaten egg, and then in sifted soft bread crumbs, place in a hot saute pan the fat that has been removed from the ham; fry it out, place the breaded cutlets in the fat and allow to brown slowly on both sides. Make a white sauce of two tablespoonfuls of butter, one and one-half tablespoonfuls of flour, and one cupful of milk, pour this over the ham, place in the oven and bake until tender.

STRAWBERRY COTTAGE PUDDING

Beat two tablespoonfuls of butter to a cream with one-third of a cupful of sugar, add one well-beaten egg, and beat until smooth, sift one cupful of sifted flour with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and a few grains of salt, add the flour to the butter mixture with a half a cupful of milk and beat smooth. Pour into a floured and butter column tin, and bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes; turn out on a platter, remove the center, and fill with mashed strawberries to which sugar has been added. Serve with a whipped cream sauce.

WHIPPED CREAM SAUCE

Beat the white of one egg until foamy, add one cupful of thick cream and beat until thick, add half a cupful of sifted powdered sugar, and one teaspoonful of orange extract.

SPANISH EGGS

Heat two tablespoonfuls of oil in a saute pan, add half a cupful of finely chopped onions and stir and cook until the onion is light brown. Add two cupfuls of canned tomatoes, a half a teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of chili powder one cupful of mushrooms, pieces and stems, and four tablespoonfuls of finely chopped ham, stir and cook for three minutes. Have six unbeaten eggs in a dish, and when the sauce is thoroughly cooked, carefully slide the eggs onto it and let cook until the eggs are set. Lift the eggs out onto squares of buttered toast, placed on a hot platter, pour around the sauce and serve.

NORMANDY SALAD

Cook four cupfuls of shelled green peas, drain, add to them one teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika, and allow to cool. Mix with them, one and one-half cupfuls of chopped walnut meats, and half a cupful of French dressing, let stand for thirty minutes, drain off all the liquid, mound on lettuce-covered plates, garnish with mayonnaise and radish roses.

BEATEN WRITER TELLS OF NOTE

"Wilshire Maniac" Charges Denied by Him

Oil Worker Confesses Guilt, Police Report

No Assault Complaint on Mauling at Jail

With one eye puffed and discolored, and head and face battered, the effects of an early morning beating assertedly administered by Detective Lieutenant William J. Jolin, following his arrest, Antone La Strapes, 32-year-old oil worker, yesterday confessed, according to Captain of Detectives Lynn, that he wrote the note to Mrs. Jacqueline Jolin which resulted in his being taken into custody at Fifty-fourth street and West Boulevard Thursday. The confession, Capt. Lynn said, was made in the presence of himself, Commissioner Dollum and Detective Lieutenants Leslie and Colling, the arresting officers.

La Strapes told them, he said, that he had been attracted to Mrs. Jolin several weeks ago when he saw her on the street while he was on his way home from work in the Baldwin Hills oil fields. He followed her to her residence at 3221 Hutchinson street, Culver City, and from that day until the 23rd inst. he struggled against the temptation to seek her acquaintance. But the urge proved too strong and he scribbled a note to Mrs. Jolin, addressing her as "Mrs. Housewife," and requested her, in written matter the police charge was obscene, to meet him.

WALKS INTO TRAP

Mrs. Jolin referred the note to her husband, Detective Jolin, and Antone was trapped by Detectives Leslie and Colling at the appointed time and place.

La Strapes, according to Capt. Lynn, denied that he was the so-called "Wilshire maniac," as had been suspected by the police; and insisted Mrs. Jolin was the only woman he ever had molested in any way.

As a result of the asserted confession, La Strapes will be arraigned today before United States Commissioner Head on a complaint, signed by Postoffice Inspector Webster, charging him with "depositing for mailing and delivery" a letter said to be "filthy and obscene."

NO COMPLAINT ISSUED

In connection with the asserted assault police charge Detective Jolin made on La Strapes in a tank cell at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaac late yesterday declined to issue a felony complaint against the officer. The refusal followed his hearing of evidence presented by members of the police personnel bureau, and was made on the grounds the evidence had failed to show Jolin had misused his authority. On the contrary, McIsaac ruled, it indicated the detective merely had acted the part of an irate husband avenging an insult to his wife.

In addition to the stand taken by the District Attorney's office, William V. Krown, assistant City Prosecutor, said no complaint of any kind would be issued against Jolin, pending a thorough investigation by the City Prosecutor's office. Members of the police personnel bureau are expected to appear there with witnesses this morning. All their statements, Krown declared, will be taken before even a battery complaint, which he said is the only one that can be issued by his office for the asserted offense, will be issued.

JOLIN SUSPENDED

Jolin was suspended yesterday morning by Chief of Detectives Cline, following charges preferred by fellow-officers that he had entered the Central Station jail tank at 5 a.m. under the pretext of seeing and questioning the prisoner, and had beaten him not only with his fists but with the large jail key-ring and its bunch of keys. According to Jailer Connors, Jolin asked to be allowed to visit La Strapes. He was given the keys and entered the tank.

A short while later, according to the report, Connors heard sounds of a scuffle and yelling emanating from the tank-cell. He notified Capt. Parsons, on duty at the time, and together they investigated, finding, the report states, indications that La Strapes had been beaten. On the prisoner's declaration that Jolin had awakened him from sleep, knocked him down, kicked him and struck him with the heavy keys, Deputy Chief Lyons, in charge of the police administration department, ordered Special Investigators Carter and Douglas to arrest Jolin. Following refusal of the District Attorney's office and the City Prosecutor's office to issue a complaint, pending further investigation, Jolin was released on his own recognisance.

School Paper of Long Beach Wins Honors

The Long Beach High Life was awarded three first places in the Southern California High School Press Association convention which opened yesterday afternoon at the Metropolitan High School, Venice Boulevard, for its semiannual convention.

Other schools winning first place were the Franklin Press and the Huntington Park Spartan Shield. These awards were for the best feature story and the best editorial. The Roosevelt Rough Riders was awarded a medal for front-page makeup, and a certificate of award went to the Santa Barbara Forge for the best news story.

The convention hall was crowded with delegates from the various high school papers. Approximately 300 students attended the meeting. Welford C. Beaton, editor of Film Spectator, and Edith Bristol, a feature writer, were the chief speakers. Marc Goodnow, department of journalism of the University of Southern California, presented the awards.

Following the meeting round table discussions were conducted in several rooms of the school, and at 6 o'clock a banquet was served at Frank Wiggins Trade School.

SINGER ARRIVES TO ENTER FILMS

Michael Bohnen and his wife, Mary Lewis

Stilted Acting Said to Mean Doom of Opera

Grand opera will die a natural death within the next six years unless it discards its unreal acting and follows the path pointed out by talking films toward more human and natural expression.

That is the opinion of Michael Bohnen, Metropolitan grand opera baritone, who arrived in Hollywood yesterday to begin a long-term contract to sing and act in Warner Brothers' productions. He is accompanied by his wife, Mary Lewis, concert soloist and actress.

"Grand opera has become old-fashioned in its manners," Bohnen declared. "It is hidebound by custom and tradition of the masters. The talking films are going to force it out into the fresh air of humanness."

Planes to Have Glider Contest

A gliding contest for motored airplanes will take place at the Grand Central Air Terminal in Glendale tomorrow afternoon. Three planes have been entered and other entries are anticipated.

The purpose of the contest is to determine the longest time that an airplane can remain in the air from an altitude of 5000 feet without the use of its engine. Motors will not be shut off during the contest, but will be idled so as not to assist in the gliding.

Among the planes that will compete are a Monocoupe flown by Vernon Dorrell of Whittier, a Maximum Safety flown by Jack Reid of Long Beach, and a Command-Aire flown by Harold C. Chapman of Los Angeles. The event will start at 3 p.m.

FITTS SPEAKS TONIGHT

Public School Week Program to be Given at Atwater

Dist.-Atty. Fitts is to speak at 7:45 p.m. tonight as part of the public school week program arranged at the Atwater school. The program is sponsored by Atwater Lodge, No. 622, F. & A. Masons and the Atwater Parent-Teacher Association. A dinner in the school's new cafeteria will precede the speaking program from 5 to 7 p.m. All the Boy Scouts in the district will participate in maneuvers on the campus prior to the meeting. Frederick H. Chapman, Senior Past Master of the Masonic lodge, is to preside.

Mr. Fitts is to speak on "Citizenship and Good Government." Readings, instrumental and vocal selections, and a closing demonstration by Boy Scouts make up the program. Amplifiers are installed so that the speaking can be heard by outside audiences.

SAVANT SAYS EUCLID'S AXIOMS QUESTIONED NOW

Mathematics as well as all science pursued by man now is beset by doubts and insecurities until there is nothing that can be accepted as truth except by faith, declared Dr. Earle R. Hedrick, professor of mathematics, in delivering the fifth annual research lecture of the University of California at Los Angeles yesterday. A large audience, consisting of students, faculty and invited citizens, listened to Dr. Hedrick explain the new movement that has characterized the study of mathematics in the last 100 years, and brought spectacularly to the attention of the public recently by the hypotheses of Einstein.

"The work of Einstein would not have been possible except for the fact that for 100 years preceding him there had been at work a school of mathematicians who set up doubts about the soundness of Euclidean geometry," said Dr. Hedrick in the course of his lecture. "More new discoveries on the subject of mathematics have been recorded in our age than in all the history of human knowledge prior thereto. We have men living, men who recently visited this institution, who have made history by their discoveries in the science.

"We now are learning not to accept anything as an incontrovertible axiom. We make a certain set of assumptions, and then see what results those assumptions lead to. That is as far as we dare go in asserting that any proposition is true.

"Euclid declared that parallel lines never can meet, and for hundreds of years this has been one of our self-evident truths. Today we cannot say what happens to parallel lines as they extend far beyond our ken into the uttermost reaches of the universe. So we must regard this old axiom and others with doubt, and it is this doubt that has given rise to new speculations about the universe about us, and necessitated our accepting the so-called truths of arithmetic even only on faith."

FOURTEEN TRUE BILLS RETURNED

Nineteen Persons Indicted by Federal Grand Jury

Two Former Bank Workers Face Fund Charges

Jones Act Violation Laid to One Defendant

In fourteen true bills returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury, nineteen persons were indicted on various charges. Four of the indictments were secret.

Among those named in the indictments is Warren Smith, former manager of the branch of the Bank of America at Third and Spring streets. Smith is accused of misapplication of $1750 of bank funds, said to have been meant as a deposit for an account for his 78-year-old mother. Smith is said by Federal agents to have admitted misapplying about $15,000 of bank funds, most of which, he said, he invested in real estate and business ventures. He is being held pending the posting of $10,000 bail.

Curtis E. Flint, former cashier of the First National Bank of Hynes, was indicted on ten counts of misapplication of bank funds. Flint's operations are said to have involved more than $100,000. His bail was fixed at $7500.

Robert B. Hurt, a former express messenger on the Pacific Electric between Los Angeles and Santa Ana, is accused of the theft of various articles, including a valuable necklace. His bail was fixed at $2500.

Raymond C. Rice is one of the latest defendants to be accused under the Jones "five-and-ten" act, for the sale of a gallon of liquor for $10.

NATIONAL MONUMENT ANNOUNCED

Utah 'Devil's Garden' Now Included in Areas to be Guarded for Posterity

A new national monument, known as the Arches, in Grand county, Utah, has just been established by Presidential proclamation on recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior.

The new monument consists of two areas, known locally as the "Devil's Garden" and the "Windows," containing approximately 2600 acres and 1920 acres, respectively. Within these areas are extraordinary examples of wind erosion in the shape of gigantic arches, natural bridges, windows, spires, balanced rocks and other unusual wind-worn sandstone formations, the preservation of which is desirable because of their educational and scenic value.

With this addition there now are thirty-three national monuments under the jurisdiction of the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

Hart Obsequies Scheduled for Next Monday

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a.m. Monday for Thomas W. Hart, an attorney associated for sixteen years with the California Title Insurance Company, who died Thursday at his home, 4901 Cimarron street, after several weeks of illness. He was born in Hazelton, Pa., in 1860, and came to Los Angeles in 1912.

Mr. Hart served in many public capacities in his native city. He was chief deputy of the treasury of Luzerne county, Pennsylvania, when John Steven McGroarty, well known to Times readers, was treasurer. Afterward he was associated with Mr. McGroarty in the practice of law. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth Hart, four sons, Michael, Thomas, Edwin and Eugene Hart, and two daughters, Mrs. James McCulloch of San Fernando, and Mrs. Phil J. Murphy of Huntington Beach.

Requiem mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. Monday in St. Bridgid's Church, of which Mr. Hart was a prominent member. Burial will be at Calvary Cemetery.

STREET CAR PATRON SUFFERS FRACTURE

Mrs. Kate Stecklenberg of 121 North New Hampshire street suffered a fracture of the right thigh yesterday when she was thrown to the street while boarding a street car at Seventh and Maple streets. According to her report to police surgeons the car started before she had gained the platform. She was given emergency treatment at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and removed to General Hospital.

ONE RAT DEAD; MICE HUNTED

That's Story of Rodent War At Sheriff's Office After Heetic Happenings

A war against rodents was started at the Sheriff's office yesterday. The casualty report last night revealed the following: One rat drowned and five or more mice fugitives from justice.

The rat was a pet captured by Capt. William J. Bright of the homicide detail while on a trip into the desert recently. He had locked it in a rat-proof closet for the night but it disturbed the slumbers of one Walter Hunter, a deputy standing night watch, who promptly drowned it. The mice are accused of disconnecting the telephone wires to Capt. Norris G. Stensland's home by gnawing the wires in two.

JULIAN CASE RULINGS DUE ON MONDAY

Demurrers to Complaints in Usury Charges to be Settled by Judge Bogue

Demurrers interposed by nine defendants to Julian usury complaints filed against them will be ruled on Monday at 3 p.m., Municipal Judge Bogue indicated yesterday. The court heard arguments by John Cooper, attorney for five of the defendants, on his contention that he should be allowed to introduce evidence tending to show that the City Prosecutor's office acted in bad faith by issuing John Doe complaints against the defendants in contravention of their constitutional rights.

Hugh Foster, special prosecutor, declared in answer that the City Prosecutor acted lawfully in filing the Joe Doe usury complaints. Judge Bogue announced that he would rule on the admission of evidence on Monday. The defendants who appeared in court yesterday for their hearing on demurrers were Simon Lifpitz, Philip Grossman, Herman Gutterman, E. M. Hackel, Arthur Katz, Hyam L. Granover, Morris Kursten, Sam Goodman and Morris Smith.

Two new defendants, Louis N. Dickerman and Henry Gilbert, appeared before Judge Bogue to answer to usury complaints against them. Both asked time for plea, which was set by the court for next Friday. Dickerman, charged with three counts of usury, was released on $500 bail and Gilbert, with twelve counts charged, on $1000 bail.

IMPROVEMENTS ORDERED

Ordinances of intention were adopted by the City Council yesterday for the improvement of Glenhurst avenue between Larga avenue and Silver Lake Boulevard and of Santa Cruz street between Arboles Court and Mesa street. June 3 was set as the date for hearing protests against the ordinances.

MURDER CLEW SEARCH FAILS

Woman's Story of Mrs. White Slaying Still Veiled

Mrs. Rosencrantz Says She Had Photograph of Victim

Son of Accused Cult Head Quizzed by Police

Careful search by police officers last night failed to reveal any hidden photographs, bundles or other packages that will substantiate the statement of Mrs. Evelyn Rosencrantz, an inmate of San Quentin prison, that she had secreted a picture of Mrs. Margaret White, supposedly murdered woman, under a cottage formerly occupied by William E. Riker, so-called "Father of Holy City."

Police detectives after a two-hour investigation of the premises mentioned by Mrs. Rosencrantz reported that they raked from under the house some small bones that they were turning over to the chemist for analysis. They said that the bones appeared to be from some small animal, and evidently had been in the debris under the cottage floor for more than three years.

RIKER'S SON TALKS

The new hunt by the police, directed by Detective-Lieutenants Kynette and Sanderson, came through additional information given by Mrs. Rosencrantz to amplify her recent affidavit to the Supreme Court, wherein she charged Riker with the strangling to death of Mrs. White in his Palms home in October, 1927.

Riker and Walter Kundert, a disciple, were taken into custody by police officers, and following questioning were released by the District Attorney's office, when the Rosencrantz story appeared unfounded and uncorroborated.

Willis Riker, 20-year-old son of the cult leader, living at 226 North Park View, was located yesterday and told the investigators that shortly before his birth his mother had been placed in an Oakland sanatorium, and that he did not know her present whereabouts. Young Riker said that he ran away from the religious colony about a year ago and came to Los Angeles.

SAYS WIFE RAN AWAY

According to Riker, the boy's mother ran away from home when the youth was 5 years of age. He said that he had his son with him at the "Holy City" until a year ago, when he and a companion came here to study aviation. Riker said that he then lost trace of the boy.

In her statement yesterday, Mrs. Rosencrantz declared that she found some of the murdered woman's clothing in a grip which Riker had hidden in the garage, and among other things uncovered a photograph of the woman and two children. She said that she recognized the photo as the woman she saw Riker murder.

The woman further asserted that she took a rake and pushed the picture and other effects as far under the cottage as she could.

Military Rites Conducted for Air Crash Pilot

Full military honors were accorded Maurice H. Murphy, 33-year-old transport pilot, who was killed in an air crash at San Diego last Sunday, at funeral services conducted yesterday afternoon from the Hollywood Cemetery chapel. Cremation of the flyer's body followed the services.

Brother flyers of the United States Army Four Hundred and Seventy-sixth Pursuit Squadron, members of the Hollywood Post, American Legion, and civilian pilots and friends crowded the chapel as Peyton Gibson, chaplain of the Hollywood post, conducted the final military rites. A bugler from Fort MacArthur sounded taps. Pallbearers were Jack Hewson, Eddie Bellande, Frank Tommich, Frank Clark, Rufus Pilcher and Peyton Gibson.

Mr. Murphy leaves his widow, Mrs. Lucille Lee Murphy, and his mother and father, all of Los Angeles.

CONTRACT FOR STREET JOB RUSHED

Vermont-Avenue Paving Involving $373,822 to Be Speeded to Completion

One of the largest street improvement contracts awarded by the Board of Public Works in many months was that for the improvement of Vermont avenue between Hollywood Boulevard and Fernwood street, which was let yesterday for $373,822.22.

Because of the wish to speed the speedy accomplishment of the project, the board asked unusual facility in drawing the contract. The bids on which were received Wednesday were checkers were required by the board in order to submit the necessary information as soon as in the shortest possible time.

The improvement includes grading with concrete base of four inches thickness and asphaltic bitulithic wearing surface, curbs, sidewalks, storm drains, sewer and waterwork.

Other contracts awarded by the board yesterday were for the improvement of Third avenue between Pico and Washington streets, which was let for $38,961.28, and the installation of ornamental lights on Selma avenue between Cahuenga and Highland avenues, which was awarded for $10,888.

Montanya Gets Guardian

Juanita Montanya, who was ordered by Wallace Beery for $50.00 a month, was dismissed the case, and Beery, who pleaded guilty to a charge of battery yesterday was sentenced to serve 10 days in the county jail. Superior Judge Shaw by [illegible] deputy public defender, [illegible] she was paroled, and [illegible] ordered committed to the psychopathic ward of the General hospital for observation.

Davis, who represented Beery when she was charged with battery, took pity on her and offered to act as her guardian if the court would place her in his custody. This was done, but Davis reported yesterday that the girl has become unmanageable and requested that mental condition be investigated.

DISTRICT MAPS APPROVED

On recommendation of the Board of Works Committee, the City Council yesterday approved the improvement district maps for the improvement of Kingsley drive between Cleon and Tujunga avenues and of the streets in the Vista Drive and Vista Street Improvement District.

FUN MAKERS SIGN WITH LASKY

Leo Carrillo to Travel—Then Settle Down to Talkers; Irving Fisher Likely to Play Lead in "Sally;" Hugh Trevor to Be Featured by Radio Films

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Comedy will not be lacking from Clara Bow's next Paramount talking picture, even without Clara's romping.

Two noted fun-makers from the stage have just been signed to play featured roles in "Dangerous Curves," it was announced yesterday by B. P. Schulberg.

May Boley and T. Roy Barnes will have the featured comedy leads. Miss Boley is popular on the musical comedy stage both here and in New York. She filled one of the two principal feminine roles, you remember, in the Morosco production of "So Long, Letty," several seasons ago, and lately appeared at the Majestic in Lillian Albertson's production of "Hit the Deck."

Barnes is coming forth from the silence of his avocado ranch in San Fernando Valley to create a comedy role. His latest theatrical engagement was with the Orpheum, on which circuit he closed his tour a few weeks ago, retiring at that time to his ranch for a rest and to see how high his avocado trees had grown. He was associated with Paramount pictures a few years ago, leaving to return to the stage.

Kay Francis is another important player just cast for a featured role in "Dangerous Curves." She is known on Broadway as America's best dressed woman. She made her stage debut in the modern version of Shakespeare's "Hamlet," a few seasons ago, when she startled New York with her brunette beauty and her clothes. It was not her clothes, however, naturally, which won her her part in "Hamlet," but her charm and talent. Paramount engaged her for roles in "Gentlemen of the Press" and the four Marx brothers' production, "The Cocoanuts." She arrived in Hollywood a few days ago, following the signing of a long-term contract with Paramount.

LEO CARRILLO WILL STAR IN TALKERS

It looks as though the talkies were to claim Leo Carrillo for their own.

A contract for four talking pictures has been signed by Carrillo with Tiffany-Stahl, it became known yesterday. What these stories will be is not yet decided, but they will probably be along the lines of the plays like "Lombardi, Ltd.," which have made the Spanish actor famous on the stage. Indeed it is possible he may star in "Lombardi" for Tiffany.

LEO CARRILLO

There is a rumor that Carrillo will appear in his play, "The Dove," for United Artists, but we were not able to confirm this yesterday.

Carrillo will not, however, as heretofore announced, appear under the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer banner in "Lombardi, Ltd." it being understood that a difference between the artist and M.-G.-M. regarding salary was in the way of such an arrangement.

Before undertaking the pictures, Carrillo is to fulfill a several weeks' engagement in Australia, where he will star in "Lombardi."

In the meantime, following the closing within a week or so at the President of the engagement of Carrillo in "The Bad Man," he will go east to meet his wife and fetch her west. The actor is building a home in Santa Monica Canyon, and Mrs. Carrillo is to remain in the old Carrillo home at Santa Monica, supervising the building of the house, until her husband's return from his Australian tour, at which time they will look forward to a real home life while the star works in the talkers.

Irving Fisher In "Sally"

While no contracts are yet signed, we understand that it is quite likely that Irving Fisher will play opposite Marilynn Miller in her First National starring vehicle, "Sally."

MARILYNN MILLER

Fisher played the role in the New York production of the musical show, and has been taking screen tests over at First National Studios. He is a favorite on Broadway, has an excellent singing voice and looks, and at present is considered the most likely candidate for the "Sally" hero role.

Merriam Seegar With Menjou

Avidly the picture companies are snapping up the stage players. Now it is Merriam Seegar, who, we hear, is to play a leading ingenue role with Adolphe Menjou in "The Concert," his next Paramount starring vehicle.

Miss Seegar has appeared in a number of well-known Broadway productions. She recently went to London to play the lead in "Crime," but returned a week or two ago to this country.

"Battling Buttler" for Jack

While nothing definite has been decided in the matter, it is almost certain, we hear, that that most amusing comedian, Jack Buchanan, whom First National recently signed up, will appear in a talking screen version of "Battling Buttler."

Buchanan is to arrive here within a few days to play opposite Irene Bordoni in the star's first First National vehicle, "Paris."

Hugh Trevor with R.-K.-O.

That charming juvenile, Hugh Trevor, is not to be allowed to roam from studio to studio any longer. R.-K.-O. has signed him, according to the announcement of William Le Baron on a five-year contract, to be featured in talking and other productions.

RICHARD DIX

A graduate of Harvard, Trevor went into the insurance business a couple of years ago. He met Richard Dix and persuaded that forehanded young man to take out a $250,000 life insurance policy. Dix took a second look at Trevor and decided he should go into pictures. He asked Trevor if he would like to do so, and Trevor finally decided to take a chance. Trevor played several small parts with Paramount, and did so well that he was given a leading juvenile role or two. Now it looks as though a good man were lost to the insurance business forever.

Norman Taurog's Next

So very well indeed has Norman Taurog done with the direction of those two cut-ups, Clark and McCullough, over at the Fox studios, that it appears he will keep on working with them right through their series of comedies.

Taurog is now busy writing a story around the two comedians, the locale of which will be a Turkish bath. He has already directed them in three comedies.

FRENCH TO SPONSOR THEATER

Adrienne d'Ambricourt and Arthur Hurni Pioneers in New Movement

Monday evening, the first step toward the establishment of a French little-theater will be taken when Mme. Adrienne d'Ambricourt and Arthur Hurni present a group of three one-act plays at the Beaux Arts Auditorium. Monsieur Henri Didot, French Consul, and the French societies of Los Angeles are sponsoring this movement.

The three one-act plays have been chosen so as to present the greatest possible variety in French dramatic literature. They are: "Un Caprice," by Alfred de Musset, "L'Anglais Tel Qu-on Le Parle," by Tristan Bernard and "Rosalia," by Max Maurey.

Mme. d'Arbricourt will be remembered here for her work in "The Trial of Mary Dugan." She appeared in both the stage play and motion picture. She was connected with the Theatre Sarah Bernhardt for many years and immediately after the war toured the stricken areas of Europe with the Comedie Francaise.

M. Arthur Hurni, late of the Comedie de Geneve, is also well known to local theatergoers. He has appeared in many screen successes, and played for three years at the San Francisco French Theater.

The cast for Monday evening's performance includes Dorothy Lee, Jacques Vanaire, Mischa Auer, Marie Madelaine, Jacques Lory and others.

Kiddies Enjoy Morning Show at Paramount

Two hundred and fifty children of the Los Angeles Orphan Asylum will be guests of the Paramount Theater this morning, at the second of a series of children's matinees.

Transportation is being arranged for the children through the courtesy of the Pickwick, Motor Transit, Grayline and Tanner Motor Bus Companies.

As a special feature of this morning's program, Baron Keyes, "the story man of the air castles" radio fame, will appear and sing some of the numbers which he has made known on the ether. "Monk" Watson and Milton Charles will alternate as master of ceremonies, and Jeannie Lang and other performers will entertain. A two-reel comedy will be shown.

The privilege of staying through the first regular show is included.

"Night Hawk" a New York Hit

When "The Night Hawk," which had its western stage premiere at the new Orange Grove Theater on Thursday, first began its New York run, and again when it was revived in that city, it caused considerable talk. The theme was regarded as fairly revolutionary, its treatment novel. The author, Roland Oliver, told a story of Mazie, the Night Hawk, reduced to a hag and then restored to beauty and the radiance of youth.

Thursday night Los Angeles welcomed home Grace Valentine, who left this city some ten years ago for New York, where she has been appearing with success ever since. It is she who portrays Mazie.

Literati Filling Dialogue Needs

That the adoption of dialogue in the heretofore silent drama has opened up a wider field for writers, thus making room for more creative ability, is the opinion of Jack Jevne, Pathe scenarist. The latter wrote the dialogue for "Love in the Desert," Olive Borden's starring production produced as a talking picture by R.-K.-O., which is to open today at the Pantages.

According to Jevne, in the days when the screen was mute, only those well versed in the writing of screen adaptations and continuities could find a demand for their services. However, now that new avenues have broadened out, playwrights, authors and accomplished literary lights are being sought.

Ritz Scene of Benefit Show

A benefit performance will be given Tuesday afternoon at 2:15 p.m. for the Mothers' Clinic of Los Angeles, with many notables of stage and screen promising attendance and co-operation. Neil Hamilton and Hedda Hopper will alternate as master and mistress of ceremonies, and the following are scheduled to take part:

Albertina Rasch Dancers, Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Harry Green, Baclanova, Hal Skelly, Oscar Levant, Nancy Carroll, Gary Cooper and his Hawaiian Four, and six popular-song composers. Guests of honor will be Ralph Forbes, Ruth Chatterton, Laura Hope Crews and George Bancroft.

JUNE COLLYER BORROWED

June Collyer, whose dimpled cheeks rival those of only Lillian Walker, has been signed by Paramount to play the secondary feminine leading role in Charles (Buddy) Rogers's next talking vehicle, an adaptation of Booth Tarkington's "Magnolia." Miss Collyer was a Wampas baby star of 1928, while Mary Brian, Rogers's leading woman in the production, was an earlier starlet selection of the screen publicists.

SWEETHEARTS ON PARADE

Skies Are Blue Over Boulevard

BAYARD VEILLER

Bayard Veiller, who is both the author and director of "The Trial of Mary Dugan," Norma Shearer's first talking picture, which comes to the Fox Criterion on May 3, makes three important comments regarding the speaking screen version of this play.

"First," begins Veiller, "let me say that Norma Shearer has one of the best voices among the women that I have heard in talking pictures. I may offend other starring actresses by that statement, but it is my opinion. Her voice is ideal for talking pictures.

"My second point regarding 'The Trial of Mary Dugan' is that as a talking picture it is more intimate, more gripping and more entertaining that the play. In its picturization we accomplished things never possible on the stage.

"Lastly, let me tell Los Angeles that I consider Norma Shearer the greatest 'Mary Dugan' of them all—and I have seen and rehearsed them all."

Bayard Veiller is planning to leave New York at once in order to be present at the western premiere of "The Trial of Mary Dugan."

Tongs Battle in Chinese Theater

A replica of New York's original Chinese theater, now used as a mission, was erected at the Paramount studio, Hollywood, for a feature scene in "Chinatown Nights," Wallace Beery's all-talking melodrama, now playing at Lazarus' Million Dollar.

This playhouse was built at the corner of Doyers and Pell streets in 1895, and was the focal point for the terrible tong wars that raged over Chinatown for eleven years, from 1899 to 1910.

New Year's Night in 1910, it was the scene of one of the most spectacular tong battles ever fought. On this occasion, gun-and-hatchet men of the On Leong and Hip Sing tongs filled the theater, and during the performance someone threw a lighted packet of firecrackers into the air. Under cover of the confusion, pistols barked and hatchets swung, and five tong leaders were found dead on the floor when the police arrived.

Designing Own Clothes Hobby

Laura Hamilton's favorite hobby is designing her own street clothes.

"I want to be an individual, not a type," says the actress, who was brought from New York to play Bonny opposite Hal Skelly in "Burlesque" at El Capitan. "I don't want to look like twenty other persons and wear just the same styles. I have no desire to be bizarre, but most of my leisure time is spent in designing my own outfits for street wear.

"I think every woman should study herself and decide what type of clothes are best suited for her. Fashionable clothes, unless one has the right lines, will not look well on everybody. Sometimes I find that the style of the moment is particularly adapted to me; when it isn't, I make no attempt to wear it."

Violins Have New Leader

The management of the Philharmonic Orchestra announces the signing of a new concert-master today in the person of Josef Borissoff. Mr. Borissoff's contract is for two years.

The new leader of the violin section of the Los Angeles orchestra was formerly associated with M. Merovitch, pianist, on tour in the Orient. He returned to this city two years ago to teach. He is a member of the Musart Quartet and a pupil of Leopold Auer.

Stage Fails in Panorama, Says Talkie Maker

That a sound picture in its perfected form surpasses any stage production of the same vehicle for dramatic intensity and realistic effect, is claimed to have been proved by Roy Del Ruth in this direction of "The Desert Song," now showing at Warner Brothers Theater.

The stage could never possibly produce the color and romance of a Riff charge across the swirling desert sands, the pawing horses, the riders trooping off into obscurity in the distance and their song dying with them, Del Ruth suggests. It just isn't possible, he declares; but the screen can catch them in all their glory.

In "The Desert Song," Del Ruth has made use of the new technicolor process adopted by the Warners. This feature alone has proved a surprise to the thousands who have looked at this talking screen musical comedy. Vivid in every detail, it is said to have added greatly to the interest in the production. At present Del Ruth is directing "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," an all-dialogue picture—made throughout in technicolor.

Japanese Gives Dance Recital

Michio Ito, the interesting young Japanese dancer and art organizer, will appear for the first time in public recital before a Los Angeles audience tomorrow evening at the Figueroa Playhouse.

Ito is to be assisted on this program by three of his pupils, Miss Dorothy Wagner, Georgia Graham and Estelle Reed.

The youthful Japanese artist is said to have a style of dancing distinctly his own, always the interpretation of a thought or an impression. There are to be seventeen dance offerings on his Sunday evening program.

Patrons and patronesses for the affair include Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip, Miss Ruth St. Denis, Leopold Stokowski and John Barrymore.

DI TULLIO GROUP INITIATES TRIO

The musical di Tullio family, two of which belong to the Philharmonic Orchestra, will be heard in an interesting recital tonight at the Beaux Arts West Hall. The interest lies in the program being the debut of the 16-year-old Mario, who is the pianist of the family. He is a pupil of May MacDonald Hope and the first number of the concert will be a Mozart trio played by Mario, pianist, Joseph di Tullio, violoncellist and Adolph di Tullio, violinist.

Piano solo and a sonata for 'cello and piano are included and the recital closes with a Mendelssohn concerto played by the young pianist with May Hope at the second piano.

HAL SKELLY SIGNS

"True Blue Lou," a "click" number from the musical brain and fingers of the man who wrote the currently popular, "I've Got a Woman, Crazy for Me," has been written for Paramount's all-talking picture version of the stage success, "Burlesque." The number, by Richard Whiting, will be sung by Hal Skelly, featured with Nancy Carroll in the film production. Skelly is the original central character of the Broadway presentation of "Burlesque," which ran for more than a year at the Plymouth Theater after it opened September 1, 1927.

EXTREMES COME TOGETHER

The North Pole and the equator get on intimate terms together in the talking picture, "Tropic Madness," featuring Leo Donnelly, in production now at the Paramount Long Island Studio. The picture will be one reel in length and under the direction of Fred Allen, stage comedian. "Tropic Madness" introduces a program of Hawaiian music and dancing in a setting of icebergs.

BUNOLA KAY SINGS

Bunola Kay, Los Angeles soprano, will appear in a program to be presented before the French department at the semiannual teachers' meeting of the Language Association of Southern California, to be given at the Pasadena High School in Pasadena today.

Symphony Club Gratifying in Signal Event

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The Symphony Club, directed by Ilya Bronson, gave the best concert of its career at the auditorium last night. Eugene List, a boy pianist with a real gift benefited by excellent training, gave a good account of the Beethoven concerto No. 3, and the orchestra graduated from the amateur class by a professional performance of the Schubert "Unfinished Symphony," Grieg's "Jorsalfar" suite and the brilliant "Carneval" overture by Dvorak.

The Symphony Club is composed of 100 instrumentalists, both men and women, with Purcell Mayer as their concert-master. Ilya Bronson has been training this organization for seven years, but public playing was wisely forbidden until three years ago. Each year the concerts, of which there are two a season, have attracted more attention and have been nearer the ideal.

The solidity of tone and the precision of rhythm which Conductor Bronson manages to elicit from this young orchestra are surprising and must be very gratifying. The club played the difficult Grieg, Schubert and Dvorak works last night in correct tempi and the interpretations were spirited and interesting.

Eugene List is a 10-year-old wonder. He has piano fingers and the ease of a natural musician. His phrasing is in excellent taste, his rhythms are accurate and his technical facility is remarkable. Of course, a mature mind would hear Beethoven differently, but Master List gave the concerto a simple, straightforward, honest reading with full rein to the poetic side. He is happily without affectation and absorbed in his music. He was recalled five or six times and left the stage with the audience clamoring for more. The youngster is a pupil of Julius Seyler.

Gala Premiere Announced for "Black Watch"

"The Black Watch," Fox films all-talking Movietone production featuring Victor McLaglen and Myrna Loy, will be given a typical Carthay Circle premiere when it has its first world showing at that Fox house on May 8.

Directed by John Ford, this Talbot Mundy story of love intrigue and adventure is said by those who have caught previews of it to be fascinating and absorbing.

It unfolds a story of a beautiful woman's lust for power; a power frustrated only when she let her heart rule her mind at the crucial moment.

Besides the two principals the cast includes many other players including Lumsden Hare, Roy D'Arcy, Mitchell Lewis, Walter Long, David Rollins, Cyril Chadwick, Francis Ford, Richard Travers, Gregory Gay, Joseph Diskay, Claude King, Pat Somerset, Frederick Sullivan and David Percy, with several thousand others in the many big scenes.

This production will be surrounded by a typical Circle presentation including Carli Elinor's orchestra, and specialties.

Actors' Drawls Both Natural and Acquired

Two native sons and a daughter of the sunny southland appear in Mary Pickford's sensational all-talking success, "Coquette," the tragic story of the belle of a little southern town, now breaking records at the United Artists Theater.

Miss Pickford and the rest of the company studied for weeks, learning to imitate the natural drawl and softly slurred words of the three real southerners, John Mack Brown, John St. Polis and Louise Beavers. The entire company and crew of "Coquette" found it necessary to replace their crisp northern speech with the lazy melodious drawl of the picture's locale.

John Mack Brown, who hails from Bothan, Ala., has not lost the accents of his native dialect, in two years in Hollywood. John St. Polis, the little coquette's father, fell naturally into the manner of speech of his birthplace, New Orleans, in spite of his years on the northern stage. Louise Beavers, the colored mammy, speaks with the natural drawl of her race.

Headed by department executives, forty members of the staff of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company will attend tonight's performance of "The Second Man," which the New York Theater Guild Repertory Company is presenting at the Figueroa Playhouse.

Many large parties are scheduled for next week when Sidney Howard's comedy-melodrama, "Ned McCobb's Daughter," will be given, beginning Monday evening.

In this play, Howard, author of "The Silver Cord," describes a typical Maine coast household. Eastern critics have written of his delineation of the characters "as perfect a portrait of a group of flinty but human New Englanders as exists."

"PARSIFAL" THEME OF GOETZ LECTURE

Margaret Goetz, whose close association with Wagner productions at Bayreuth in former years, is well known, will present a series of pictures and excerpts of "Parsifal" at the City Library this morning at 10:45. This program has been made possible by music patrons of the city and is of especial interest because of the proposed presentation of this opera later in the season.

NEW YORK PLAYER "CLICKS"

Margaret Fielding, well-known New York stage actress, has just completed a featured role in Richard Barthelmess' latest starring vehicle, "Drag." This is Miss Fielding's first feature-length talking picture and her voice is said to register perfectly.

SITUATIONS WANTED—10 or more consecutive times, 10c Daily, 15c Sunday; 5 consecutive times, 15c Daily, 20c Sunday; ONE TIME, 25c Daily, 30c Sunday. Advertisements in the miscellaneous classifications, "PERSONAL," "CORRESPONDENCE" and "LOST AND FOUND" are not classified as "Situations Wanted" and will be charged for at the General Want-Ad Rates, 40c Daily and 50c Sunday.

EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES, MOTION PICTURE, CLUB AND SCHOOL PUPILS, etc., under any classification, 30 consecutive times, 25c Daily, 35c Sunday; 5 consecutive times, 30c Daily, 40c Sunday; ONE TIME, 45c Daily, 55c Sunday.

WHEN IS A LINE?

To estimate the cost of want ads count an average words per line. Words consisting of more than 6 letters should be counted as two words.

Advertisers should retain receipts for the "Receipt for payment of Want Ads," as no mistakes will be rectified without them.

Cancellation of advertisements before appearance cannot be guaranteed to take effect until after the second insertion. Changed or discontinued copy must be received by 3:30 p.m. for daily issue and 4 p.m. for Sunday issue. Cancellation of advertising running cannot be accepted after 4:30 p.m. except by telephone.

Rates for display advertising will be furnished on request.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one time.

The inadvertent omission or incorrect publishing of any advertisement will be rectified only by cancellation of the charge made for the service rendered.

Before 8 p.m., to closing hour for all ads for the early issue of the Sunday Times; 8 p.m. to 1 hour before the issue and complete Sunday Real Estate Ad Section is Saturday 12 noon.

Information concerning classifications under which to accurately advertise anything pertaining to the Real Estate Section cannot be accurately given after this hour.
